U. S. 'OPTIMISM' OVER WAR AID IRKS AUSTRALIA

Objects to Kidding Propaganda.

Pray for MacArthur

Little Rock, Ark., April 5 (AP).—The congregation of Christ Episcopal church knelt today at the scene where Gen. Douglas MacArthur was christened almost 62 years ago and asked divine guidance for the allied commander.

Dr. W. P. Witsell, rector, answered an Easter eve request from MacArthur for supplication "at the altar where I first joined the sanctuary of God," by praying:

And now, O God, do we especially remember before Thee, Thy servant, Douglas MacArthur, dedicated to Thee in holy baptism in the church of this parish. Grant unto him, O Lord, the living consciousness of Thy presence within him and about him."

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 5.—Over optimistic statements in the United States press as to the extent of help being given Australia is causing some concern here where the collapse of Singapore drove home a bitter lesson which has not been forgotten.

Australians do not want to be kidded. They do not expect to be told details about American forces sent here, but at the same time do not want to risk having the nation's confidence built up by a propaganda bubble which might burst at the first prick of a bayonet.

Connally's Words Evoke Comment.

Everybody, including the Japanese, knows military positions are better than before American aid began to arrive, but United States Sen. Tom Connally's statement that "it is believed that the united nations are sufficiently strong to hold Australia as a base for offensive action" has been a subject of considerable comment.

[Sen. Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, made his statement Thursday on the basis of information given his committee by Vice Adm. Thomas C. Hart. He added that "apparently the military and naval situation in the southwest Pacific is much more hopeful than some of us had thought."]

"Long Way to Go."

An editorial in the Sydney Sun entitled "A Long Way from Safe," referring to Connally, said:

"While the position in Australia is a little better than it looked three months ago, let every Australian believe we still have a long way to go before we are safe. America has sent us considerable forces, and will send more, but this country is to be saved only by the exertions of every man and woman in it. To be lulled by wishful thinking into relaxing our efforts instead of redoubling them, to allow the slightest complacency in our regard of a position still, and for a long time, of supremest peril, would be fatal. Soldiers who defend our coasts are by no means complacent. Let's not talk turning the tide yet awhile."

Also Seen as "Trial Balloon."

Some circles regard the exaggerated statements from America as "trial balloons" sent up for a purpose which is not fully understood here.

Meanwhile, the defense position is expected to be clarified with announcement soon of a new high command general staff. An authorized Australian source said Gen. Douglas MacArthur, allied supreme commander, has not received the "directive" from Washington, for which he has been waiting since he submitted an estimate of the military position soon after his arrival in Australia.

It has not been clear exactly how the allied armies, fleets, and air arms will operate together, and who the commanders will be, altho considerable progress has been made by the Australians following the appointment of Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey as commander of the land forces.

15,000 March Today to Hail Nation's Army

Army Day Program

EVENT—Army day, 25th anniversary of American entry into first World war, with program under directions of Military Order of the World War.

WHEN—Program begins with parade starting at 11:30 a. m. and continues into night.

WHERE—Parade of 15,000 marchers will move down Michigan avenue from Superior street to Roosevelt road. War planes on display at Chicago airport. Open house at Fort Sheridan. Annual dinner at Congress hotel with address by Maj. Gen. George Grunert.

WEATHER—Warmer, with occasional showers.

Chicagoans will glimpse some of the army's newest streamlined mechanized equipment today as more than 15,000 members of the armed forces, ROTC cadets, World war veterans, and various civic organizations parade down Michigan avenue in observance of Army day — the 25th anniversary of this country's entry into the first World war.

Thousands of spectators are expected to line Michigan avenue to view the marchers from Superior street to Roosevelt road. The huge military parade, which starts at 11:30 a. m., will open a series of Army day activities sponsored by the Military Order of the World War.

Howitzers in Line of March.

Included in the line of march will be 155 millimeter howitzers, shown in Chicago for the first time, 75 millimeter field artillery, jeeps, tanks, command and reconnaissance cars, and jeep drawn 37 millimeter anti-tank guns. Also on display will be a tank of the 1917 vintage as a symbol of the old warfare.

Maj. Gen. George Grunert, new commander of the 6th corps area, Gov. Green, Mayor Kelly, and other military and civic dignitaries will review the parade from a special stand at Congress street. There will be plenty of martial music with the Navy pier sailors' band, the 100 piece naval band from the Great Lakes Naval Training station, and various drum and bugle corps playing.

War Planes on Display.

The country's newest type fighting planes will be on display at Chicago airport. A British Spitfire, veteran of a number of English channel dogfights, will be part of the exhibition. Forty thousand persons saw the planes yesterday.

Fort Sheridan will hold open house.

Brig. Gen. John M. Willis, commander of Camp Grant at Rockford, announced the camp would be open today to the public for automobile tours of the grounds. At 5:30 p. m. visitors will be permitted to view the first retreat parade on the drill grounds.

The Army day observance will be climaxed in the evening with the 15th annual dinner of the Military Order of the World War in the gold ballroom of the Congress hotel. Gen. Grunert's address will be broadcast by W-G-N at 10 p. m.

Chairman of the Army day committee of the Military Order of the World War is Ensign Robert M. Adams.

Uniforms Lend Colorful Note to Easter Parade in Wartime

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Easter, 1942, our first—and only, let us hope—wartime Easter since 1918, provided the most colorful and brilliant parade of fashions in many years. The men in uniform contributed greatly to the picture, of course, but don't let anyone tell you that the men stole the show, for women were out in all their glory, building morale and looking as tho they all had heeded the advice that authorities—economic and fashion—have been giving them since the day war started.

Buy, but buy prudently, not extravagantly; remember that clothes in the stores are there to be bought and that to refrain from purchasing what is necessary is not a patriotic gesture, are among the bits of advice that women have been hearing and reading constantly during the last four months.

Proof They Followed Advice.

How well they have followed this advice was apparent on all sides yesterday for there was nothing drab about the Easter parade. If hats and coats and suits were old ones made over, the renovations had been done so cleverly that they fooled all who saw them.

The weather, as bright and sunny as it was, did bring forth many winter coats, for the wind was chilly and spring-suited ladies without topcoats looked uncomfortable. Only a few young women without hats were seen.

Bouquets of flowers are the favorite head gear this spring. Sometimes they are perched over one eye and other times they bloom high on heads in back of pompadours. Red, bright green, violet and brilliant yellow are the favorite colors, not only for hats, but for gloves and bags. Navy blue and olive drab rank high for suits, not only for men but for women.

Hose Light in Tone.

Hose are light in tone and we did not see one pair of black-stockinged legs, nor did we see any of the skirts halfway between the knee and the floor that some fashion experts have been trying to make fashionable. No skirts that sagged in the back were evident, either, altho some authorities have tried to make that style popular, too. Wedge soles are "out," if one may judge by yesterday's paraders, and high-heeled, open-toed sandals are "in."

The crowd that assembled at Michigan avenue and Delaware place to watch the worshipers come out of the Fourth Presbyterian church was larger than usual, and before the doors opened there were lines extending a block on both streets, waiting to be admitted. Every church on the near north side drew large numbers of men in uniform.

Bound for Smart Restaurants.

The more expensively gowned women and their escorts, in custom tailored morning suits or uniforms, had for their destinations the fashionable Casino club, Camellia House, the Mayfair room, the Pump, the Buttery, the Yar, or one of the other smart restaurants that were serving Easter "brunch." The lads in the uniforms that Uncle Sam provides and their "dates" filled the less expensive

PARENTS: HERE'S HOW TO ADDRESS MAIL TO YANKS IN AUSTRALIA

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

AT UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, Australia, April 5.—American mothers were advised today by the United States army's postal chief here that the return of undelivered mail intended for a son in Australia does not mean that he has been killed in action. It means, he said, only an incorrect address.

Maj. D. H. Stephens of Pittsburgh, chief postal officer, urged parents and friends to make sure that they are addressing letters correctly, and gave this form:

Private Joseph Jones,
Company A,
100th Quartermaster Regiment,
Army Postoffice Number.....

Before leaving the United States each soldier was instructed to notify his parents of his regiment and postoffice number.

Maj. Stephens also advised:

Use a 3 cent stamp for ordinary letters and a 6 cent stamp for air mail. Write only on one side of the paper. Then, if the censor cuts out something, he will not ruin what is written on the other side. Packages also can be mailed parcel post.

IRISH BOMBS FAIL TO INJURE YANKS

IRA Accused of Attempt to Burn Theater.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, April 5 (AP).—The harmless explosion of three incendiary time bombs and discovery of others hidden in a movie theater used by United States and British troops, and a subsequent running gun battle between police and an armed band shattered Belfast's Easter quiet.

There was no ostensible connection between the two incidents save that 26 Easters ago Irish Republicans started their so-called Easter rebellion against the British. The outbreaks followed a recent series of arrests among alleged members of the Irish Republican army in Northern Ireland.

Theater Just Emptied.

The time bombs started exploding shortly after midnight, after the theater had been emptied of its Saturday night audience of soldiers.

The theater had been requisitioned for a series of shows for the American and British troops in Northern Ireland. The first show was last night.

The first explosion caused a fire which damaged a few seats before it was extinguished. The second explosion came shortly afterward and the third followed two hours later when police were searching the theater.

Examination of four unexploded bombs found in the theater showed them to be incendiaries similar, officials said, to one type used by the Germans.

One Policeman Killed.

The gun battle came in broad daylight when gunmen, hidden in an air raid shelter, blazed away at a police patrol car containing four men.

The gunmen fled to a near by house with the policemen in hot pursuit. One policeman was killed and a member of the armed band was seriously wounded. Five other men and two women were arrested.

The British press association said the gunmen were members of the outlawed Irish Republican army.

This Northern Ireland capital is known as a center of Irish nationalist sympathizers. Northern Ireland is part of the United Kingdom and the Irish Republican army is violently in favor of its union with Eire.

ALERT DEFENSE SHOOTS DOWN 27 OF 75 PLANES

25 More Damaged by British Fighters.

U. S. Bombs Rangoon

LONDON, April 6 [Monday]—(AP).—American flying fortress bombers pouncing on the Japanese for the second time from bases in India set huge fires on the docks at Rangoon, Burma, Friday night.

A communique from Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's headquarters at New Delhi said three fires were started at Rangoon, and that despite challenging Japanese fighters, all the attacking force returned safely.

This attack followed one on the same day in which the Americans, led by Gen. Brereton, set fire to a Japanese cruiser and probably damaged two other ships at Port Blair, in the Andaman Islands, off India.

COLOMBO, Ceylon, April 5 (AP).—Twenty-seven Japanese planes crashed to destruction today from British aerial and anti-aircraft defense in Ceylon's first air raid of the war.

Still another 25 enemy craft were damaged in the Sunday morning bombing flight, a communique said. Five of them may have been destroyed.

Twenty-five of the Japanese pilots were shot down by British fighter planes, it was announced. The other two were downed by anti-aircraft gunners during low flying machine gun attacks.

[Military sources in London likened the Japanese surprise attack to the Pearl Harbor raid, and said the Japanese bombers had been concentrated in the assault as a prelude to an attempt to knock out the British naval base in Trincomalee bay, on the eastern shore of the island.]

75 Planes in Attack.

In a broadcast tonight, Vice Adm. Sir Geoffrey Layton, commander in chief of armed forces on Ceylon, said about 75 Japanese aircraft bombed the harbor area, Ratmalana railway and the airdrome.

He confirmed suggestions that the planes operated from an aircraft carrier, adding that it was doubtful whether the damaged craft could have gotten back to their ship.

He said half of the civilian dead were patients at a medical establishment.

The commander called the losses inflicted on the Japanese by the RAF "a great piece of work" and extended congratulations on the flyers' success. He also praised the people's behavior.

"It was not a matter of luck that we got off so lightly," he said, "but entirely due to the manner in which we prepared ourselves."

Few Bombs Dropped.

The Japanese opened their attack at 8 a. m. [9:30 p. m. Saturday, Chicago time] with dive bombing and machine gun raids aimed principally at Colombo's harbor district.

As the air raid sirens sounded and the civilian population hastened to shelters, British fighter planes took to the air to intercept the Japanese.

British reports said a few bombs were dropped in Colombo proper and caused damage to residences. Some civilian casualties were reported.

The raid found Colombo ready after a series of alerts, the most recent yesterday. For more than a month British authorities have been preparing actively for such an attack.

Two Communiques Issued.

British headquarters issued these two communiques:

"Colombo was attacked by a large force of Japanese aircraft at 8 a. m., local time. Dive bombing and low flying machine gun attacks were made on the harbor and Ratmalana areas. British fighters intercepted the raiders and destroyed a number of aircraft."

A later communique said:

"Twenty-five enemy aircraft were shot down for certain by our fighters while five more were probably shot down and 25 more damaged. Light anti-aircraft fire accounted for two more in a low flying attack. Our losses were slight."

HERE'S DIGEST OF NEWS FROM ALL FIGHTING FRONTS

Latest war developments:

Destruction of 102 German planes in aerial fights and on the ground in one day's operations, was claimed by Russia, giving evidence that the eastern front again was breaking into action on a big scale. A special communique also said that 40,000 Germans had been killed on the central front in 13 days, and that 161 localities west of Moscow had been reoccupied. Bryansk was said to be virtually besieged by Russian guerrillas. There were reports that soviet troop movements indicated the first German spring drive was expected in southern Russia.

Japs Assault Bataan.

The war department announced that the Japanese had begun a furious assault by land and sea on American defenses in Bataan peninsula. The sea attack was said to have been repulsed with "probably heavy" losses for the foe. On land, "some small gains" by the enemy were reported.

The first air raid of the war on Ceylon, India, brought destruction of 27 Japanese planes and damage to 25 others of a force of 75, a British communique said. British fighter planes were said to have accounted for 25 of the planes that crashed, and anti-aircraft guns for two.

Americans Bomb Rangoon.

American heavy bombers started three large fires at Japanese held docks in Rangoon, the British radio reported, adding that all the Americans returned safely. On the Burma front the British said Japanese troops were massing on the west bank of the Irrawaddy river, but were being shelled effectively by artillery.

American and Australian airmen, smashing at Japanese bases and defending their own vital areas, were credited with destroying at least 18 Japanese planes and damaging 20 others in two days of battles. Four Japanese bombers were reported downed during the 13th raid on Darwin.

In Africa the British reported an axis column supported by tanks and guns had been forced out of a key spot in the Libyan desert and that enemy positions 80 miles west of Tobruk were pounded from the air.

QUISLING REGIME FAILURE, OUSTED SWEDE REPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 5.—K. A. Tunberger, Oslo correspondent of the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter, who was ordered to leave Norway because his dispatches displeased the German authorities, has begun to write a series of articles on the situation in Norway.

He says many German civilian authorities in Norway regard the Quisling government as a failure, and that many Norwegians think the Germans are permitting Premier Vidkun Quisling to have a free hand in order that a crisis might develop which will enable the Germans to replace their deputy dictator with another more pleasing to the inhabitants.

The German military leaders, he says, are outspoken in their dislike of the imitation Norwegian Nazis.

JAPS IN FURIOUS BATTLE, GAIN A LITTLE GROUND

Big Losses Inflicted by Wainwright.

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—A furious Japanese land and sea assault on the defenses of Bataan was reported today by the war department, which said the sea attack was repulsed with "probably heavy" enemy losses.

"Some small gains" were reported for the Japanese land forces in the right center of Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's lines.

The fighting raged all day yesterday, a communique said, and presumably was continuing. It was the fifth major assault by the invaders in less than two weeks and appeared to be the most intense thus far.

Made from Bay Shore.

The sea attack was made on the eastern shore of the peninsula, from Manila bay, which enemy warships may not enter because of the island fortifications at the entrance.

Barges were used and several were sunk by American artillery before the rest turned back.

The communique said:

"Furious fighting raged along the right center of our line in Bataan all thru April 4. The enemy launched a heavy infantry assault supported by an intense artillery concentration. Large numbers of shock troops were massed opposite our positions and succeeded in making some small gains. Heavy casualties are believed to have been inflicted on the enemy.

Landing Attempt Foiled.

"A landing by hostile troops was attempted during the night on the eastern shore of Bataan. A considerable number of Japanese barges, mounting 75 mm. guns and carrying troops, approached the coast. Guns on the barges shelled our beach defenses, but our artillery succeeded in sinking several barges and turning back the others. No landing was effected. Enemy losses were probably heavy.

"During the last 24 hours Corregidor was free from air attacks for the first time since March 24. The guns of our harbor defenses exchanged fire with enemy batteries on the south shore of Manila bay."

RENT FREEZING, PROFIT AND WAGE CEILING STUDIED

Washington, D. C., April 5 [Special].—A ceiling over wages and profits and the freezing of rents are being given close consideration by the administration, it was reported today.

The different government departments concerned have been asked to submit their views and the necessary data and the subject is said to have been discussed by the cabinet. Altho no decision has been reached it was stated on high authority that it is only a matter of time until these curbs will be imposed.

A ceiling over wages is recognized to be the most ticklish problem of all for the administration. The Canadian expedient of freezing wage scales but allowing a bonus commensurate with any increase in the cost of living has been studied, and it is believed that such an ameliorating clause would be inserted in any measure of this kind which might be passed.

NAZI BATTLESHIP MEETS RAIDER AT SEA, SAYS BERLIN

Rendezvous with U-Boat Also Revealed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A German war reporter's story broadcast from Berlin yesterday said the formidably armed Nazi surface raider, Kormoran, which the German high command once admitted had been lost in the Indian ocean, was loose on a mission in the Atlantic in the company of other naval forces.

Describing a casual rendezvous of the Kormoran with German submarines, the war reporter, Fritz List, said "some time ago we were lying side by side with a German heavily armored giant"—phraseology which might be used to describe the 35,000 ton battleship Tirpitz or some of Adolf Hitler's other battleships or heavy cruisers.

The 9,400 ton Kormoran figured in one of the most mysterious episodes of the war last November when it fought a blazing duel with the gallant Australian cruiser Sydney, in which each apparently was sunk by the broadsides of the other

No Survivors Found.

All that ever was learned of the battle by the Australians was from two boatloads of survivors from the Kormoran, who said their own ship was blown up and that the last seen of the Sydney was when she went over the horizon with a fire blazing amidships. No survivors of the Sydney ever were found.

The German high command, claiming a victory over the Sydney, admitted that their own ship "had to be abandoned."

The war reporter's account of the Kormoran's activities in the Atlantic was given in the following broadcast:

"An unexpected meeting with a German submarine in the Atlantic was described by War Reporter Dr. Fritz List from aboard the German auxiliary cruiser Kormoran, which some time ago had sunk the Australian cruiser Sydney. He wired:

"'Some time ago we were lying side by side with a German heavily armored giant which likewise had done most serious harm to British shipping. And now we met a submarine. The sea was rough but nevertheless we managed to get within hail.

Asked for Torpedoes.

"'The submarine commander asked us to loan him a few torpedoes, since he had already fired all his ammunition and did not want to leave this good hunting ground.

"'The rough sea, however, prevented this for the time being. Therefore, we sailed on for a long while, side by side waiting for better weather. All we could do now, altho with great difficulty, was to supply the submarine comrades with fresh rolls.

"'The next morning the sea was still very rough. We did them another good treat by inviting the duty free men aboard our ship. This was gladly accepted. In a long rubber boat they came across. The use of our swimming bath was point No. 1 on their program. Point No. 2 was a shower bath and the use of soap, followed by an inspection of the auxiliary cruiser and by a big dinner.

Catch a Shark.

"'But soon the weather improved and we could replenish the empty ammunition chamber of the U-boat with our torpedoes. Our two crews were able to catch a big shark, but the submarine crew was unable to wait until our cook had sharkfin soup ready, which we had to eat without our comrades.'"

A German auxiliary might well be ranging the Atlantic with the Tirpitz, sister ship of the ill fated Bismarck, as suggested by List. The Tirpitz was last reported on March 20 at Trondheim, a huge steel net spread over her anchorage against a high cliff so British bombers could not get at her. This was after her sally along the Norwegian coast March 9 in an effort to cut Russia's arctic supply line.

REPORT AUSSIES RAIDED JAP PORT IN DUTCH INDIES

New York, April 5 (AP).—Australian sailors and airmen conducted a commando-like raid on an unidentified Netherlands East Indies port held by the Japanese recently, spirited away war equipment and destroyed other materiel, the Sydney, Australia, radio said today.

The sortie may have been in western Java or southeastern Sumatra because the account told of the raiders returning thru Sunda strait, which separates the two islands.

"Valuable equipment had been left on the wharf when the port was evacuated," the radio account, heard by CBS, said. "The enemy was only a few miles off, but corvettes were sent at full speed to get the equipment away. They landed airmen armed with tommy guns and naval ratings watched the jungle paths. While the equipment was loaded, gasoline was poured over trucks and cars and the munitions dump was destroyed."

The corvettes picked up more than 200 survivors from a torpedoed merchant ship while returning home thru Sunda strait.

JAPS MASSING IN BURMA FOR NEW DRIVE SHELLED

NEW DELHI, India, April 5 (AP).—Japanese troops and motor transport are massing on the west bank of the Irrawaddy river on the Burma front and British artillery units are shelling them effectively, the British Burma command announced today.

The enemy apparently is concentrating for an attempted renewal of his drive northward toward the rich Burmese oil fields. The defenders on the Irrawaddy front, a communique said, "have been withdrawn successfully to prearranged positions," and are under heavy Japanese air attack, both by dive bombing and machine gunning.

HINT U. S. ENVOY SEEKS ACTION ON INDIA'S FREEDOM

Britain May Receive Final Answer Today.

NEW DELHI, April 5 (AP).—The advent of Louis Johnson, special White House envoy to India, bearing a letter from President Roosevelt to some as yet unidentified Indian leader, has instilled a new sense of urgency in the laborious bargaining over independence for India.

Louis Johnson.

Persons who have met the former assistant secretary of war since his arrival Friday at New Delhi speak of the impression produced of a determination to infuse a new sense of power and authority in Indian affairs.

Confers with Cripps.

There is no indication thus far that the President's letter has been delivered. Yesterday Johnson returned a call by Sir Stafford Cripps, British war cabinet member. Cripps is Britain's chief negotiator on the two week old tender of postwar dominion status for India in return for full war participation.

Johnson also met Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British commander for India.

Negotiations now are in the reconsideration stage following formal rejection of the British plan by the dominant All-India [Hindu] Congress party and indications of rejection by the All-India Moslem league, representing India's largest minority.

Tries for Compromise.

Wavell, conferring yesterday with Congress leaders, Maulana Abul Kalan Azad, president of the party, and Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, past president, is supposed to have tried for a compromise on the main point at issue—the question of how much responsibility Indians shall bear in the direction of defense.

It is considered likely that the Congress has demanded complete control of military finance by an Indian defense minister and that strategy and operations be subject to the authority of a defense council presided over by an Indian prime minister and including the defense minister as well as heads of the army, air and naval forces.

If the Congress reply includes such demands, the assumption was that the British cabinet would say no.

See Wavell as Viceroy.

LONDON, April 6 [Monday]—(AP).—The News Chronicle said today speculation has risen in India over the possibility that Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell would become viceroy to insure full control of all defense measures and with an Indian becoming defense member of the executive council.

A Daily Mail dispatch from New Delhi reported the British war cabinet was understood to be meeting tonight [Monday] to consider the Congress note and reports from Sir Stafford Cripps, Wavell, and Lord Linlithgow, the viceroy of India.

A Reuters dispatch from New Delhi said yesterday that the "final outcome of the Cripps mission is expected to become known tonight or Tuesday morning."

Reds Deny Their Planes Bombed Swedish Town

MOSCOW, April 5 (AP).—Tass [Russian news agency] denied today that bombs dropped last Thursday on Haparanda, Swedish town on the Finnish border, were of Russian origin. "These assertions are a malicious fabrication," the agency said.

U. S. AND AUSSIE PILOTS DOWN 18 JAPS IN 2 DAYS

Damage 20 Others; Get 4 Bombers Over Darwin.

BULLETIN.

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 6 [Monday]—(AP).—Australian airmen made another successful attack yesterday on the Japanese base at Koepang, capital of Dutch Timor, a communique announced today.

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 5 (AP).—American and Australian airmen, smashing devastating blows into Japanese bases on Australia's outer island defenses and decisively fending off enemy attacks on their own bases, were officially credited with destroying at least 18 Japanese planes and damaging 20 others in two days of fierce air battles.

In the exchange of blows, seven Japanese bombers, escorted by a fleet of fighters, attacked Darwin on Australia's northwest coast for the 13th time. Seven other enemy bombers with fighter company delivered the 22d attack on Port Moresby, New Guinea outpost.

In turn, the Americans and Australians attacked Koepang in Dutch Timor, 500 miles northwest of Darwin, on Saturday, and twice struck surprise blows at Lae on the northeast coast of New Guinea, 500 miles from the Australian mainland.

Attacks Called Weak.

One Japanese navy Zero fighter was shot down at Port Moresby. Both at Darwin and Port Moresby the enemy attack was described as weak and the damage small.

When the smoke and flame from this series of actions had blown away, the score stood as follows, according to Australian communiques, and reports from the flyers:

Darwin [Saturday]: At least four, probably five, Japanese bombers shot down; at least two, probably three, Japanese fighters destroyed. A fourth fighter possibly destroyed. Two allied planes shot down, with the pilot of [illegible].

Lae [Saturday]: At least three Japanese bombers badly damaged when a lone Australian airman on reconnaissance machine gunned the airport; in a second surprise attack the same day, allied airmen left four bombers and a fighter burning. Unofficial reports from the flyers said 10 other planes were damaged.

Get Six Planes at Koepang.

Koepang [Saturday]: At least six Japanese planes destroyed on the ground and six big fires started in a long range, low level assault which started from Darwin. Unofficial reports said at least four more planes were damaged by machine gunning.

Climax of this furious exchange came Saturday afternoon when seven heavy, twin motored Mitsubishi bombers with their fighter escort flew over Darwin and met with hornetlike defenders who fought a furious battle for 15 minutes, 18,000 feet up in the sky. This raiding party was practically annihilated.

The defending fighters got their opposing numbers in the enemy fighter formation and then the antiaircraft guns opened up. The first volley from a four gun battery hit one of the bombers and as it spiraled earthward it exploded.

Bombers Crash into Sea.

The second burst hit two bombers, and one of them was seen trailing smoke into the sea. The other was flying low, too, and appeared about to crash. The fighters then dived in from above and sent the fourth and fifth bombers crashing.

The remaining two bombers jettisoned 25 bombs, including some 500 pounders and some light anti-personnel explosives, killing a civilian and damaging several houses.

Land parties went in search of three Japanese seen floating down in parachutes and the navy started to look for two more reported afloat at sea. Another Japanese airman's parachute was seen burning as he plummeted into the sea.

The search was made difficult by a heavy all-night rain, and today six dead Japanese flyers whose bodies were found on the beach were given burial.

SURVIVORS OF RABAUL TELL HOW 150 AUSSIES WIPED OUT 1,500 JAPS

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 6 [Monday]—(AP).—The bloody story of the Japanese conquest of Rabaul, New Britain capital, in which 150 Australians mowed down 1,500 Japanese in a 200 yard stretch of beach, was told today with the arrival in Australia of 600 survivors of the Australian garrison.

Rabaul fell Jan. 23 after the Japanese had pitted a landing force of 20,000 men, a formidable naval force and 150 bombers, dive bombers, and fighters against Rabaul's Australian garrison of 1,400 men and five planes.

Rabaul's casualties were 700 killed, wounded or missing while Japanese losses were in excess of 2,000.

At Ralauna beach 150 Australians blazed away at a Japanese force caught in barbed wire at the water's edge. Japanese dead were stacked six feet high as an estimated 1,500 fell before the Australian fire—and the Australian cost was only 20 men slightly wounded.

TWO RESCUED BY FIREMEN.

Two Negroes were carried down ladders from the second floor of the frame flat building at 41 East 28th street last night in a fire that caused about $300 damage.

BRITISH DISLODGE AXIS TANKS FROM KEY POST IN LIBYA

CAIRO, Egypt, April 5 (AP).—Patrols skirmished in the Libyan desert yesterday and British bombers continued to pound the main axis positions in the Tmimi-Martuba-Derna area, 80 miles west of Tobruk, British communiques said today.

An axis column with supporting tanks and guns was forced out of Bir el Hamarin, a desert spot 15 miles southwest of El Mekili. Whether this meant the army of Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck was again in control of the key point south of the Gebel el Akdar mountains was not made clear.

The main armies have been drawn up some 60 miles apart for more than six weeks and both have been receiving reëforcements in men and material. The British are based near Tobruk. An offensive by either the British or Germans appeared likely at any time.

Harbor installations and shipping at Bengazi were pounded again by the British.

6 Planes Downed at Malta.

VALETTA, Malta, April 5 (AP).—Six axis bombers were destroyed, one fighter plane probably was destroyed and six other planes were damaged seriously in raids on Malta in the last 24 hours, a communique announced tonight.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB TO ELECT GEN. MacARTHUR

Wins Honor Given Grant, Sherman, Sheridan.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the hero of the Philippines, will be elected an honorary member of the Union League club of Chicago at the club's Army day luncheon today.

Gen. MacArthur will be the 44th honorary member elected since the Chicago club was founded in 1879. The Union league movement was founded in 1862 at Pekin, Ill.

The club's directors nominated him for honorary membership March 10 and sent him notification thru war department channels on March 13. The message was sent to the Philippines, but the general was already on his dramatic dash to Australia.

Reached Him in Australia.

The message, signed by President Ferre C. Watkins, reached Gen. MacArthur at Melbourne, Australia. It said:

"Union League club of Chicago, outstanding patriotic institution born during the Civil war, extends you urgent invitation to honorary membership. Only 43 honorary members elected in history of club.

"Gen. Grant was first. Sherman, Sheridan, and nine former Presidents of the United States followed. Our seven living honorary members are Charles Evans Hughes, Herbert Hoover, William P. Sidley, Frank J. Loesch, Frank O. Lowden, Generals John J. Pershing and Charles G. Dawes.

Col. Hughes Quoted.

"We would be honored to have your acceptance by wire and add your illustrious name to this group. Col. William N. Hughes Jr. commends acceptance."

Col. Hughes, a Chicagoan, is a lifelong friend of Gen. MacArthur.

Gen. MacArthur cabled back:

"Will be deeply honored to accept honorary membership in the Union League club of Chicago. MacArthur."

Will Represent MacArthur.

Maj. Gen. George Grunert, new commander of the 6th corps area, who served with Gen. MacArthur in the Philippines until last November, will represent Gen. MacArthur at the luncheon.

Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, will unveil and dedicate the club's roll of members and their sons in the nation's armed forces.

GEN. MacARTHUR, STAFF ATTEND EASTER RITES

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 5 (AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his staff devoted Easter morning to attending church services but wartime conferences continued later today.

Philippines President Manuel Quezon, who recently arrived in Australia, made one of his few public appearances in the company of an American major. They lunched together at a hotel frequented by Americans. Quezon was bundled to the ears in a heavy brown coat and muffler which he kept on during his meal in the chilly dining room. Suffering from a heavy cold, he coughed frequently.

BIG U. S. BOMBER FINDS SAFETY ON LAST DROP OF GAS

Storm, Radio Trouble Peril Pacific Flyers.

BY CLARK LEE.

SOMEWHERE IN NORTHERN AUSTRALIA, April 5 (AP).—It was at Balbuena airport at Mexico City six years ago that I had last seen Charles Baughan, an airman who navigated then, as he said, "by guess and by God." Just the other night we met again, here at the same dinner table, and now he has learned to navigate by the stars.

He is a captain in the RAF ferry command and has just flown a big plane across the Pacific for Gen. MacArthur's forces to use in checking Japan's drive southward.

We did a lot of flying around Mexico in Charley's old crate, having to seek a landing field every few hours to tie a wing together or patch up the motor.

His old planes were bargains at a couple of thousand Mexican pesos. The one he just brought here—and it didn't fly alone—is one of the world's finest bombers.

By the Seat of His Pants.

Charley could always fly anything with wings but he navigated, as airmen say, "by the seat of his pants," and I couldn't picture him covering the vast distances in the Pacific without getting lost.

"Well," he told me. "I figured the boys doing the fighting needed planes so I checked up and found I have to celestiate [navigate by the stars]. So I got me a book and learned to celestiate and I am real good now. But luck helped as much as celestiating on this trip."

Baughan, 40 years old, from Kingsport, Tenn., flew as co-pilot with Capt. Stanley Klusek, an American, with Radioman Al McMann, a Canadian, and Navigator H. C. Rowell, an Australian.

Misses Oahu Island.

Near Oahu of the Hawaiian Islands they hit a tropical storm extending to 8,000 feet.

"In the storm, we flew right over the island and missed it completely," Baughan said. "Finally we found a hole and got down. There was nothing but water and, believe me, there's lots of it between the United States and Australia. We were having a spot of trouble with the radio, otherwise we could have located ourselves okay.

"I couldn't celestiate as the clouds were almost down to the water; night was approaching and we didn't have enough gas to chance climbing back thru the clouds. We were completely lost.

"I told myself: 'Charley, this is it. You've been thru a lot of them before, but here it is, finally.'

"I was dead sure the airplane was gone and I knew the chances of being picked up were the slimmest. I had already told Mac to open his rear escape hatch and get ready to get out fast.

If the Gas Holds Out.

"We had three tons of airplane to set down on the water at 120 miles an hour and she'd probably go down in a hurry. Then I got to thinking maybe this wasn't it and maybe there was some way to get out of it.

"I went back to where Mac was lying on his stomach, sweating and working to repair the radio, and finally we got it ticking and got thru to a certain station in the Hawaiian Islands.

"The station wouldn't give us a position because our signals were so weak they might have told us wrong. They instructed us to change our course, fly an hour and try to contact them again.

"In the meantime, day went, darkness came, and the gas gauge clicked lower. After an hour we contacted them again and they advised us to fly another course one hour more when we would hit land—if the gas held out.

To the Last Drop of Fuel.

"Exactly an hour later, the navigator shouted that he saw a light We told him he was crazy but he insisted. We went closer and sure enough there were the lights of a certain runway.

"I was at the controls and banked the ship sharply to waste no time in getting down. As we rolled to a standstill our engines coughed and quit. We did not have enough gasoline to taxi off the runway."

Postscript: After dinner Baughan flew to another city and a few hours later telephoned long distance and said he was in a hospital with a broken ankle. He had flown halfway around the world safely and then was injured in "wrong way traffic" in Australia, where automobiles and street cars go down the left side of the street.

He had been hit by a street car.

INJURED IN FALL FROM WINDOW.

Mrs. Marie Polich, 42 years old, was seriously injured last night when she fell or leaped from a window of her second story apartment at 547 Englewood avenue. She fell upon the roof of the first floor porch, which gave way beneath her.

102 NAZI PLANES DOWNED IN DAY, RUSSIANS CLAIM

40,000 Germans Reported Killed in 13 Days.

MOSCOW, April 5 (AP).—The Russian air force destroyed 102 German planes in aerial fighting over the front or on the ground yesterday, a Russian communique said tonight, adding new evidence to reports that the long winter-locked battle ground is coming into action on a wide scale.

Eighteen of the planes were reported downed during a night raid on Leningrad. An announcement said only a few of the raiders penetrated to the metropolis proper.

A special communique also reported that 40,000 Germans had been killed on the central front between March 23 and April 4, and that in the 13 days ended April 4, Russian forces had occupied 161 inhabited localities on the front west of Moscow.

Red Star, the army newspaper, reported that soviet forces were pressing relentlessly westward on this front. The Russian drive carried them across a river, behind which the Germans had set up their line of resistance, Red Star said.

Down 45 Transport Planes.

Ceaseless Russian pressure was reported dissolving the long trapped German army at Staraya Russa, 140 south of Leningrad.

The Moscow radio said the surrounded German force was making "desperate attempts to counterattack" but that its position was deteriorating daily. The soviet air force, a dispatch from the northwestern front said, shot down 24 huge Junkers transport planes and 21 others seeking to take war material and supplies to their encircled comrades.

Reports that Adolf Hitler was pouring new war material onto the front—possibly to initiate his much talked of spring offensive for the oil treasure of the Caucasus—found credence in the Russian communique which said "three tanks of the 1942 model were captured."

Bryansk Hit by Guerrillas.

War dispatches said that Bryansk, 220 miles southeast of Moscow and 140 miles southeast of Smolensk was now virtually besieged by Russian guerrillas. All inhabitants have been removed from the eastern outskirts of the city and in some districts houses have been razed to give the German garrison wider fields of fire, the army paper, Red Star, said.

[A dispatch to the London News Chronicle from its Stockholm correspondent said that Russian artillery had started to shell Bryansk. "The advance from north and south of Orel toward Bryansk has brought soviet artillery units 50 miles farther west in this sector," the dispatch said.]

Both Sides Move Troops.

LONDON, April 5 (AP).—Both Germany and Russia poured fresh divisions into the front lines tonight and the Ankara [Turkish] radio broadcast that the "soviet troop movements indicate the first German drive is expected in South Russia."

Russian reports said some 90 new soviet divisions, or some 1,350,000 men, had been concentrated in the 250 miles of defenses between Kharkov and Taganrog. Russian dispatches quoted by the Ankara broadcast said "the German spring offensive cannot start before May or thereabouts."

Rumanian troops are now being massed on the Russian frontier, other reports said.

Hostile Planes Over Bulgaria.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 5 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Hostile planes appeared over several Bulgarian towns late Saturday causing alarms to be sounded, the Bulgarian high command announced today. No bombs were reported dropped and the identity of the planes apparently was not established.

Claim Baltic Fleet Crippled.

BERLIN, April 5 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Adolf Hitler's high command said today that Nazi warplanes had bombed "the remnants of the soviet Baltic fleet" in the Russian bases of Leningrad and Kronstadt, hitting two battleships and two heavy cruisers with heavy caliber explosives.

The news agency DNB said that the four vessels were the 23,256 ton battleship October Revolution, the 23,606 ton battleship Marat and the modern heavy cruisers Maxim Gorki and Kirov.

Continuing attacks on the supply lines leading from the United States and Britain to the ice free Arctic port of Murmansk, the Germans said their planes had sunk a 1,200 ton merchant ship and damaged five others.

At the cost of one German plane, 47 Russian aircraft were said by the high command to have been destroyed. The Berlin radio said 62 planes were shot down.

WAR MUST BRING LARGER RUSSIA, BRITISH ARE TOLD

Conservative Urges Closer Relations.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—Whatever the outcome of the war, Alex Sutherland, president of the National Amalgamated Union of Shop Workers, told its annual meeting today, "there can be no final victory without the emergence of a greatly enlarged union of socialist soviet republics."

Complaining of the failure of employés to coöperate with workers, he urged the same government direction applied to labor could be applied with even more profit to employers.

He criticized the government for failing to get rid of "those forces which represent the worst in British imperialism," and said the present precarious position of the British empire is due in part to the stupidities of the colonial office.

"What can one think of a statesman who assures us that the 'people of India will be nearer independence when they themselves compose their differences?'" he asked.

Federal Union Urged.

Even the Conservative member of parliament, Maj. A. N. Braithwaite, urged closer relations with the soviet. He told federal unionists who met at Oxford that the federal union policy is to take an objective attitude toward Russia and exploit the chances "of their joining with us in achieving a federal union."

"Convoy after convoy" has been sent with allied war supplies to the soviet union, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, told a cooperative party conference.

Greenwood Hits Churchill.

Laborite Arthur Greenwood, who was dropped from the cabinet as minister without portfolio, assailed Prime Minister Churchill for lauding the Conservative party as "the main part of the rock on which salvation of Britain is founded."

Alfred Barnes, member of parliament and conference president, said the British would not tolerate loss of India and Australia.

"If the government cannot quickly satisfy parliament that the Japs can be defeated and that we can also play our part in an offensive against Germany," Barnes said, "then I doubt whether even this government could survive public and parliamentary indignation."

SECOND FRONT? THAT'S QUESTION LONDON PONDERS

Public Demands It; Press Is Divided.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—Easter week dawns on what military experts here agree is a decisive period of the war. Impending offensives on the part of the enemy and counteroffensives on the part of the allies occupied military writers in weekly periodicals and Sunday newspapers.

The military correspondent of the Sunday Observer supported the suggestion that Britain establish a second front which the public for some time has been urging. Representatives of 80,000 members of engineering and allied trade shop stewards, and the national council demanded such action today at a Manchester meeting.

The view of informed quarters in London was that when Adolf Hitler starts his spring offensive against Russia, the Japanese will open a second front against the soviets. The problem confronting the united nations, they believe, is to make the best use of what troops and equipment now are available to force the enemy to divide his own armies to an extent where he will be unable to gain a decisive victory at any point.

Suggests Allies Take Initiative.

The Observer's expert, commenting on the few casualties suffered so far, suggested that now is the time for the allies to take the initiative. He estimated Nazi forces at 200 to 250 divisions available for all fronts, and that the Germans will have to assemble at least 150 divisions on the eastern front. For his other plans, Hitler must resort to small but effective shock forces, he said.

The weekly Spectator asserted that Libya may soon supply all the second front that can be asked for. It is agreed that the lull in the desert war cannot continue many days longer, but the question was asked whether this time either army there, owing to extended communications, can inflict a decisive defeat on the other.

Thinks Time Not Ripe.

Time and Tide said that the time is not yet ripe for a new front owing to vital demands on shipping and fighting services in operations now under way.

"It would be very surprising indeed if plans have not already been prepared for the necessary offensive when the time is ripe for it," it said. "The Germans may be beaten anywhere one likes, but they will only be defeated this time in Germany itself, and an essential element in that defeat will be the advance from the west of a powerful British—possibly Anglo-American—army."

Time and Tide also suggested that "those who clamor for second fronts and for wildcat continental adventures would be doing more useful work . . . if they devoted themselves to the maintenance of existing fronts and increasing their efforts to build up the resources which would enable us to intervene successfully in western Europe."

REPORT BRITISH COMMANDOS RAID PORT OF NARVIK

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 6 [Monday].—British commandos early yesterday attacked German installations and defense works in the port of Narvik, inflicting many casualties and considerable damage to shipping in the port, according to a report reaching the daily Aftontidningen early this morning.

Details were lacking, but, according to one source, the raid may have been carried out in conjunction with Russian air force bombers.

No Knowledge of Raid.

LONDON, April 6 [Monday]—(AP).—Authoritative London quarters said early today they were without information of a commando raid on the German held Norwegian port of Narvik.

VETERAN FOUND DEAD.

William Davies, 70 years old, a veteran of the Spanish-American war and of the first World war, was found dead yesterday apparently of natural causes in his hoom at 7 South Jefferson street.

THE U. S. FLAG! TRIBUNE'S ARMY DAY GIFT TO YOU

The colored picture of the American flag, presented on the back page of today's TRIBUNE in observance of Army day, the 25th anniversary of this country's entry into the first World war, is suitable for display in homes or elsewhere.

In putting up this colorful reproduction of the national banner, readers should follow the rules governing proper display of the flag. The picture is intended to be hung on a wall or displayed in a window so that it can be seen from the outside. It should be hung just as it appears in the paper; that is, with the longer dimension of the flag in a vertical position, as shown in figure 1. This places the union [the stars in the blue field] at the top and to the observer's left, which is the flag's own right.

Horizontal Display Explained.

To display the picture with the longer dimension of the flag placed horizontally, as shown in Figure 2, is improper, since it places the union to the observer's right. In displaying the flag against a wall or in a window the union should be at the upper left, as viewed by the observer. When the flag is properly displayed horizontally it appears as in Figure 3.

An exception to this rule that places the union to the observer's left will be discussed in connection with figure 5.

Complications would arise in displaying the flag over the center of a street if it were not for a rule governing this situation. As the flag, hanging vertically as in figure 4, is viewed from either side it is impossible to have the union at the upper left to all observers. The rule governing this situation states:

"When it is desired to display the flag over the center of a public thorofare it should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in east and west streets and to the east in north and south streets."

In displaying the American flag against a wall with another flag their staffs crossed, the American flag should be on the observer's left—the flag's own right—and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag. This display, as shown in figure 5, places the union to the upper right, as viewed by the observer, tho being an exception to the general rule that it should be to the upper left.

How to Salute the Flag.

All loyal Americans today and every other day will wish to show their respect for the flag when it appears in public. The rule in connection with this follows:

"During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons should face the flag, stand at attention, and salute. Those present in uniform should render the right hand salute. Those men not in uniform should remove their headdress with the right hand and hold it at the upper left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in a moving column is rendered as the flag approaches the spectator and is held until it has passed."

How to Display Flag and Salute

The above diagram illustrates methods of displaying the American flag and how to salute it. Explanations will be found in the story in adjoining column.

FRANCE BUILDING UP ITS AVIATION DESPITE THE WAR

5,000 Mechanics Work on Clipper Planes.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, April 5.—Despite the reverses of war and the fact that the Germans practically obliterated French military aviation after the 1940 armistice, France has continued its commercial aviation program and has an adequate air service operating in the unoccupied region.

To show the public what advances have been made under difficulties, the aviation exposition being held this week has as its chief exhibit models of the giant Clipper planes which the French are planning to turn out for eventual trans-Atlantic flight. A model of the air base at Biscarosse attracted much attention. Models of Dewoitine planes, together with charts showing how civil aviation has developed since the armistice also were features of the show.

Other stands showed photographs and gave figures on the industrial organization behind aviation. It is disclosed that 5,000 aviation mechanics now are employed in aviation factories and at fields at Clermont-Ferrand, Toulouse, Limoges, Algiers, and Casablanca, Morocco, alone.

Proud of Saving Navy.

A daily air circuit is being maintained from Vichy to Lyons, Marseilles, Nice, Toulouse, and Limoges. Daily service also connects Marseilles with North Africa.

The French take as much satisfaction in having continued their aviation development since the armistice as they do in having preserved the French navy. Inspecting the crew of the battleship Strasbourg recently, Marshal Petain said:

"You belong to the arm of service which has not known defeat."

There is no indication of collaboration by the French navy with anyone. America's authorities have been anxious. Considerable excitement was caused recently when the battleship Dunkerque, damaged in the British attack on Mers el Kebir, Algeria, two years ago, left Algiers and proceeded under its own steam to Toulon, French Mediterranean arsenal, for repairs.

But nothing happened and both Marshal Petain and Vice Premier Adm. Jean Darlan stoutly maintain that the French navy will not be used for the benefit of either France's former allies or enemies.

Battleships Are Required.

Repairs are still going forward on the Dunkerque and also on the Bretagne, another battleship damaged at Mers al Kebir. Because of the shortage of materials and electric power the work is slow. Also in Toulon is the Strasbourg, sister ship of the Dunkerque. The Strasbourg frequently goes out on short maneuvers. Seven or eight old cruisers also are in Toulon harbor.

The French have the uncompleted battleship Jean Dart in Casablanca and the battleship Richelieu at Dakar, French West Africa, which did strenuous fighting when Dakar was attacked by the "Free French" in 1940.

Besides these five battleships, which form the backbone of the French fleet's striking power, Adm. Darlan controls about 35 destroyers and perhaps as many submarines.

In Guadaloupe is the French aircraft carrier Bearn and the training ship Jeanne d'Arc. The Bearn made a famous cruise across the Atlantic just before the armistice, carrying French gold from the Bank of France's vaults to safety.

Several Seized by British.

The French battleship Lorraine and two or three other vessels were seized by the British in the harbor at Alexandria, Egypt, at the time of the armistice. They have been demilitarized. Two old French battleships which were at Portsmouth, England, were seized by the British.

No exact figures are available, but some estimates put the French fighting ships at perhaps 300,000 tons total.

CHICAGO RADIO EXPERT LOST WITH LANGLEY

Capt. Gerald Martin Keenan.

Capt. Gerald Martin Keenan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Keenan, 7929 Maryland avenue, was listed yesterday among the missing in the sinking of the aircraft tender Langley in the western Pacific. He was 24 years old.

Capt. Keenan, a radio expert in the air corps for the last four years, had been with the Pacific fleet for a year. He attended the St. Berchman seminary, Marion, Ia., and the Our Lady of Peace elementary parochial school in Chicago. He was a graduate of the Calumet High school, the communications training center at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and the officers' training school at Fort Benning, Ga.

Capt. Keenan was among the youngest flight officers in the army.

32 DIE, 5 INJURED IN ATTACK ON 2 BRITISH WARSHIPS

LONDON, April 5 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight there were 37 casualties aboard the cruiser Trinidad and destroyer Eclipse which were damaged in a German sea and air attack upon a Murmansk bound convoy in the Barents sea.

The casualties included 32 killed or died of wounds and 5 wounded. The British ships made port after the running fight in which one German destroyer was sunk, another damaged and three U-boats were sunk or damaged.

ENGLAND'S SOUTH COAST RAIDED BY HITLER BOMBERS

LONDON, April 5 (AP).—A few enemy aircraft made a brief appearance over a town on the south coast of England this morning. Bombs which were dropped caused only slight damage. A German bomber was destroyed over the east coast tonight.

Claim 14 British Planes Downed.

BERLIN, April 5 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German army bulletin today said 14 British bombers were shot out of a formation which attacked western occupied regions yesterday under the protection of a strong fighter squadron. On the English southwest coast German fighter planes were reported to have bombed "workshops of the British airplane industry."

The Berlin radio said a long distance reconnaissance squadron, operating from the Norwegian port of Narvik, had conducted its 1,000th raid. Most of its flights were against the British Isles and surrounding waters, and aimed at keeping the high command informed on British fleet movements in Arctic waters.

WOMAN, REVIVED TWICE, DIES.

Mrs. Augusta Weiss, 64 years old, 2716 Division street, a widow who was revived twice by firemen after she was stricken with heart attacks Saturday, died yesterday in County hospital.

U. S. SHIP ELUDES 4 U-BOATS, BUT 5TH ONE SINKS HER

New York, April 5.—The shelling and sinking of an American freighter 119 by a submarine off the eastern coast of the United States after the ship had outrun four other U-boats was described here today by survivors.

Thirty were rescued from the ship and 29 of them arrived here Wednesday night on a Pan-American Airways Clipper from Bermuda. One of the survivors remained in a Bermuda hospital for treatment. Survivors said two members of the crew leaped over the ship's side and were lost and that a lifeboat containing the captain and three other crew members was missing.

Ship Toll Reaches 119.

The sinking brought to 119 the number of vessels sunk off American shores since Pearl Harbor. In these sinkings 797 persons are known to be dead, 994 are missing, and 2,841 have been rescued.

One of the survivors, Erio Pearson, 18 years old, of Galveston, Tex., an oiler, said the freighter was sunk March 20. He told how submarines stalked the ship.

"Every time a submarine would get near us, the captain would order full speed ahead," Pearson said. "We got away four times, but this time we didn't make it."

Side of Lifeboat Smashed.

James Stickney, 32, of Maybrook, N. Y., also an oiler, said the side of the lifeboat which held the 30 survivors was smashed while the boat was being lowered.

"We found pieces of wood and some tools in the boat," Stickney said. "We salvaged timber from the sea, pulled nails from drifting planks, and fixed up our boat."

The 30 spent 54 hours in the lifeboat, battling heavy seas, before being picked up and taken to Bermuda.

Some Garbed in Pajamas.

"Some of the fellows in the lifeboat didn't even have their pants," said William Teffner, 27, of Lansdowne, Md., another oiler. "They just had life preservers and pajamas."

One of the 30 who were rescued was a passenger aboard the ship. Survivors identified him as Herbert Jernigan.

Friend of the Yanks

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

IMMEDIATE INDUCTION.

"I wish to call your attention to a selective service procedure which is causing a great hardship to the selectee. I refer to the unreasonable practice of immediate induction on the same day of the final physical examination."

This letter is typical of many received from men who have been notified to appear for final examination and induction. They do not wish to quit their jobs, only to learn that they are physically unfit for military service. They don't know whether to dispose of their businesses, household effects, or automobiles on the chance they will pass the examination.

Time Saving Cited.

A selective service official, told of the numerous complaints against immediate induction, remarked that "the government or army will never be able to establish rules satisfactory to every one."

It has been found that the new system cuts selective service operating costs 50 per cent, and that operating time is cut 30 per cent. The latter is an important saving in view of the need for men, it was asserted.

Procedure Suggested.

Men scheduled to appear for their final physical examination, whose immediate induction thereafter would work an undue hardship on them—such as men who must arrange for the sale of a privately owned business—should present the facts to their local draft board immediately after receiving orders to report for induction. If the board finds the request fair, the draftee will be given a letter recommending that he be given a 10 day furlough after induction. This letter should be presented to the draftee's commanding officer upon arrival at the reception center. It is then up to the army authorities to decide whether or not the furlough will be granted.

[Tomorrow: Alimony from Men in Service.]

QUESTION.

W. J. B. asks: "Are the physical requirements for entering the army as a volunteer identical to those for being drafted?"

ANSWER: Yes, the physical examinations are the same.

Mrs. G. A. F. writes: "My son applied for enlistment in the navy for officer training, but failed because his eyes did not meet the requirements. Is there any other branch of the navy he can apply for?"

ANSWER: Altho he did not meet the vision requirements, which is 18/20, for officer training, if his vision is 15/20 in each eye without glasses he can enter the navy as an enlisted man.

Miss R. L. asks: "Will you explain to me what classification 1-C means?"

ANSWER: Members of the land or naval forces of the United States are placed in class 1-C.

PACIFIC FLEET AT PEAK, SAYS HEAD OF LEGION

America's Pacific fleet today is stronger in ships, planes and men than it was before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, Lynn U. Stambaugh, national commander of the American Legion, said last night in a nation-wide broadcast.

Deploring complacency and rumor mongering, Stambaugh quoted a statement by former Legion Commander Ed Hayes, now a special assistant to Secretary of the Navy Knox, which said:

"The navy department is aware of the many rumors about the Japanese action at Pearl Harbor, rumors so fantastic in some cases as to include the whispered statement that the Pacific fleet was wiped out. I am authorized by Secretary Knox to state that as of this date, and for some time in the past, the Pacific fleet in ships, planes and men today is even stronger than it was before Dec. 7."

KILLED IN FALL FROM PORCH.

VICTORY PRAYERS ASCEND IN HOLY LAND ON EASTER

JERUSALEM, April 5 (AP).—Prayers for victory rose in many tongues today as the Holy Land celebrated Easter with its customary centuries old ceremonies.

King George II, of Greece participated in the Greek services along with hundreds of his soldiers gathered in the tiny Greek Catholic church in the old city of Jerusalem. The priest ended the service with "Zito Hellas"—long live Greece—which the soldiers repeated.

Patriarchs of the Armenian, Latin, and Orthodox faiths held services in front of the tomb of the Holy Sepulcher. Armenians had further impressive vespers in their church with a great procession in the central courtyard of the convent.

Blesses Whole Earth.

The high point of the procession was the ceremony blessing the four corners of the earth. Facing east, the patriarch prayed for the Armenian heirarchy. Turning westward, he prayed for the world and all Christian realms, following with prayer to the south for the fields and fruits of the earth, and to the north for convents, hermitages, cities, villages, and their inhabitants.

At St. George's Anglican cathedral men and women in uniform assisted in the services, which were broadcast to the world.

One of the most colorful ceremonies was the divine service of the Holy Fire in the Holy Sepulcher, symbolizing the resurrection.

After reciting many chants the Armenian patriarch entered the tomb chamber and prayed while the crowd waited in hushed silence. Then he reappeared on his balcony, holding out the torch of the Holy Fire, the great bells in the tower pealing.

Flame Borne to Crowd.

In the church, light traveled from candle to candle amid cries of joy. Then the flame was borne to the waiting crowd outside, from where runners sped with it to homes and churches as far away as Bethlehem.

The Greek king witnesses this ceremony and he also led the Maunday Thursday procession when the Greek Orthodox patriarch entered the garden of the Orthodox convent of Jerusalem to celebrate high mass and the ceremony of foot-washing.

SNIFFLES KEEP PRESIDENT FROM EASTER SERVICE

Throng Bows at Tomb of Unknown Soldier.

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—A cold today prevented President Roosevelt from attending Easter services in St. Thomas' Episcopal church, where several hundred persons waited in hope of a glimpse of him.

Mr. Roosevelt awakened with the sniffles, and Dr. Ross T. McIntire, White House physician, ruled out the President's plans to go to the morning service at the church, of which he is a member.

The capital's first Easter of the war had a solemn undertone despite the spectacle of thousands of pretty girls—defense workers here from all parts of the nation—parading in new finery and promenading with men in uniform.

Linger at Arlington.

A large crowd attended the sunrise services at Arlington National cemetery, before the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. After the service Vice President Henry A. Wallace placed a cross of lilies at the foot of the tomb.

In past years this has concluded the ceremonies and there had been a scramble to get into cars and away. But this year the crowds lingered, packing closely around the sarcophagus while young soldiers of the honor guard paced back and forth before the tomb.

It was an unusual Easter at the White House. Mrs. Roosevelt was out of the city and there were no grandchildren around to hunt for Easter eggs.

The traditional Easter Monday egg roll on the White House lawn has been canceled because of the war.

Fifth Avenue Crowded.

New York, April 5 (AP).—Fifth avenue was crowded today in an Easter parade which was subdued and quiet in comparison with previous carefree years.

The weather was kind to the strollers—the sun broke thru just as 10,000 worshipers filed out of St. Patrick's cathedral at noon—but the wealthy stayed at home. The strolling Vanderbilts, Astors, and Rockefellers were absent and in their stead hundreds of service men walked thru the crowds.

But there was fashion—tempered to the times—with women's hats in nonpriority reds and fine fabric suits, conservatively cut. Shoes were red, too. So were bags and coats.

An important message to every motorist who has wondered:

How Good Will Tires Be When They're Made With Synthetic* Rubber?

▶ Eighteen months before Pearl Harbor, hundreds of patriotic corporations and car owners were making road tests with a new kind of tire. It bore the famous Silvertown name. But more than half its rubber was synthetic...B. F. Goodrich Ameripol.

Since that time synthetic rubber has leaped to new importance. A large part of our war effort depends upon America's ability to produce good tires from synthetic rubber. The tires we will drive upon after the war may well be synthetic.

Hence the question, "How good will these new tires be?" is a vital one. There are several ways to answer it. Perhaps the best way is to let you read what actually happened when tires made with Ameripol were put to the test of day-after-day driving. Perhaps the best people to tell you are those who owned the cars and did the driving.

The letters quoted here are only a few of many received. We hope that others who patriotically cooperated will understand that space limited the number of statements we could print.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Aetna Life Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn.
"We put these tires on our Dodge car and ran them for approximately 14,000 miles, at which time they were replaced. As far as we could determine, the tires gave service just about equal to genuine rubber tires."
—Rawdon W. Myers, V. P.

Beech-Nut Packing Company . . .
"Altogether we would say that they showed up well, and we would be just as satisfied to buy them as tires of natural rubber."
—C. N. Robinson, Director of Purchases

Brink's, Incorporated, Chicago, Ill. . . .
"In using these Ameripol tires we have found that in 18,000 miles of travel the Ameripol tires are equal to the crude rubber tires."
—Charles W. Allen, Treas.

Car Owner—Hampton, Iowa . . .
"On November 10, 1940, I purchased four Ameripol tires because I was interested in finding out what value they had and after 27,000 miles of service I was well pleased. They were driven every day over all kinds of roads. They wore as even as any other standard tire and could have been driven at least 10,000 miles further under the present emergency."
—S. O. Anderson

General Baking Company, New York . . .
"The following mileage was obtained on the four tires: 24,333 miles, 24,330 miles, 28,310 miles, 27,035 miles.
"These tires are worn smooth, but no fabric is showing and carcasses appear to be in good condition. The earned mileage as above is normal and compares favorably with regular line tires."
—Farrar Tilney, Director Purch. Dept.

General Outdoor Advertising Co., Chicago, Ill. . . .
"To date, these tires have been driven 16,000 miles; and from my inspection of tread wear, they show very little wear, indicating we may expect an additional 16,000 miles' service."
—B. W. Robbins, Pres.

The Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company . . .
"These tires have been driven 20,569 miles and they look as good as or better than other tires of similar mileage. As far as we can determine, the service has been very satisfactory."
—Dale F. Reese, V. P.

R. W. Jones, Inc., Dairy Products, Buffalo, N. Y. . . .
"I am satisfied that Ameripol tires will do a good job, and believe that comparatively they are 100% as efficient as rubber. We removed these tires this fall after running them 23,000 miles."—E. N. Jones

Pepsi-Cola Bottler, Hot Springs, Ark. . . .
"I traded the car in, and a doctor friend of mine has since re-traded the car, and we have lost track of it. I had 6,000 miles' service, the doctor had between 4,000 and 5,000, and the tire still looked like new. I would say that the Ameripol tire will give better service than those made of ordinary rubber."
—Charles S. Bunch

Petroleum Machine Company, Seminole, Oklahoma . . .
"We bought Ameripol tires and drove them 10,000 miles, at which time they showed only 1/16" wear on the tread. We consider this exceptionally good service due to the fact that they were driven at high speed over all sorts of oil field roads. Their riding quality is equal to rubber."—G. J. Armstrong, Pres.

Juneau County (Wisc.) Sheriff's Office . . .
"Since I have been connected with the Sheriff's office I have never driven a set of tires 20,000 miles with the exception of this pair of Ameripol tires."—Preston McEvoy, Under Sheriff

Swanson Baking Co., Fitchburg, Mass. . . .
"An Ameripol Goodrich Liberty Rubber Silvertown tire was purchased and put on car on side that usually receives the most severe usage. At the same time, a new crude rubber tire was put on the opposite side. To date, after having driven 15,794 miles, the Ameripol shows about even wear. It has never been off the rim, there is no uneven wear nor wall breakage and it still shows ⅛ inch rubber on the treads."
—W. Fraas, Treas.

United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co. . . .
"Our experience indicates that the wearing qualities of Ameripol tire are equal to those of first line rubber tires, and in some cases are superior to rubber tires."
—Charles L. Phillips, Exec. V. P.

Wisconsin Power and Light Company . . .
"At this time the tires have been operated a total of 20,900 miles in the regular service of this car. All of the tires have been in service for this entire distance."

CZAR OF AIRCRAFT SOUGHT TO SPUR BOMBER OUTPUT

Bottlenecks Termed Curb to Plane Deliveries.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—A reorganization of aircraft production under a czar empowered to eliminate bottlenecks whenever they exist is in the offing as the result of the united nations' desperate need of American bombing planes on numerous widely separated battle fronts.

Bombing planes are being ferried under their own power from the United States to the allied armies in Australia, Asia, Africa, and Europe.

Their transportation to the battlefields is not dependent upon the supply of shipping, the lack of which constitutes the most serious bottleneck in the undertaking to get American war resources overseas.

Rate Tops 15 Daily.

More than 15 American bombing planes are winging their way to England every day, according to information from Britain. How many are going to Russia is information the administration refuses to reveal on the ground it is a military secret.

Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, recently disclosed, however, that in 1941 Great Britain provided the soviet government with 9,000 planes, 2,000 of which came from the United States.

Bombers are being flown to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces in Australia, to the British armies in Libya and the middle east, and to China. The only battlefront our bombers have been unable to reach up to date is that held by the tiny American army in the Bataan peninsula of the Philippines.

Bomber Production Lags.

But so far America has been unable to produce enough bombers to go around. There have been serious hitches and a recent appalling slowdown in the production due to bungled over-all planning "a year or more ago" and still unremedied by the new War Production board, according to a senate investigation subcommittee which has just returned from an inspection of west coast factories.

"The subcommittee recommends:

"[A] That the War Production board set up a section charged with over-all planning for aircraft production, such section to be headed by a trained aircraft production executive drafted from the industry. The subcommittee has been told that the War Production board still does not have a single topnotch aircraft production man in its organization.

"[B] That instead of wasting its energies on a generalized plea for 'all-out production,' which has confused management, labor, and the public, the War Production board concentrate its efforts on breaking those bottlenecks which are, in the aircraft industry to the subcommittee's certain knowledge and probably in other fields, really holding up peak production."

Nelson Seeks Czar.

Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, is looking for an aircraft production czar capable of getting the bombers rolling at plant capacity. He has been endeavoring to induce K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler corporation, to take the job, but Mr. Keller is hesitating to accept because of the state of his health.

Sen. Mon C. Wallgren [D., Wash.], chairman of the investigating committee, who returned to the capital last night, said today the committee will hold further sessions this week to obtain views on its recommendations, including the appointment of an aircraft production dictator. Mr. Nelson will be invited to testify.

The committee said that when the expansion of aircraft factories was undertaken a year ago "no attention was paid" to the necessity of simultaneous and proportionate expansion.

"As a result, in some vital airplane parts, production is not up to the capacity of the big assembly plants to absorb them," the committee report said. "These shortages in critical items have made it impossible to operate assembly lines at full capacity. Rather than work trained crews at top speed until materials are exhausted and then lay men off for a few days, with probable loss of morale and trained mechanics, the aircraft plants have simply refrained from turning on full pressure for peak production, which was their wisest course."

THREAT OF GAS SHORTAGE SPURS HEIL TO ACTION

Madison, Wis., April 5 [Special].—New pressure on Gov. Julius P. Heil to call a special session of the legislature is expected to develop tomorrow when he arrives here to confer with state officials regarding a threatened gasoline shortage in the state brought about by a scarcity of railroad tank cars.

Warning of a gasoline shortage was given Gov. Heil yesterday in a telegram from Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes. The telegram stated that railroads have been ordered to divert all tank cars to transporting gasoline to eastern states. Henceforth, Ickes said, all gasoline reaching Wisconsin must come by means other than rail.

Repeal or nullification of a state law prohibiting the movement over Wisconsin highways of trucks containing more than 2,000 gallons of gasoline is regarded as the only means of preventing a gasoline famine. The governor got a negative answer yesterday when he asked Hugh Jones, director of the motor vehicle department, if enforcement of this law could be waived.

ADMITS 20 "TOY GUN" HOLDUPS.

A "toy gun bandit," Joseph Kazbil, 23 years old of no regular address, who was arrested Friday night by Berwyn police, has confessed more than 20 street robberies during the last month on the west side and in Berwyn, police said yesterday.

THE QUESTION.

Did you ever try unsuccessfully to repair something?

WHERE ASKED.

State Lake building, 190 North State street.

THE ANSWERS.

James A. Doty, pharmacist, 7344 Kingston avenue—Our supply of ointment tubes at the drug store was running low so I thought I'd rivet a few of the defective ones. It seemed to work out all right until a customer came back with one. All the ointment was oozing out of those newly made rivet holes.

Sydney L. Chyette, office worker, 1339 South Lawndale avenue—Our radio wasn't working and I was sure I could do something about it. I took out all the detachable parts and checked them and then put most of them back in place. It was such a good job of repairing we could get two stations at a time, but that's all.

Mrs. Leona Shapiro, secretary, 3445½ Jackson boulevard—My new dress was much too long, so I decided to alter it myself. I thought I'd use the surplus material to trim a hat. I became so interested in the new hat I helped myself to all the trimming I needed. Now I have a new hat—and a skirt that is ultramodern in short styling.

Max Zolt, general office manager, 1419 South Springfield avenue—There was a cog or two missing in the gear of my little friend's tricycle. I generously offered to fix it. I put in a new gear where I thought it would do the most good. It must have been in backward or upside down, because when he rode off he traveled in reverse.

David R. Talbert, musician, 3501 Adams street—The day I made my debut I struck up a rhythm on my new drum and tore a hole thru it. Being unfamiliar with drums, I thought I could patch the tear with some dental floss. I spent tedious hours plying a needle but to no avail. The drumhead couldn't be used again.

Dave E. Veltman, salesman, 2322 Commonwealth avenue—I had fixed many leaky shower faucets before, but this time I determined to do the job once and for all. After replacing worn parts, I absent-mindedly switched the hot and cold faucets. That night when I turned on the "cold" faucet I almost scalded myself to death.

They were brought to the detective bureau by Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Elsie Scanlon of 3923 North Ashland avenue. The young couple told their story to Detectives John E. Payton and Thomas Carmody.

French Believe 2 of 4 Ships Lost in British Naval Raid

VICHY, France, April 5 (AP).—Four French trawlers, two of which are "presumed lost," were attacked by British gunboats after the raid on St. Nazaire dockyards March 28, French naval authorities said today. The Alice Anne and the Slack are believed lost, a communique reported, while the Ile de France and Marie Gilbert were subjected to shelling without damage.

AIRCRAFT FIRMS POOL FACILITIES TO SPEED OUTPUT

Los Angeles, Cal., April 5 [Special].—Eight major Pacific coast warplane manufacturers announced today the organization of the Aircraft War Production Council, Inc.

The council will coördinate and extend the established practice of the individual companies in exchanging information and pooling facilities which already is said to have made a major contribution to increased production. The object of the council is to speed the victory of the United States and her allies.

Offices in California.

Consolidated, Douglas, Lockheed, North American, Northrop, Ryan, Vega, and Vultee, builders of bombers, fighters, trainers, and troop transports in ever increasing quantities, are the member companies of the Aircraft War Production council. While the main offices will be established here the plants of the member companies are situated thruout the nation.

The presidents of the companies made public a telegram sent to Donald W. Nelson, offering their joint services "as a regional planning, coördinating, and advisory committee on aircraft production problems to further assist you and the armed services."

Text of Wire to Nelson.

The text of the telegram to WPB Chairman Nelson read:

"The aircraft manufacturers, now devoting their full resources and energies to war production, stand ready for further service to the nation and to you. The undersigned are members of the Aircraft War Production Council, Inc., a coördinating agency of a group of major Pacific coast aircraft builders. These companies, thru combined resources and free and unrestricted interchange of ideas and information, in the past have contributed to the record of aircraft production recently made public by you.

"We hereby volunteer for duty as a regional planning, coördinating, and advisory committee on aircraft production problems. We want, in this way, to further assist you and the armed services.

Signed by Executives.

"We believe such joint action by aircraft executives will give the War Production board, the army and the navy the benefit of combined years of experienced and pooled facilities without interrupting in any key plant the management continuity so vital to your program. We as a committee stand ready to serve."

This telegram was signed by Harry Woodhead, president of the Consolidated Aircraft corporation; Donald W. Douglas, president of the Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc.; Robert E. Gross, president of the Lockheed Aircraft corporation; J. H. Kindelberger, president of the North American Aviation, Inc.; Lamotte T. Cohu, chairman of the board of Northrop Aircraft, Inc.; T. Claude Ryan, president of the Ryan Aeronautical company; Courtlandt S. Gross, president of the Vega Airplane company, and Richard W. Miller, president of Vultee Aircraft, Inc.

Articles of incorporation of the Aircraft War Production Council, Inc., a nonprofit corporation, will be filed in Sacramento tomorrow.

DELIVER FIRST PLASTIC PLANE FOR NAVAL TEST

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—Delivery of the first experimental plastic plywood training plane ordered by the navy was announced today.

A low wing monoplane, 90 per cent wood and plastic blue, the plane will undergo tests at the naval air station here. If satisfactory it may be put into mass production. The plane was built by the Timm Aircraft corporation, Los Angeles, Cal.

British, Italians, and Russians are reported to be using some wooden planes, the navy said. Advocates of plastic plywood construction contend that it is stronger than steel.

TRIBUNE STARTS TRAINING COURSE IN ARMY DUTIES

First Article in Series for MacArthur Guards.

BY BOB BECKER.

This is the first of a series of articles in the study course for young men who expect to enter the army and want to learn military fundamentals by joining the MacArthur Guards. Each day in this department subjects of vital importance in the education and preparation of the soldier will be discussed. The instructions to be given in this preinduction course will help a young man forge ahead of comrades in service who did not devote any time to preliminary study.

[A MacArthur Guards enrollment blank will be found in an adjoining column.]

According to army officers one of the most important points for a soldier to remember is that in war he has two enemies: One is man as represented by the enemy he is fighting, and the other is nature.

Scouting Knowledge Vital.

Nature demands that a soldier know how to take care of himself under unforeseen difficulties of climate, how to find his way in the woods, how to combat insect pests, how to carry matches in wet weather and build fires in the rain, and how to get along with little when lost in the woods. Knowledge of these and other related subjects often is just as important to a soldier scout as the ability to shoot a Garand rifle with accuracy.

Today war in the desert, in the lush jungles, or on most any terrain calls for a self-reliant, resourceful soldier, and the man who learns how to master instead of fearing nature is a better all-round member of a military unit.

MacArthur's soldiers in the Philippines, altho outnumbered, never have been outfought or outsmarted in any kind of fighting because he emphasized not only discipline in his training program, but also scouting in jungles and self-reliance in every man no matter where he might serve.

Points in Battling Nature.

Among the fundamentals which the future soldier should learn as part of the training to take care of himself in the fight against nature are the following which are stressed in an article in the Infantry Journal:

1. Running water usually is purer than still water, but in the jungles all drinking water should be boiled or chlorinated. You can remove sediment from drinking water by straining it thru a cloth.

2. Next to a small ax or a machete [a long bladed woods knife commonly used in tropical countries] a big pocket knife is one of the most useful tools in the woods.

3. Learn how to use a compass and carry one in the woods.

4. Carry matches in waterproof containers.

Down Slope to Streams.

5. If you get lost in deep woods always remember that if you go down slope you will come to a stream, and water courses lead to valleys and coastal regions in which there is more likelihood of habitations.

6. Edible fruits usually can be identified by signs of animals and birds having eaten them.

Plan Regional Meetings for State Ration Boards

Henry Pope Jr., state rationing administrator, announced yesterday he will hold a series of regional meetings for members of ration boards to plan the consumers' registration May 4-7. Board members of northern counties will hold an all day session April 18 at the La Salle hotel. A meeting of southern counties will be held April 11 at Mount Vernon, Jefferson county, and representatives of the central part of the state will meet April 12 in Springfield.

CONTINUE FREEZE ON DEFENSE JOB WAGES IN HAWAII

HONOLULU, T. H., April 5 (AP).—The military governor's office today ordered continuance of the freezing of wages for civilians on defense work as of last Dec. 20, and tightened restrictions against these employés transferring from one job to another.

Col. Thomas H. Green, executive secretary to Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, the military governor, said the order did not supersede or conflict with provisions of the fair labor standards act of 1938 or the Walsh-Healey public contracts act.

"The purpose of the order is to equalize the pay of defense workers and stabilize the local labor situation generally," Green said. "The terms of the order were agreed to by representatives of all parties concerned after many weeks of study."

Wages for workers on war projects remain as put into effect last Dec. 1. Two days ago the military governor ordered a 48 hour, six day work week on war projects, with time and a half to be paid for overtime in excess of 44 hours weekly or eight hours daily. A work week of more than 56 hours was forbidden, except in emergencies.

The order issued today prevents any one employed on war contract work from attempting to obtain other employment without first being released by his present employer.

Claim Thousands of Jews Killed in Nazi Held Lands

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 5 (AP).—The anti-Fascist Jewish committee reported today the Germans have killed 86,000 Jews in and around Minsk, 25,000 at Odessa, and "tens of thousands" in Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia.

ASKS 'WARFARE,' NOT 'WELFARE,' OF U. S. LEADERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Citizens should demand that the national leadership make "warfare" rather than "welfare" the nation's first objective, Warren Atherton, national chairman of the American Legion's defense committee, declared tonight.

Warren Atherton.

Atherton joined other national figures on the American Forum of the Air program, aired coast to coast over the Mutual Broadcasting system, in a discussion on "How can the citizen help to make a better army?" He asserted:

"A citizen can best help the army by demanding that all wealth, labor, industry and agriculture be immediately mobilized for service under a universal service act.

"Profiteering, racketeering, hoarding, gouging, gyping, striking, and slowing down are treachery and treason. They already have cost the lives of thousands of gunless, planeless soldiers and sailors. If continued, they will be paid for by death and defeat.

"Citizens should demand that national leadership make 'warfare' not 'welfare' the nation's first objective."

JAPAN'S TANK FORCES CALLED WEAKEST OF ALL WARRING POWERS

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—Japan was reported today in an authoritative military survey to be much the weakest in tank forces of all the major warring powers.

An analysis of Japanese mechanized strength by the semiofficial Cavalry Journal said "no formally organized large mechanized units [brigades or divisions] are known to exist in the Japanese army; however, improvised mechanized units have been used on the continent [against China] repeatedly with considerable success."

In contrast to the smashing breakthru tactics dramatized by the Nazis, the Japanese mostly employ their limited forces of tanks to support infantry attacks.

By European and American standards, the Japanese tanks are rated low as weapons. The 15 known types include a number that foreign armies have virtually discarded. Against the Chinese particularly, two man tankettes of three tons armed only with a light machine gun have been used.

The Japanese medium tank, the Journal reported, weighs 14 tons, about the same as the American light tank. Two models of so-called heavy tanks, each weighing about 35 tons and armed with either 75 millimeter or 37 millimeter weapons, were described as copies of Russian vehicles.

Estimate 8,000 Americans Spend Easter in Jap Prisons

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 5 (AP).—Eight thousand civilian Americans spent a dreary Easter in Japanese prisons or concentration camps, it was estimated here, while other Americans hurried to strengthen the defense of Australia. For the American civilians, there seemed little hope of relief until the war ended.

3 WAYS TO GET A $100 LOAN
1. ON YOUR SIGNATURE 2. ON YOUR CAR 3. ON YOUR FURNITURE
How to get cash simply and privately—Monthly payments to fit your own pocketbook

WOULD a cash loan help you this month? If you have a job, you can borrow without fuss or bother—at reasonable cost and repay your loan in monthly instalments.

Do just this

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay.

Loans are made in three different ways. 1. On your personal note. No security is required. Note loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples. 2. On your car. This plan may suit you best. 3. On your furniture. Many people prefer this plan. When making car and furniture loans, we consider character and income far more important than the value of your security. We will make your loan the way which best suits your own situation.

You may choose the most convenient payment plan from the table below. Suppose you borrow $100. Twelve instalments of $9.77 each will repay the loan in full. You may prefer to repay sooner. Six monthly instalments of $18.18 each will also repay a $100 loan. The cost of your loan, in this case, is just $9.08. A $25 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $4.54 each, costs only $2.24.

You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household—just the ability to repay in monthly instalments. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. No credit inquiries are made of friends or relatives.

Get your loan for less

Payments in the table include charges at the rate of 2½% per month on a loan balance of $100 or less and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. We publish our rates and payments to help you shop for your loan. It is to your advantage to compare rates before you borrow.

If you can make good use of a loan, see us at once. Or just phone for information. We are in business to make loans to folks with money problems.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

Drop by drop fills the tub—

WITH THESE SIX HOMELY WORDS an ancient philosopher drew a graphic picture of how steady persistence in small things can achieve great ends.

Generations of Americans have used the truth embodied in this maxim to create LIFE INSURANCE. With the guidance of skilled agents, and by regular payment of premiums, we have filled, "drop by drop," a vast reservoir of family security for times of future trouble.

In the war of production we are fighting today, this life insurance fund is achieving two great ends. Not only does it continue as the backlog of family security so vital to national morale. It provides, at the same time, a steady stream of money for government bonds which keep the wheels of production rolling toward victory.

PLANES COLLIDE; CHICAGOAN, HIS BRIDE, AND 3 DIE

Lieut. Don Jones Victim; Machine Hits House.

Miami, Fla., April 5 [Special].—A Chicago army officer, his bride of three months and three civilian flyers were killed today when the airplanes in which they were flying collided over Hialeah and crashed. The dead were:

Lieut. Don Kenneth Jones Jr.
Mrs. Joan Wert Jones.
Pilot William J. Britton, Miami.
H. M. Carruthers Jr., 20, Miami.
Lawrence Hartzell, 25, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Lieut. Jones and his wife were flying in a Cub training plane which they had rented for an Easter pleasure ride. Britton, an employé of the Embry-Riddle Aeronautical institute, was flying a Fairchild plane and teaching blind flying to Carruthers and Hartzell.

After the collision the plane in which the Joneses were flying dived into the rear of a house and sheared off the back porch. Britton's plane fell a block and a half away.

Lieut. Jones and his bride, the former Joan Wert, leaving St. Chrysostom's church after their wedding last Jan. 3.

Wert of Ames, Ia., in Chicago last Jan. 3. At that time he was attached to the 6th corps area headquarters. A short time later he was assigned to the army information control and transferred to Miami.

Mrs. Jones was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wert. Her father is dean of Iowa State college in Ames. She and Jones met while they were students at the University of Arizona.

Britton was a son of Jack Britton, one time world champion welterweight boxing champion. His brother, Don, also a boxer, recently appeared in Chicago.

Three Killed in Texas.

Galveston, Tex., April 5 (AP).—Three army aviators were killed in the crash of an army bomber near Ellinger, Tex., today. They were the pilot, Lieut. Richardson; Staff Sergt. Addison, and Corp. Caddell. Full names and home addresses were not available immediately.

Chute Fails; Officer Killed.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 5 (AP).—Second Lieut. Benjamin H. Bridges Jr., 23 years old, of Tallahassee, Fla., leaped clear of his nose diving P-38 pursuit plane today, but was killed when his parachute failed to fully open.

Find 8th Body in Bomber.

Boise, Idaho, April 5 (AP).—The eighth body was recovered tonight from the wreckage of an army bomber which crashed Friday night near Bridge, Idaho, in which the entire crew was killed. Army officials assumed the body was that of Private Kenneth S. Biddinger of Indianapolis, Ind., as he was the only crew member unaccounted for.

Two Army Flyers Killed.

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., April 5 (AP).—Second Lieut. Harold Charles Chandler of Atlanta, Ga., and Private First Class Forrest E. Wilson, Medicine Lodge, Kas., were killed in the crash of a O-38 plane here today.

PUPILS TO BUILD 18,000 GAMES FOR OVERSEAS FORCES

Pupils in the public elementary and high schools will construct approximately 18,000 sets of games for the use of service men in Red Cross clubs in the British Isles, North Ireland, and Australia, Louis Newkirk, director of handicraft of the board of education, said yesterday.

The games will be made after specifications are provided by the American Junior Red Cross and approved by army and navy officials. The Junior Red Cross also will provide the necessary materials.

Among the games and comfort items to be made in the public schools are checker games, lapboards, trays, writing boards, book cases, wall brackets, and ping pong tables. Five hundred stretchers, 400 canes, and other convalescent needs also will be made in the schools.

2 UNION LEADERS FREE ON BOND IN SLUGGING PROBE

Edward Washlow, 40 years old, and Luke Ward, 56, president and business agent, respectively, of local 11 of the Roofers' union [AFL], were charged with disorderly conduct yesterday and released on $100 bonds each. They will be arraigned in the South State Street court tomorrow.

The two were arrested by Police Sergt. George Barnes Friday for questioning in the slugging of Lawrence Belles, leader of a faction in the local opposed to Washlow and Ward. They denied being involved in the slugging, but will be questioned again today by Capt. Daniel Gilbert in the state's attorney's office.

Belles, 41 years old, was beaten over the head by two men, dressed in overalls, who called him to the door of his apartment at 553 Oakdale avenue. He was still confined to the Alexian Brothers' hospital yesterday. Ward, who lives at 2147 Madison street, has served four prison sentences for robbery, assault and narcotics violations.

HAVING THE MOST WON'T WIN WAR, NATION WARNED

How You Use It Is Called Secret of Success.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—There has been a tendency in this country to place too much reliance in the view that the side with the greatest resources and production capacity will win the war, the Foreign Policy association declared tonight in a survey on Japanese economic power.

"It is necessary to discard completely the notion that the United States will defeat Japan simply because of superior productive power," said the survey prepared by Lawrence K. Rosinger. "Such an advantage can be decisive only if it is properly utilized as part of general strategy." It continued:

Believes Stores Accumulated.

"The ability to enlist the full support of a colonial ally, the imagination to seize the military opportunities as they offer themselves, the determination to root out potential Quislings—all these noneconomic factors not only are worth more than a million tons of steel but, where they are present, the flow of materials will very likely be at a maximum."

"Before Pearl Harbor," the report said, "much weight was placed on Japan's deficiencies in important raw materials as a deterrent to war with Britain or the United States. There is no reason to doubt, however, that ample forethought was given to the accumulations of stocks."

Scorched Earth Policy.

The report says that "it would be a serious mistake to underestimate what the Japanese may be able to do with southeast Asia, which offers many of the raw materials essential for life and industry. First of all, this means food, for the whole area produces not far from a third of the world's rice. In the Philippines Manila hemp, sugar, copra, and coconut oil are important, but metals are the real prize.

"It is sometimes suggested that the scorched earth policy will prevent Japan securing significant quantities of raw materials from southeast Asia, but it must be remembered that a scorched earth policy can be truly effective only if the people of the territory wage guerrilla warfare following the initial destruction.

"Guerrilla warfare can be conducted successfully only by people who are deeply convinced that they are fighting for themselves."

BROOKS ASSERTS SMALL BUSINESS SUCCOR IS VITAL

Finds Free Enterprise Depends on It.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Protection of small business to insure survival of the American system of free enterprise after the war has become one of the foremost responsibilities of the government, including administration officials and members of congress, Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] said today. He warned that war production casualties among little manufacturing plants thruout the country must cease if the nation is to use its full resources in meeting the axis challenge.

Able, Willing to Convert.

Citing the case of a small Illinois manufacturer, whom he has been trying to save from priority shutdown, the World war hero asserted that the United States needs the talents, experience and abilities of these business men and their employés in the war effort as much as they need the opportunity to share in the vast expenditures of public funds.

"This business," he said, "has a fine factory building, fine management, adequate capital, and 400 to 600 skilled workers, many of them women.

"They have been busy manufacturing products not essential to our all-out war effort. Now all they are asking is work to do—war work. They are willing and financially able to convert but there is no available machinery to set them up for war production.

"That factory, the management, the skilled workers all will be idle. And that capital will be idle unless the plant and employés leave the town which they have helped to create and supported all these years. That will effect the churches, the school, the whole life of the community in addition to the toll already taken by the draft and enlistments of the sons of the community.

Leaves for Home Today.

"The war department and the War Production board have told me there is nothing that can be done now. But I intend to see that as more machinery is produced these small plants will be utilized and given the tools for subcontracting. They are largely free from management-labor trouble and are excellent and patriotic citizens whose service is vitally needed to win the war."

Brooks is preparing to leave for home tomorrow. An informal recess of congress until April 20 has made it possible for him to spend the last week of the campaign in Illinois. Originally scheduled to depart last week, he was forced to change his plans because of delay in senate action on the new 19 billion dollar war spending bill being handled by the appropriations committee, of which he is a member.

CLINNIN BLAMES BOYLE IN OUSTER AS MILITIA HEAD

While members of his staff were in his home celebrating his birthday, Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin said yesterday that he did not retire as head of the Illinois reserve militia. He was forced out by Adjt. Gen. Leo Boyle, said the general.

Maj. Gen. Clinnin.

Boyle had announced Gen. Clinnin's retirement because he had reached the age of 64. "I'm not only 64," said the general. "I'm 66. I was 64 when I accepted the job of organizing the militia, and everybody knew it."

Gen. Clinnin was bitter as he reviewed his tenure and "retirement." He charged that Boyle is inexperienced in matters concerning the handling of troops and "wants the militia to go to war in B. V. D.'s." He said Boyle bought cotton uniforms for the force until the war department provided wool ones.

Boyle last night refused to comment.

PHILLIP MURRAY NAMES NEW HEAD FOR ILLINOIS CIO

Springfield, Ill., April 5 (AP).—Fullerton Fulton Sr., of Gillespie has been named state CIO director by President Phillip Murray to succeed Ray Edmundson, who resigned Thursday.

Fulton, regional CIO director for Chicago and Cook county since Nov. 9, 1941, said he was advised of his appointment by telegram. He served as Delaware state director from June 16, 1941, until last November. He was once a member of the board of directors of District 12, United Mine Workers of America, and was for a brief time a member of local No. 1 of the Progressive Miners of America at Gillespie.

Edmundson, in announcing his resignation, told Murray that the policies of CIO leaders failed to further labor interests, national unity, and the campaign to organize the unorganized.

KILLS SELF WITH WINDOW GLASS.

William Schuessler, 67 years old, a patient in the Kenilworth sanitarium for 13 months, killed himself yesterday with glass he obtained by breaking a window in his room. Ellis Johnson, an attendant, said he awakened Schuessler for breakfast and that when he returned with the tray the man was dying.

Among those attending the annual sunrise services of the Knights Templar in the Arlington National cemetery yesterday were Sen. and Mrs. Harold Burton (left) of Ohio, and Sen. and Mrs. Wayland Brooks of Illinois.

W. G. STRATTON GETS POLITICAL START IN HOME

Seeks Nomination for State Treasurer.

BY PERCY WOOD.

The prestige of his family name was credited, in 1940, with the election to congress of William G. Stratton, now only 28, who is fighting for the Republican nomination for state treasurer this spring. Son of the late William J. Stratton, former Illinois secretary of state, the baby of the house of representatives got his early political training at home.

W. G. Stratton.

Young Stratton did not let his freshman rating in Washington make him bashful. He spoke out on several occasions, over the radio and in public statements, in opposition to measures he felt were dragging the nation toward war. This was in keeping with his campaign pledge that he would oppose intervention regardless of whether a Republican or Democratic President wanted military adventures.

Backs War Appropriations.

Stratton fought bills he thought would lead to war, but he says he also voted for every army and navy appropriation, as well as other defense measures.

The young candidate looks no older than he is. He is slim, of medium stature, with a rather peaked, boyish face, and a thin but friendly voice. When he has the time in Washington he bowls or plays golf; in the summer, he fishes when he can.

He was a salesman in Morris when he decided to run for congress two years ago, and had not been active in politics. His nomination was a surprise, but it proved that occupancy of the widely publicized office of secretary of state impresses the incumbent's name on voters' minds. This was further demonstrated in November, 1940, when the present secretary, Edward J. Hughes, was the only Democrat to survive the state Republican landslide.

Born in Lake County.

Stratton was born in Ingleside, Lake county, in 1914, and was educated there and at the University of Arizona, from which he was graduated in 1934 with a degree in political science. He tries to keep up with the new literature on that subject. While in the west he enlisted and served two years in the Arizona National Guard.

In the year he was graduated Stratton married Miss Marion Hook of Gurnee, Ill. They have two daughters, Sandra Jane, 6, and Diana Joy, 3 years old.

Britons Give Up Easter Rest; Back to Work Today

LONDON, April 5 (AP).—Britons for the most part gave up this year one of their most cherished holidays—the long Easter week-end which in peacetime many stretched to a five-day rest period. Some factories gave Saturday off but all shops are due to be running full blast tomorrow. Banks will observe their traditional holiday tomorrow by keeping their doors closed to the public but their staffs will be on the job as usual.

THE HINK'S BIDS STILL WELCOME TO CANDIDATES

Little Fella Clings to His First Ward Rule.

BY WARD WALKER.

The smoke choked air in the dingy frame building at 906 South State street pulsed yesterday to the strains of "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" from a hundred throats.

When the song ended an undertone of muttering swelled into a full-fledged babble; hard eyed men in too well tailored clothes and others poorly dressed were exchanging 1st ward gossip.

These men, political workers in a machine that has ruled the fabulous ward with a bare fist for half a century, had come to the hall at the bidding of their chief. Suddenly the hall was quiet.

And there came The Hink.

Derby Firmly Planted.

Like a fragile gnome, his rosy mask of a face topped by a thatch of white hair and his famous Derby set squarely on his head, Ald. Michael Kenna, known as Hinky Dink, moved slowdly up the aisle.

The Little Fella's 84 years were riding heavy on his shoulders, but he glanced about with the assurance of a king—or a ward boss. When he was settled at a small table, the meeting got under way.

Among the speakers—all machine indorsed Democrats—were Congressman Raymond S. [Small Potatoes] McKeough, running for the senatorial nomination; Benjamin S. Adamowski, seeking the nomination for congressman at large; Peter B. Carey, candidate for sheriff, and W. D. [Don] Forsyth, candidate for state treasurer.

Wait for Invitations.

They were there because The Hink invited them, for he still clings to the rule started when he and the late Ald. John Coughlin, known as The Bath, shared the power: If you want to talk to the workers of the 1st ward, get an invitation from The Hink.

While McKeough reiterated his campaign theme that if all Americans had listened to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Hitler's men would be marching thru Minneapolis, The Hink sat calmly by—chewing at his tattered cigar, spitting meditatively on the floor, and picking his teeth.

No expression crossed his face or showed in his deep set blue eyes—but a thousand memories could have crossed his mind as he looked over the motley crowd.

Not So Long Ago.

Memories of the days at the turn of the century when his ward housed the roaring levee; when one of their political rallies, known as The First Ward Ball, assembled all the madams and harlots, the thugs and thieves of the ward under one roof; when—not so long ago—he had but to speak to have the police do his bidding.

The speeches had been long. It was apparent The Hink was getting tired. McKeough wound up with assurances to the workers that he, not Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th], would get the nomination on April 14 and that he, not the Republican candidate, would win at the polls next November.

McKeough bowed low to The Hink and thanked him profusely. But the Little Fella was tired—he merely nodded in return. And the meeting was over.

NON-UNION WORKERS WILL RESUME PIPE OPERATIONS TODAY

McLeansboro, Ill., April 5 [Special].—Unloading of pipe at an oil refinery near here by skilled nonunion labor will be resumed tomorrow, Carl Anderson, Tulsa, Okla., contractor, said tonight. He made this statement after a three hour conference with union leaders and Mark P. Costello, conciliator for the state department of labor, and Leo M. Boyle, state adjutant general.

Costello said the conference failed to settle the labor dispute which has led to the placing of 12 squads of state police on guard duty since the 68 year old sheriff, S. H. Shepard, and Chester Willmore, 60, a nonunion workman, were injured in an attack by union men last Monday.

TEXANS BITTER AT 40 HR. WEEK; HIT WAR DELAYS

'We Want Action' Demands Sent to Roosevelt.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dallas, Tex., April 5.—The upsurge in the Democratic south against the basic 40 hour week in war industries, which has sent congressmen hotfooting it from Washington over Easter to get an earful from the folks back home, seems even more vehement in Texas than in Oklahoma, where it got its kickoff.

In Dallas a fortnight ago a "We Want Action" massmeeting was held. It set forth that it was not anti-labor and demanded that President Roosevelt and congress make winning the war their first aim. It strongly criticised the administration's conduct of the war effort.

Recall 1932 Convention.

Texas, it is recalled, had an intimate part in the President's political fortunes, for it was Texas at the 1932 national convention in Chicago that tied up with California to put over the nomination of Roosevelt and John N. Garner, the latter a Texan. A declaration adopted by the Dallas rally remarker:

"We have been waiting for action, but our war machine still turns too slowly.

"Total war production has been handicapped by excess war profits or lockouts on one hand, and by strikes and excessive overtime pay on the other. No adequate legal protection exists to prohibit these evils for the future.

Can't Win with Slogans.

"There is no such situation for our fighting men! They work and sweat and die for our protection—and have no opportunity for private gain. We cannot win this war with only money or credit, speeches or slogans. We must have war production on a colossal scale. We must have it—now!"

Whether these expressions admit Texas critics of the war effort into the "sixth column," as the President has classed such critics, is a source of amused speculation in these parts.

Labor Law Demanded.

The declaration demanded a war law, prohibiting lockouts by management and strikes by labor. It called for a program to prevent excess war profits and recommended, for the duration of the war, a lengthening of the standard week to 48 hours. "This would not prevent overtime bonus beyond 48 hours," it said, adding:

"Mr. President, we call upon you to make winning this war your first and supreme purpose! We call upon you to ask the congress immediately for the above war law. We call upon you to close your doors, and the doors of all your departments, against the lobbyists and representatives of every self-seeking group, now slowing down the war program."

A similar demand was made upon congress.

Run as Advertisment.

Dallas folks ran this declaration a day or so later as a display advertisment in a Washington, D. C., newspaper. Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas shortly afterward expressed the opinion that time and a half pay should begin after 48 hours' work instead of 40 as at present. The President about that time reiterated his opposition to altering the 40 hour week.

The movement against the basic 40 hour week had its start in Texas in editorials in the Dallas News, "oldest business institution in Texas," which celebrates its centennial April 11. It was founded in Galveston when Texas was a republic.

"Write the President."

Many other papers in the state took up the campaign. Massmeetings were held in many cities. Letters and telegrams by the thousands went to congressmen. One of the editorials in this Democratic newspaper on "Write the President" was widely reprinted. It said:

"Amid the rejoicing at MacArthur's elevation to supreme command in the South Pacific, we learn that shipbuilders' profit run as high as 300 per cent on government orders. America wants that stopped—not ultimately, but now. Sit down and write the President. Tell him so.

"Donald Nelson calls upon us to double our war production to save the nation, but the President says that overtime and the short week are standard. Sit down and tell the commander in chief that they aren't standard in Bataan and that you don't want them standard in America until the war is won.

'Far from Where People Live.'

"Do it respectfully, as befits a citizen-sovereign. Offer him all you've got—and demand all he's got—for America. Tell him any man in Washington who won't get down to winning the war now, won't go back next time.

"Washington is a long way from where the people live."

The mayor of Waco, DeWitt T. Hicks, after a conference with others in his city, sent a telegram to the President and the Texas delegation in congress. It said:

"The people of this area recognize the terrifying fact that America has thus far lost this war. Our elected leaders have failed to devote every hour of manpower, every acre of land and every dollar of capital to the prosecution of this war. Anything short of our utmost consecration to this cause means national suicide and abject slavery."

Letters Poured into the Newspapers.

For eight days the Dallas News printed a full page of letters.

Some of the congressmen have come back to talk with the folks. Rayburn is to make a speech at Sulphur Springs April 10. Some here who profess to know say most of the Texas delegation in congress is lined up for suspension of the basic 40 hour week in war industry, and aginst the closed shop and checkoff.

SENATE BLOC MOVES TO FORCE CHANGES IN 40 HOUR WEEK

Sen. Pepper [top] and Sen. Lee.

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—A group of senators, rebelling against administration wishes, today began organizing to force senate action on the question of suspending the 40 hour week and restricting union activities in war industries.

Members said the group, headed by Sen. Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] and Sen. Josh Lee [D., Okla], hoped to bring to the senate floor within two weeks a measure bearing indorsement of a large number of Democrats and Republicans.

It was explained they would attempt to by-pass the senate education and labor committee, whose chairman, Sen. Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], has opposed enactment of any labor legislation. Thomas has been supported by Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic floor leader.

The measure would freeze working conditions—including union contracts—in those plants, but would permit adjustment of wages by a special board.

'CERTAIN' NORSE SHIPS SUCCEEDED IN DASH: BRITAIN

LONDON, April 5 (AP).—"Certain" of the 10 Norwegian ships which made a dash Thursday for England from Goteborg, Sweden, have arrived in British ports, the ministry of information disclosed today.

"Recent sailings from Goteborg to the United Kingdom of a number of Norwegian merchant ships under charter to his majesty's government have now been completed," an official statement said. "While complete success was not achieved, certain ships have arrived safely in this country."

HOME FOLKS SPEED WAR EFFORT

THIS IS AN "ALL-OUT" WAR; everybody has a hand in its conduct. One of us points the direction. Another puts his shoulder to the wheel. Still another does his duty—and a full one—by merely stepping out of the way.

Which is why we of the Illinois Central would like to thank some unsung heroes among the home folks. We'd like to pin a few congratulations on those among our customers who are helping the nation by helping us to render better and faster transportation. Such transportation is an absolute essential for the support of the boys in camp, as well as those who are over there—and there—and there.

Worthy of special mention because the general public so seldom sees their contributions are the shippers and receivers of freight who are speeding up their loading and unloading of cars, forecasting their needs, loading cars more heavily, organizing for better shipping and greater efficiency in freight practice all around.

In passenger service, too, our patrons are showing their desire to further our war effort in a number of ways. Noticeable on our trains is the tendency to travel with less baggage—to take along only those things that are essential to the trip. This means more room in baggage cars, coaches and sleeping cars, greater comfort, more pleasant and less expensive travel.

Passengers are additionally helpful, too, by making reservations well in advance, by taking space that is immediately available rather than waiting for preferred space, by arranging their itineraries to avoid periods when travel is heavy, such as week-ends. Thanks are due especially for the prompt cancellation of reserved space when change of plans must be made.

The Illinois Central is determined to continue to provide the most comfortable, safe and convenient transportation it possibly can throughout this great emergency. The consideration our patrons are so liberally giving us is immensely helpful to that end.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

THE REPUBLIC IN UNION NOW.

This country, by the will of its people and the design of its founders expressing the will, is a republic. That form of government is guaranteed to the states, and titles of nobility are forbidden. These are not ideas that grew out of the Revolution. They are ideas that had a great deal to do with the Revolution.

It may seem strange, even now, that the English colonies which later became the American republic so stubbornly and so successfully resisted the caste system from the very beginning of their existence. Attempts were made to impose it on them, but their sound judgment told them that they had put an ocean between them and it—and they did not propose that the old order should be transplanted here.

The common people of England settled Massachusetts with a government based on the form of the joint stock company, which was chartered for the purpose. Altho members of the nobility were interested in the Virginia company, again the common people were the settlers. Few nobles crossed the water, even to examine what was going on. It can't be said that the colonists achieved equality at the outset, because they imposed too many restrictions, but they did keep the caste system out. Lord Baltimore—an Irish title—who had the charter for Maryland, never saw his colony, altho he had seen Virginia and Newfoundland, and altho he was given palatine —almost sovereign—powers, Maryland developed in the control of the commoners.

The Carolina charter, which came later, is truly described as an extraordinary document; extraordinary not only in what it undertook to do but extraordinary in its authorship. The writer of the fundamental constitutions for these colonists was John Locke, the liberal philosopher. They established a hereditary nobility, with the nobles holding baronies and manors, and provided regulations based upon feudal law, recognizing leet men and leet women, "a faint survival of English villeinage," people bound to the soil. The colonists rejected the constitution. It withered and died before it could put out the tiniest root growth.

Lord Fairfax had great land holdings in Virginia, but the political structure of the colony remained unchanged by that circumstance. When several liberal Whig noblemen in England, of whom Lord Saye and Sele was one, suggested to Massachusetts authorities that they would be pleased to remove to the new world if their titles and privileges were recognized—and a hereditary house of lords created—the colony responded that they would be welcome, but inasmuch as hereditary fitness could not be assumed a hereditary magistracy was not to be contemplated.

In this defense against the old order there was a sound recognition in the minds of the men who were building a new nation that they could not achieve their purposes and establish the sort of life they wished to live if they permitted inequalities to be established by the government itself. There were inequalities, but one man wasn't different from another because of the circumstances of birth or the pleasure of the crown. The influences which government could exercise thus were removed.

It is a great mistake to think popular representation in a parliamentary system means what we know as equality—the right of every man to look eye to eye with the next man—whoever he may be. The early Americans knew the difference between a republic and a kingdom, and they intended to have a republic. People who believe that a political union with Great Britain is possible lightly dispose of the incongruity of setting up a federal government over parts so dissimilar. It is an insufficient answer to say that each nation would be sovereign in its own affairs.

We don't see the king's ministers relinquishing their control of foreign relations to a federal President, who would probably be American, and his secretary of state, who also might be an American. Is Great Britain prepared to become a republic? It is observable that the historic trend of the British commonwealth of nations has been away from the federal idea. The only thing that joins them is the doctrine of the crown and the resident representative of the king. Are they prepared to discard that tie or should we assume it to make the federal setup square with itself?

UNITY IN WAR PLANNING.

The consolidation of the war plans divisions of the army and navy, which have been functioning as independent bodies, is a hopeful indication that we may soon achieve a single unified command of all the armed services. Nothing would sooner end the reign of blunder that has so bedeviled us thus far in the war.

The new strategical planning group will be under the direct control of the army chief of staff and the commander in chief of the fleet. The war department has abolished its war plans division and created in its place a general staff operations division. Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who heads this division, will occupy a position paralleling that of the fleet commander, Adm. Ernest King, in his dual capacity as chief of naval operations and commander of the fleet.

A board of strategy to coördinate the effort of the army, navy, and air force is a necessity, but it has the disadvantage of still being a board. Adm. King and Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army, are of equal power, and neither is the undisputed boss. There should be one, for if there isn't, any disagreement will be settled by one of the several war councils, composed either of the President and civilian advisers who are not qualified to decide on strategy or of the representatives of associated nations who should not be permitted to override our own military leaders in determining this country's war policy.

What we need is a supreme commander of all American forces, and he should be a soldier of such eminent reputation that he will command the confidence of all the nation, civilians and the services alike. Our greatest soldier, Gen. MacArthur, is fully occupied with his assignment in the southwest Pacific, and that will require his undivided attention. We shall have to seek elsewhere for the man to fill the position, but many of the great soldiers of the World war are available, and the paramount abilities of some one of them should recommend him for the job.

The administration has moved slowly and perhaps with reluctance toward the establishment of a supreme command, but events have been forcing the decision. Ever since the Roberts report emphasized the disastrous consequences of divided command in Hawaii the conclusion has been inescapable that we cannot expect several muddlers of concurrent authority to muddle thru. The truth of this was further demonstrated when the system of command divided along the Atlantic coast between army and navy proved completely inadequate in protecting shipping against enemy submarines.

The sooner we centralize all military control and find the man with the military brains to exercise that control, the faster we shall get ahead with the job of carrying the war to the enemy.

WHO'S APATHETIC?

Unity is not a one way matter and a free people cannot, of their own motion, create unity between themselves and their government. The leaders must do their part, too. The people are getting a little tired of exhortations from members of the government for greater self-sacrifice and individual effort. The picture that is drawn, by implication, of a perfectly designed governmental machine running at half speed because it is insufficiently fueled by the efforts of the people is wholly false. The truth is the reverse. Ever since the war began the people's complaint has been that the government machine could not carry the devotion they would give it. The energy and the self-sacrifice of the government have never measured up to the stature of the people.

The foregoing remarks might have been written about the administration in Washington, but in fact have been copied from the Economist of London and refer, of course, to the British government. The willingness of the British people to accept hardship and sacrifice has its counterpart here. Not a single war decree of our government has met with public opposition of any consequence. Some of the regulations, like those having to do with the sale of razor blades, seemed silly and others were contradictory of previous orders, but the public has not shown any symptom of indignation. Taxes so heavy as to impose hardships on thousands of families have been paid with less complaint than is usual.

The spirit of the people has been admirable. The only important group of the population which has been stubbornly unwilling to make sacrifices has been the burocracy. The effort to reduce the routine costs of government has been resisted strenuously. The costly subsidies which were granted to relieve distress at the bottom of the depression are being continued tho farm prices have recovered from the depression lows and jobs are more plentiful and wages higher than they ever were. Nevertheless, we can't suspend the NYA, the CCC, and a lot of other such remedies for depression, because the political bosses won't sacrifice their patronage.

Like ours, the British government has been complaining of late about apathy among the people. In both countries the newspapers are being blamed. In England the censorship has recently been tightened. There is talk of doing the same thing here. The excuse is a feeble one. The morale of our people is sound. As the Economist said, "The energy and self-sacrifice of the government have never measured up to the stature of the people." That fault cannot be remedied by tightening the censorship.

ANOTHER VEST POCKET.

If the OPA wants to do some real saving it will not stop at pants cuffs. It will tailor vest pockets out of Chicago Democratic politicians' suits. This conservation would soon make itself felt in the public treasury. A complaint just issued against Lawrence J. O'Connell, former chief security supervisor of the Illinois Industrial commission, charges him with a $54,000 shortage in his accounts. The accusation is made by an official of the Republican state administration and Mr. O'Connell dismisses it as "politics."

There was no politics to it awhile back when $414,129 was found missing from the late Robert M. Sweitzer's accounts as county clerk or when $26,500 wandered into the vest pocket of Frank V. Zintak, clerk of the Superior court. These vagaries were uncovered by the aggrieved party colleagues of the two public servants and there was nothing for it but to let them stand trial for embezzlement. As the taxpayer will recall, both gentlemen were triumphantly vindicated when the jury found that the money was transferred to the vest pocket without any assistance of either defendant's finger and thumb. It will be interesting to discover, if Mr. O'Connell is required to explain to his peers, whether the local Democrats still retain this miraculous power.

THE BOYS ARE REGULAR AGAIN.

Seymour Weiss, who held the money bags for the corrupt gang that destroyed American government in Louisiana in order to loot its people, has been released from the federal penitentiary on parole. Weiss was serving concurrent sentences for five different crimes. The longest sentence was for four years; he had served only 15 months, less than a third of that time. The interest of the federal department of justice in the Louisiana gangsters, it was made notoriously apparent on several occasions, is in inverse ratio to the party regularity of the gang. The lenity shown Weiss suggests that at present his associates in the old Huey Long gang are 100 per cent regular.

Editorial of the Day

HOLY SMOKE!

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Rear Adm. Adolphus Andrews, as commandant of the 3d naval district at New York, was in general charge of the Normandie, the magnificent ship whose charred hulk now lies in Hudson river mud.

Rear Adm. Andrews failed to defend the Normandie from a disastrous fire. So he has been relieved of his duties in the 3d naval district.

No, Desdemona, he is not in the brig. The navy has given him the job of commander of the eastern sea frontier. This means he is charged with protection of waters adjacent to the shore from Maine to Florida.

If the Normandie disaster is a fair example of Adm. Andrews' capacities, heaven help the coast from Maine to Florida!

SPANISH CARAVELS OF 1893.

Niña, Pinta, and Santa Maria, the ships with which Columbus revealed the New World, are a Chicago tradition. Their duplicates, exhibited at the Columbian exposition of 1893, lay at anchor in the Jackson park lagoon for years; Santa Maria is still there. Samuel Eliot Morison, Columbus' latest biographer, who surpasses all others in seamanship, has something to say about these familiar ships that should interest Chicagoans.

After careful research, he states that the exact plans of the original caravels are unknown, and that no contemporary drawing or painting of one of them exists. Various models and reconstructions have been made, and he ranks the ships of the Columbian exposition in Chicago among the best. They were built for the voyage to Chicago from plans by Fernández Duro and Monléon. Mr. Morison calls them Niña II., Pinta II., and Santa Maria II.

Niña II. and Pinta II. were paid for by the United States government, Santa Maria II. by the Spanish government. The two smaller vessels were towed across the Atlantic, but "the Spanish navy, to its great honor and credit, took Santa Maria II. from the Canaries to Cuba under her own sail."

She started on Feb. 22, 1893, and had a much rougher passage than her original. For several days of high winds she rolled badly and pitched furiously. "In a fairly high sea Santa Maria II. yawed as much as 7 and 8 points."

Land was sighted after 34 days out—one day less than the voyage of Columbus, altho his route was several hundred miles longer. The best day's run was 139 miles; the worst was 11 miles. Santa Maria II. entered the harbor of San Juan, Puerto Rico, on March 30.

Mr. Morison says, "It is evident that Santa Maria II. was neither so fast nor so well balanced as her original of 1492," of which he has no high opinion. He regards the Niña as the most seaworthy vessel in Columbus' fleet.

LA BELLE FRANCE.

All men have loved thee in thy palmy days.
When thou wert young and beauteous like the swan
Bold Roland fought for thee and sang thy praise,
And Charles Martel saved Christian Faith near gone.
With Charlemagne you knew an Empire great,
And Orleans' Maid revived your drooping heart.
Le Grand Monarque made boast, "I am the State,"
And Empire swelled again with Bonaparte.

"How have the mighty fallen from their seats,
And in the dust their pride has brought them low."
We cannot think but that your pulse still beats,
And that you'll warm men's hearts as long ago.
Hear bold St. Michael speak, and dry your tears;
Your glory must not pass with snows of yesteryears.

Cecil B. Williams.

A Star in the Window.

There is a Service Star in our window. It says, "Illinois honors her sons in the armed services."

[He is a part of Illinois. He is as clean and wholesome as the air that blankets her. His hair is the golden-bronze of her ripening wheat. His eyes are the clear, merry gray of her many streams. His smile is remedial, as the gentle rains that salute her warm August meadows.]

It informs passers-by that "Our Home Has Contributed." [They pass our house, anxious for news of him and concerned for his welfare—the elderly folks who watched him grow from a friendly little boy to tall, personable manhood, the young people who went to school with him a few years ago.]

There is a Service Star in our window. It represents our son, fighting somewhere the "good fight" that other stars may not be "blacked out"; the stars that shine from a field of blue on an American flag; the stars that shine from the heavens over a free America!

All Bound for Davy Jones' Locker.

"Jane's Fighting Ships" supplies the following names for Japanese vessels of war. I am supplying approximate translations:

Siranui: Phosphorescent foam.
Yamagumo: White clouds on the hillsides.
Kasumi: Mist of flowers.
Suzukaze: Cool breeze of summer.
Siratuyu: White dew.
Ayanami: Waves whose beauty suggests figures woven in silk.
Oboro: Haziness diffusing moonlight.
Hatakaze: Wind which causes the flapping of a flag.
Siokaze: Wind springing up at the turn of the tide.
Hatukari: First wild goose of the season.

APPROACH OF SPRING.

My body is a battleground
Where warring armies rage,
And thru my tissues operate
As on a mighty stage.

They've occupied each vital spot,
They've fortified my spine,
Their tanks have done a sorry job
In this poor nose of mine.

By bridgeheads and by landing fields
My corpus is controled,
Their infiltration is complete—
I think I've got a cold.

The Watchdog on the Rhine.

The spitz dog [March 31] always was popular in Germany in two sizes, standard and miniature. The color is white with an occasional light brown spot on chest or ear. A black spitz is a rarity.

Practically every freighter plying the Rhine had a spitz dog aboard. It was an amusing sight to see these clever fellows, called Rheinspitzer, running about on top of the engine housing, whoofing lustily at other passing boats. C. O. R.

Why Taxi Drivers Are Pessimists.

For 35 years I have been pronouncing Throop street the way it is spelled. But since I have been driving a taxicab I haven't found a single customer who says anything but "Troop." Shall I correct them? Frank O. Desher.

Omar Khayyam's advice is out of date. This is no time to toss your winter garments of repentance into the fires of spring.

HARMONY AMONG OUR VITAL ORGANS.

WITH most of us, our vital organs are at peace. Like the people of a friendly community, a fine spirit of cooperation prevails. When one becomes overtired or overtaxed, the others rally to aid the stricken member.

Our bodies would be in constant turmoil were the heart, the liver, the spleen, etc., forever struggling for ascendency. As it is, each is content to do its job. Only when one is abused beyond the limit of patience will rebellion come. An overworked liver can start a lot of trouble, particularly if the spleen and pancreas become allies.

But this unity of purpose was not brought about without a certain amount of strife. In days gone by, the liver may have shouted:

"I want more room. I am hemmed in beneath the diaphragm so that I can't expand comfortably when I have a desire to stretch. Furthermore, I work all day long with little rest. I am obliged to filter and condition everything that the digestive tract chooses to send me. If my owner takes aboard a lot of poison, he expects me to save him from the consequences of his foolish act. I am getting tired of it and, unless I can be in complete control, I shall give up the conflict and then you know what will happen."

Naturally, the stomach was a bit sympathetic, but not willing to join in an insurrection. "I am having too good a time," he remarked. Every once in a while I am entertained by a delectable meal and it is a joy to fondle the nutritive ingredients, dilute them properly, and pass them into the intestine."

Then the spleen, always peppery and pugnacious, chimed in:

"I know I have a reputation for being a kicker and here is where I stand with the liver. Unless the chap who owns us is willing to play fair I too shall go on a strike."

The brain, to whom these structures were speaking, became alarmed, particularly since it heard distant grumblings from the pancreas, the colon, and the kidneys. He suggested talking the whole thing over. The first conference broke up in disorder because the liver wanted to be chairman, while the brain insisted upon his hereditary position.

Then the heart said to the others, "I am the peacemaker as well as the pacemaker. Let me and my family—the arteries—arbitrate this affair."

All then realized that they must get together because if the cardiac organ quit, none of them could survive. The result was an agreement that the brain would tell the body how to behave.

In the first place, they all stipulated that they could not handle excessive amounts of heavy, rich food. In addition, that some muscular activity would have to be indulged in.

"We can't pound away," they continued, "year in and year out for a lifetime, unless—at intervals—our burdens are lightened."

Now, by common consent, the brain is the boss organ with the heart second in command. The responsibility of the former lies in so ordering the intelligence that abuses will not occur.

DISCOVERY.

L. A. writes: I was troubled with constipation and sleepy spells in the afternoon. A friend told me to eat sweet potatoes every day. I started to do this and my symptoms have disappeared. Could this lowly vegetable contain so many virtues?

REPLY.

You probably needed more fiber as well as more energy. The yam supplies both.

SHORT ESCORT.

M. L. writes: I am taller than my boy friend. Is there any way to make him grow? He is 20 years old.

REPLY.

Let him think and act tall. Full height has probably not been attained. He has two or three years to go. All remedies, including hormones, have been disappointing.

GEN. GEORGE'S START IN THE ARMY.

Joliet, Ill., March 22.—I am taking the liberty of writing to you in regard to Brig. Gen. Harold H. George, who was Gen. MacArthur's air commander in the Philippines and who is still serving under him in Australia.

I worked with Brig. Gen. George on a paving job. I ran a concrete mixer and he was with the engineering force and sort of a sub-foreman. This was in 1915 at Niagara Falls, N. Y. He was out of high school and studying civil engineering, and he was quite an athlete, fine looking, quiet, and well mannered. We and several others were members of Co. E, 3d New York. He was my corporal. He was intensely American and a natural soldier.

I came back to Joliet that fall and returned to Niagara Falls, in 1916 when President Wilson called the National Guard out for Mexican border duty. I enlisted and again had Corp. George in charge of my squad. We went to Camp Whitman, N. Y., then to McAllen and Pharr, Tex. I received a medical discharge after six weeks and returned to Joliet.

My oldest brother stayed with the outfit, now the 108th infantry. They were on the border about 10 months. Next year they trained for World war duty at Spartansburg, S. C. My brother kept me informed. George, now a sergeant, went overseas. In the last few months of the war he transferred to the air force and was a pilot only a few weeks just before the armistice and knocked down five German planes, just enough to become an ace.

He stayed in the army. Next I heard he was a major in Detroit.

He commanded a flight of planes flying from Selfridge field to Panama—then with some military mission to China—then the Philippines and now Australia. He had no pull or influence that I ever heard of except his proved ability, and energy, and intense love of country.

CARL A. WOLF.

POLITICAL RALLY.

Chicago, March 30.—In a smoke filled room on South State street on Sunday afternoon the Hon. [Hinky Dink] Michael Kenna, if you please, was lauded by judges, ex-congressmen, ex-sheriffs, and various office holders interested in holding their nests thru the efforts of the 1st Ward Democratic organization. Kenna, an alderman for over a score of years, famous as a colleague of the late [Bathhouse] John Coughlin, sat demurely beside the presiding chairman, seemingly unconscious of the waves of praise so unstintingly showered on him by candidates seeking his support on primary day. Kenna seemed to be a tired man, unsmiling, weary of the years behind him, a warrior ready to sit on the reviewing stand and view a new leader and his cohorts.

There was a modicum of hand clapping to follow the trembling appeals of the several candidates who microphoned their great friendship for Kenna. A few women attended, in all probability workers in getting out the vote in the 1st ward. One is amazed at the pleas of judicial candidates for organization support. They openly offer favors for votes. The important thing at the tawdry meeting house was the stirring call, "Get jobs; hold the jobs we've got; more patronage; more jobs." J. M. J.

SLACKER VOTERS.

Chicago, March 28.—I am a precinct captain on the south side and this is the season when it becomes necessary to knock on my neighbors' doors, rub the sleep from their eyes, and, generally awaken them to the realization there is a primary election in the state of Illinois on April 14.

We encounter two distinct negative types in our missionary work, the disinterested type who sallies forth with the statement, "He never votes at a primary," and the "superstitious" citizen who thwarts you by stating he will not vote because he must divulge his politics. Therefore, this timid soul and his disinterested companion stay away from the polling place on primary day.

We have committed ourselves to destroying the enemy, let us commit ourselves, also, to exercising those rights and privileges that our boys are fighting to preserve. LOU ROUNECK.

WORKS A 66 HOUR WEEK.

Chicago, March 31.—I would like to know how many of these people who are moaning about the 40 hour week are working 65 to 70 hours a week at straight time. I myself work for a defense plant 66 hours a week, seven nights a week, and if it were not for time and one-half we would not make a decent living. We are giving up our recreation. All we do is travel, work, and sleep. Sen. Pepper should work at our plant 10 hours a night, six nights a week, and see if he enjoys working for straight time. We men would pay him $10 an hour if he would work in 120 degrees heat. It's these white collar men who are telling us laboring men how to work 65 hours a week at straight time. A. E. B.

HEROES OF WORLD WAR I.

Blue Island, Ill., March 30.—Yesterday McCutcheon said, "World War I. was not rich in American heroes." What about the 90 men who received the congressional medal of honor? Twenty-eight of these medals were awarded after death, including the Unknown Soldier. What about the great number of men who received the distinguished service medal and the distinguished service cross? Were these men awarded medals because they were something other than heroes?

W. G. SCHIMMEL.

SAVE THE CHURCH BELLS.

Chicago, March 27.—Why scrap the beautiful church bells for war purposes? Why not start by clearing out the old iron fences one sees on the near south side? Broken down old homes with broken down old fences. These fences no doubt looked beautiful at one time. I'm sure there's enough scrap iron hanging on old posts to keep all the steel mills busy for a year. STUART IRVINE.

THE NUDECONOMIST.

Bensenville, Ill., March 30.—Why are Wallace and the New Deal paying $5,600 to Maurice Parmelee, to tell the people that we will all have to become nudists after the war? Tell Mr. Wallace to save the money, because the people know it now. "ADAM."

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE.

Chicago, April 1.—Apparently M. D. F.'s article of March 23 regarding insurance rates was written by a person grossly uninformed on matters of insurance. Automobile insurance rates have been reduced materially during the last three years. In 1938 a 15 per cent safe driver reward refund was put into effect. In 1939 the occupational rating plan was put in effect, equaling 20 per cent or 25 per cent additional reduction in rate to those not required to use their car for business. In 1941, thru reclassification of areas outside of the city limits of Chicago, substantial rate reductions were put into effect for suburbanites. Accident frequency increased materially during this period. AUSTIN T. FLETT.

FROM MOUNT MARY.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 31.—I have just seen a copy of the rotogravure section of The Tribune of April 5. I want to express to you my appreciation for the very attractive page of Mount Mary girls that appears in that number and for the article by Miss Eleanor Nangle. We appreciate your enterprise very much and we, of course, believe you do a service to the greater Chicago community as well as to Mount Mary college.

EDWARD A. FITZPATRICK, President.

LIEUT. O'HARE OVERZEALOUS?

Porter, Ind., April 1.—If the unions had jurisdiction over our fighting men in the army, navy, and air corps, same as they have in some of our war production plants, Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare of Chicago, who shot down six Jap planes in one afternoon, might have been suspended, same as Miss Genevieve Samp of Detroit, for doing too much work.

SUPPORT OF PARENTS.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Under Michigan law are all children, regardless of marital status, equally responsible for the support of their parent or parents if such parent or parents are destitute and incapable of self-support? If so [2] is this law ever enforced? If possible, I would appreciate having you quote [3] the act and section applicable to this matter.

1. Yes, provided the children reside in Michigan and have sufficient means.

2. We see no reason to doubt it. To ascertain what is common in the locality in which you are interested, we suggest that you make inquiry there.

3. # ILLINOIS DEFENSE BOND PURCHASES EXCEED AVERAGE

Active Financial Support of War Is Shown.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Illinois and east central states as a whole have bought considerable more defense savings bonds than the average for the United States, an analysis by THE TRIBUNE of bond purchases to finance the tremendous war program showed today.

Taking the latest state by state figures available on bond purchases, thru January, 1942, these figures showed that sales of the most popular issue of defense bonds, series E, totaled $1,872,333,000 from May, 1941, when the bond and stamp sales campaign got under way, thru January. This was equivalent to $14.22 in such bonds bought by every man, woman, and child in the United States.

Active Support of War.

Compared with this average, Illinois bought $147,821,000 in series E bonds during this period, or $18.72 per person in the state of Illinois.

The Atlantic and Pacific coast states which have received most of the war production funds ladled out by the government to war industries, naturally surpassed the levels on bond purchases in the middle west, but the showing in the latter area indicated active financial support of the war program.

The per capita breakdown, based upon 1940 census figures, shows that the District of Columbia, flooded with new government jobholders, had the highest per capita purchases, at $27.34, for the nine month period.

Sales Off This Year.

Total sales of series E bonds, which are sold at a discount at face values of $25 to $1,000, have declined in the first three months of this year, due in part to the heavy income taxes collected on March 15, and also in part, according to observers, due to the unfavorable public reaction to boondoggling shenanigans within the Office of Civilian Defense, as disclosed recently.

Recapitulation by States.

The following table shows details of series E bonds purchased by states from May, 1941, thru January, 1942, and the per capita purchases for those states, based upon 1940 census figures:

[Thousands of dollars.]

| Division and state. | Total purchases. | Per capita. |

| DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA | 18,129 | 27.34 |
| UNITED STATES | $1,872,333 | $14.22 |

It will be noted from the above table that only six states and the District of Columbia have a higher per capita average than Illinois.

W-G-N TO BROADCAST HIGHLIGHTS IN CAREER OF GEN. MAC ARTHUR

Highlights from the career of Gen. Douglas MacArthur will be recreated in dramatic form on the broadcast of Americans at the Ramparts on W-G-N from 7 to 7:30 p. m. next Thursday. All studio guests will be given MacArthur buttons, the same that are being sold at THE TRIBUNE'S public service offices.

Some tickets are still available for the broadcast. Applications should be addressed to the W-G-N ticket office.

Supplementing the drama will be patriotic music to be provided by the W-G-N orchestra and chorus, conducted by Robert Trendler. Sidney Gerson is writing the dramatic episodes and Morrison Wood will produce the program.

PLAN TO ASK NEW JURY CONTINUE GAMBLING PROBE

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, said yesterday he plans to ask the grand jury that will be impaneled today to continue the investigation of the activities of the Guzik slot machine syndicate. He said he expects George E. Blameuser, village president of Skokie, who was indicted for malfeasance on Saturday, will surrender and give bail today and that he will be arraigned tomorrow.

The indictment of Blameuser followed his admission before the grand jury that he permitted all taverns in Skokie to operate the illegal slot machines up until the exposure of the Guzik gang last October, Crowley said. Blameuser denied any friendship for or connection with Ed Vogel, the chief placement agent for the slot machine gangsters, Crowley said, and also denied any connection with Thomas Smicklas, slot machine service man who operated in the Skokie district.

Thru Smicklas and others, Crowley said, all the collectors listed on one of the pages of the Guzik ledger obtained last October by THE TRIBUNE, with one exception, have been identified. He is still seeking the full name of the man listed as Rocky and who brought $1,030 to Guzik last July, Crowley said.

U. S. GIRL MARRIED TO FLYER IN INDIA THRU RADIOGRAM

Bowman, S. C., April 5 (AP).—The parents of Ida West announced today she had been married by radiogram to Capt. Francis N. Culler of the United States army air corps, who is stationed in Karachi, India.

She received this message from Capt. Culler: "Today take you to be my lawful wife. Answer." Miss West replied: "Today take you to be my lawful husband."

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dennis West, said a civil ceremony for the couple would be performed when Capt. Culler returns to the United States.

Uniforms Lend Color to Wartime Easter; Women Join the Parade in All Their Glory

At Great Lakes

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

A purple cross on a white field, official Navy church pennant, was hoisted for Easter worship at Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday. On the hours of the three Catholic masses and three Protestant services the banner was raised to the top of the flagstaff in front of the administration building, there to be the only symbol ever allowed to fly above the stars and stripes and on the same halyard. Men in blue marched to church along the grass covered central square of the grounds as a bell rang out the time to hoist the purple cross once more.

The largest service of the day was the nonsectarian observance in the old drill hall, known as building 4. Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, Mrs. Downes, and their daughter, Mrs. Philip W. Mothersill, attended. Mrs. Downes used the color of the service for her Easter outfit—she wore a navy blue coat and navy blue hat with a big white bow. She had a silver fox scarf, and both she and Mrs. Mothersill wore three gardenias.

Mrs. Mothersill's suit was wheat colored, and her straw hat had a green crown. She wore a brown kolinsky scarf. Mrs. Mothersill is with her parents while her husband, Lieut. Mothersill, is at sea.

Blue was the most popular costume shade at Great Lakes yesterday. Touches of white or red were used with it. There were few corsages and those were red roses, white carnations, or gardenias.

Capt. T. De Witt Carr, executive officer of the naval training station, and Mrs. Carr attended the late morning service. Mrs. Carr wore a fur jacket over her gray and blue plaid outfit. Her hat was dark blue.

Mrs. E. A. Lofquist, attending church with her husband, Capt. Lofquist, chief of staff for Adm. Downes, varied the navy blue motif by wearing aqua. Her flowered turban matched her crêpe dress. She wore a brown kidskin coat and brown pumps.

Lieut. Bert Powell, senior aide to Adm. Downes, Mrs. Powell and their daughter, Carolyn, and Mrs. Powell's mother, Mrs. Edna B. Turnbull, made up a family group at church. Mrs. Powell's coat and hat were dark blue, and the hat was trimmed in white. Mrs. Turnbull's outfit was all dark blue, also, but Carolyn wore a dusty pink jacket and matching plaid skirt.

Mrs. James M. Irvine, wife of Lieut. Irvine, junior aide to Adm. Downes, chose a black Easter outfit relieved by white. Her corsage was red roses. Lieut. and Mrs. M. E. Graham were among the churchgoers, also. Mrs. Graham's coat was gray-blue, and her contrasting color was white.

As the last comers arrived at church, the first of the Easter day visitors were escorted into the grounds. They, too, preferred navy blue for Easter clothes, but bright red was an important second choice. One sailor had a red carnation pinned to his middy, a breach of uniform etiquet but a tribute to the Easter parade.

In Chicago

places at luncheon time, but we'd wager they had more real fun eating hamburgers and buns than the others had eating spring lamb or other tasty delicacies of the season.

"The largest crowd we've had in 12 years," said an usher at St. James' Episcopal church as he swung open the doors of the outer archway and the worshipers slowly emerged from the immense, dimly lighted interior. The crowd of several hundred was spotted with uniforms, for St. James was a favorite of the midshipmen from the Naval Reserve school nearby. The school's commanding officer, Capt. B. B. Wygant, attended alone, for his wife is in California, but many of the students escorted lovely girls in their new spring suits and flowered hats.

Ensign and Mrs. Richard Bernays were among the last to arrive for the 11 o'clock service. Mrs. Bernays wore a turquoise suit and fur jacket, a yellow felt bowler trimmed with a yellow rose and black veiling and yellow gloves. Peter Bernays accompanied his brother and sister-in-law, and after church Miss Carol Gardner, who wore brown and yellow orchids to match a dotted blouse with her navy coat, joined the group.

Midshipman Woodrow W. Wallis escorted Miss Peggy Gillette and her mother, Mrs. Harold L. Gillette, who both wore orchids on their fur coats. Clement Studebaker IV. brought his young daughter, Helen Ann, who made a dainty picture in a navy buttoned suit brightened by a hyacinth corsage and a navy hat trimmed with a halo of cadet blue. Her socks and gloves were cadet blue and she carried a prayer book. Sub-deb Mervyn Adams, accompanied by her father, Robert M. Adams, wore a simple Harris tweed outfit.

Suits carried the day and Mrs. Aldis Browne ventured out in her Eleanor blue gabardine one without a topcoat.

Two of the most handsomely dressed children in the parade were seen at St. Chrysostom's church, Mrs. Jacob Baur's granddaughter and grandson, Romia and Bartle Bull Jr., whose father, Capt. Bull of the British forces is in North Africa. The young Bulls had on brother and sister suits of heather blue tweed. Romia's cunning tailored hat matched her coat, but Bartle's little round boy's hat was of plain material of the same color.

Lawrence H. Whiting escorted his young daughter, Barbara, who was smartly dressed in a gray tweed suit with a navy blue cape over her shoulders; a navy hat, and a girlish corsage of pink sweet peas. Another child attending services at St. Chrysostom's was little Frank E. Pierce III., who came with his mother, Mrs. Pierce Jr., who was stunning in a coat of Kelly green wool over a navy blue dress.

One of the many who wisely wore fur jackets was handsome Mrs. John P. Cohane, whose Easter outfit consisted of a quilted black taffeta frock, a silver fox bolero and a calot with a bunch of red, white and blue flowers perched in back of her pompadour. Mrs. Michelson Maher also wore a silver fox jacket and a tiny calotte.

An indication of the heavy toll the armed forces have taken in eligible Chicago bachelors could be seen in the number of attractive young women who arrived at the Casino alone, or by twos, in chauffeur driven cars or in taxis, but unescorted by masculine friends. There were plenty of young men waiting to entertain them at the club's breakfast party, however, for 50 of the midshipmen from the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university had been invited to celebrate Easter there.

Miss Pauline Palmer and Miss Anne Jay Bryant were two who taxied up to the door, smart in Easter flowers and bonnets; Miss Betty Bennett was deposited at the club in the family limousine. Miss Palmer's hat was a turban effect of pale blue feather flowers and her suit was of navy. Miss Bryant was in gray with a silver fox cape and huge, feathery white orchids pinned to one shoulder. Miss Bennett, long blonde locks flying, wore a dress of blue silk, trimmed with tailored bows of the same material on the skirt, and a short fur jacket.

One of the smartest ensembles seen at the Casino was the one in which Mrs. Charles S. Dewey was greeting the friends she sees so little of now that she and Congressman Dewey are living in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Dewey's dress was of dark blue silk printed in small white figures. The print faced the wide lapels of the dark blue redingote she wore over it, and also edged the cuffs. Her flowers were white orchids.

Adm. and Mrs. Downes had luncheon at the Casino, as did the I. Newton Perrys, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, the Joseph T. Ryersons and Miss Ellen Ryerson, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, the Marshall G. Sampsells, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Carr and her brother-in-law, Alexander Persons of Worcester, Mass., who is here on a business trip, and Maj. Walter Frazier.

Mrs. A. H. Patterson, Miss Leonore Cudahy, Miss Diana Hill, the Frank J. Lesches, Miss Peggy Nicholson, the James Ward Thornes, the Arthur Meekers and their daughter, Mrs. Francis Lloyd of Pasadena, Cal.; the Orville J. Taylors, John L. Cochran, whose wife missed the Easter parade, as she is in the Presbyterian hospital, and Miss Marie Merrill Hubbard were among the others at the Casino.

At Fort Sheridan

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

Fort Sheridan had its own Easter parade yesterday, a trim column of smartly stepping officers, privates, nurses, color guard, and members of the band. Altho most of the officers and their wives attended the special Easter service, Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins, former commandant of the 6th corps area, who will leave shortly to head the general army depot in Columbus, O., worshiped at an earlier service with his family. Leaving the 8:45 o'clock mass at chapel No. 2 of the Recruit Reception center, Mrs. Cummins wore a black fitted coat over a black, green and red floral print gown, and a black brimmed hat trimmed in Kelly green. Her flowers were token roses and gardenias.

Their daughter, Mrs. R. J. B. Page, whose husband is serving abroad, pinned a cluster of the same flowers to her beige plaid reefer. A halo of daisies rimmed her off-the-face bonnet of navy straw, and her dress and shoes were blue.

Col. Fredrick C. Rogers, commandant of the post who addressed the 10:30 o'clock service, arrived with his wife as the theater was being filled with its Easter congregation of 800. Mrs. Rogers wore a brace of brown furs with her snuff-colored herringbone tweed suit. Gold nailheads studded the band of her casual brown hat.

A handsome trio were Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Frederick O. Adams and Mrs. Karl F. Steinbach. Mrs. Adams' three piece suit of beige wool had a collar of blonde fox, to which she pinned a knot of gardenias. The circumference of her large black pancake hat was edged in a double row of black felt fringe, and the platforms of her black pumps were studded in gold nailheads. Mrs. Steinbach wore a marine blue coat over a pink crêpe dress, which was matched by the pink feathers on her hat.

The bright April sunshine tempted Mrs. George L. Ford, arriving with Lieut. Ford, to carry her topcoat instead of wearing it over her refreshing ensemble. Her olive green print gown was splashed with red and white flowers. The sailor collar of her dress was worn on the outside of a pimento red wool jacket, to which she pinned red roses and gardenias. A pert flower with petals of the olive green print topped her little red pillbox.

Mrs. Harry Procter, escorted by Lieut. Procter, had a gray caracul coat about the shoulders of her gray sheer wool dress flecked in red. Her gray saucer hat was tied on by red ribbons, which matched the rosebuds in her corsage. Wide panels of cross fox edged the tuxedo front of Mrs. Edwin V. Turek's gold wool coat. Navy print sprinkled with white dots and stars trimmed her navy straw sailor and navy dress. Mrs. Turek was with her husband, Lieut. Turek.

Miss Ann Congleton, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Dewey Congleton, attended the services in a beige tailored suit and white tucked blouse. Her accessories—bag, shoes, and faille pillbox stitched in silk braid—were of the same shade of saddle leather. Mrs. Milton Stuhlbarg, whose husband is a lieutenant at the post, wore a smart black reefer and brimmed felt bonnet, hyacinth blue crêpe dress, and corsage of blue hyacinths. Mrs. Mortimer M. Benton, on the arm of Capt. Benton, was wearing a blue plaid dress and matching felt hat with a plaid band. Gardenias were pinned to her brown fur coat.

Prize Winning Fashions at Easter Sunday Contests

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Leon Mandel wearing the heavy white straw sailor trimmed with a white grosgrain band and one red rose that won for her the first prize at a hat contest in the Mayfair room of the Blackstone hotel yesterday. The hat complemented perfectly the white caracul coat and shoulder corsage of red roses that she wore. The winning hat, a green cloche trimmed with water lilies, was auctioned for the Red Cross and bought by Mr. Mandel for $70, so Mrs. Mandel will be wearing it this spring in spite of her generosity in giving it to the Red Cross.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. A. G. Atwater Jr. won first prize at the Easter breakfast at Camellia House in the Drake hotel yesterday because, the judges said, "her costume showed harmony and good taste." She wore a hat made of double discs of green felt joined together by the stems of two soft pink roses which bobbed above her forehead. Her suit was of green with dolman sleeves and her blouse of green and tangerine print. Gardenias were pinned to the brace of sables around her neck and a pink dotted green veil floated around her pretty head.

Churchmen Hail Easter as Sign of Hope in War as Thousands Attend Services

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Easter was interpreted before many congregations thruout Chicago yesterday as the symbol of victory when the outlook points to seeming defeat and disaster. Pastors in all communions reported overflowing congregations and in some of the larger churches as many as 200 service men in uniform were counted.

At Fort Sheridan, Col. Fredrick C. Rogers, post commander, speaking at a special Easter service, said that at least a million men of the United States army attended Easter services during the day. The Rev. Clark Wood, associate pastor of First Methodist church, Chicago temple, announced that uniformed men formed a large part of the congregations at both morning services.

Many soldiers and sailors were among the throng, estimated by Park district police at 45,000, at Soldiers' field sunrise service. The naval training school, Navy pier, gave leave to bluejackets who wished to attend the Soldiers' field service.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, founder and national director of the Catholic Youth organization, speaking at the Mutual chapel over Mutual Broadcasting system, defined Easter as the symbol of hope against the backdrop of difficult days. He declared that "the noisy campaigns to discredit Christianity, have been turned back and crushed by the unassailable truth of the resurrection."

Easter as "God's Decisive Answer to the Chaos of the World" was the theme of the Easter sermon delivered at St. Luke's Lutheran church, Belmont and Greenview avenues, by the Rev. Adalbert R. Kretzmann. He spoke beneath a service flag with 61 stars representing men of St. Luke's in the armed services.

The decisive answer, Pastor Kretzmann said, "is, Christ alive from the dead. And everything you may ever need is here; hope when all hope seems broken, light when you are in darkness, forgiveness when you have blundered badly, friendship when you are feeling lonely and forsaken, and a welcome home when your day has run to sunset and the evening star is in the sky."

Approximately 1,000 civilians and soldiers attended a special Easter service in theater No. 2, Fort Sheridan, yesterday morning. The preacher, Chaplain Clarence Q. Jones, linked the resurrection with the hero's devotion to the long struggle for human freedom.

"The battle lines are clearly drawn today," Chaplain Jones declared. "In the words of that gallant leader whose name is on all our lips, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who said, 'He who is afraid to die has no right to live,' the sentiment of those who love freedom is clearly expressed."

Dr. William Paton of London told the Sunday Evening club that the world must look to the things of the spirit, as symbolized in the resurrection of Christ, if there is to be a lasting peace in the post war days.

Four Easter services were held at Navy pier. Catholic mass was offered by Chaplain M. P. Gans. Protestant services were conducted by Chaplains W. W. Elder and Philip Nicholas. Elders J. Ronald Brown and Morgan Hanks, of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, conducted Mormon services, and Romaine Halverstadt, commissioned service worker of the Christian Science church, conducted Christian Science services.

Wedding

Miss Jean Hazlewood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig B. Hazlewood of Chicago, and Richard Widmark of New York were married at 5 o'clock yesterday in the First Methodist church, Evanston. A reception followed at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The bride attended Lake Forest college, where Mr. Widmark formerly was on the faculty.

Easter Parties Have an Added Romantic Note

BY JUDITH CASS.

EASTER week-end always is a popular time for teas, but three parties given on Saturday and Sunday in the homes of the Arthur M. Barretts, the Sanford B. Whites, and the Vernon Hales had an added romantic significance.

At a tea yesterday in their home in Winnetka, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett announced the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to Rutherford Daimond Brosious.

Miss Priscilla White's betrothal to James Ashton Graham was revealed at a small cocktail party her parents gave on Saturday in their East Delaware place home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale's tea yesterday in Kenilworth also was an announcement party, given to announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha, to Frederick Rolland Carson.

Miss Barrett a Graduate of Rollins College.

Miss Barrett, one of four children, was graduated from the Knox school in Cooperstown, N. Y., attended Smith college, and received her degree from Rollins college. She made her debut in 1934 at a tea in her parents' home. Mr. Brosious, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Brosious of Stillwater, Minn., was here for the announcement party with a friend, Allen Buckbee of White Bear, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett returned last week from a holiday in Florida. Their arrival coincided with that of Miss Barrett and her cousin, Miss Jane Hoops, who had been visiting in Sun Valley, Idaho, and California. Miss Hoops makes her home with the Barretts.

Glencoe Announcement Comes As No Surprise.

Miss White, the daughter of Mrs. McAusland White, was graduated from Kemper Hall and attended Sweet Briar college. Her fiancé is the youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Graham of East Bellevue place. He was graduated from the Boys' Latin school.

Women in War Work

By Indie Moffett

Evanston's United States savings bonds committee, composed of 25 women headed by Mrs. Hugh W. McCulloch, has signed up more than 23 per cent of the city's 1,182 retail merchants to full participation in the treasury department's retail savings stamp plan. These merchants are automatically members of the Victory clubs directed by Maj. Benjamin H. Namm, national chairman of the retail advisory commission.

The Evanston Chamber of Commerce will hold the first Victory club luncheon to be given in Illinois today in the North Shore hotel in Evanston. Mrs. McCulloch will report on the committee's work at the luncheon. Among the guests will be John G. Gallaher, Illinois deputy administrator; G. Ray Schaeffer, Cook county chairman of sales outlets for bonds and stamps, and Merritt Laubenheimer, general chairman of Evanston's U. S. savings staff. Oliver H. Nichols is president of the chamber of commerce, and Joseph L. Cavins is assisting with arrangements.

Nine of the 19 north towns in the women's division of the Chicago and Cook county defense savings staff have reported a total purchase of $2,605,923 worth of savings bonds and stamps. Mrs. Donald McPherson, chairman, has organized more than 1,500 workers in these towns. Her report showed that four towns alone bought $72,326 worth of bonds and stamps, that in Kenilworth 400 residents in 300 homes had purchased bonds, and that 75 per cent of the residents of Palatine own bonds. Mrs. William B. Hale is vice chairman.

Nine booths have been opened in three towns. In Northbrook, Mrs. D. Russell Palmer, chairman, reports that all the stores are coöperating and the savings booth is moved from one store to another each week.

Other chairmen include Mrs. A. D. Grant and Miss Dorothy Hauff, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Robert Work and Miss Elizabeth Howland, Barrington; Mrs. John T. Raymond, Des Plaines; Mrs. Edwin Austin and Mrs. Abel Davis, Glencoe; Mrs. C. R. Burt, Glenview; Mrs. Joseph Leach, Golf; Mrs. V. C. Beebee, Mrs. Walter Marx and Mrs. John Nuveen, Kenilworth; Mrs. A. C. Echart and Mrs. Lawrence Schey, Lincolnwood; Mrs. Mack Faulkner, Morton Grove; Mrs. C. H. Angell, Mount Prospect; Mrs. R. C. Vilas, Northfield; Mrs. Richard Ehrhardt, Park Ridge; Mrs. E. R. Foster, Palatine; Mrs. Frank R. Adams, Wilmette; Mrs. James Bailey, Wheeling, and Mrs. Benjamin Affleck, Winnetka.

"Women's Colleges and Defense Work" will be one of the sections that will meet every day at the 39th annual convention of the National Catholic Educational association opening today in the Stevens hotel.

Sister Mary Raymond, Sister Angela Elizabeth and Dr. Helen May, chairman of the section, will participate in a panel discussion on the services rendered by women's colleges during the present emergency Wednesday morning.

The Very Rev. Francis J. Furey, president of Immaculata college, Immaculata, Pa., will open the discussion at 9:30 o'clock with his report on "Salvaging Values for Women's Colleges in the Postwar period." More than 5,000 delegates are expected to attend the convention which will continue thru Thursday.

Mrs. Ewing Graham, home economist, will speak on wartime wardrobes at 6:45 o'clock this evening in the YWCA loop center, 59 East Monroe street, at the opening of the Y's consumer corner. Miss Nell Nordstrom is chairman of the education division of the YWCA war services coördinating committee and Miss Connie Cavendar is project chairman.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

UNBROKEN BARGAIN.

Ives peered at him and the man stepped forward. He was a young puncher with a face that Ives couldn't place.

He came closer and said to Ives in a low voice: "Wallace said to see you when I quit Chevron. I've quit."

Ives said, "Let me get out of town first. I'll pick you up on the south road."

"You're Pete Framm?"

Pete nodded.

"I'm not alone."

Ives looked at him suspiciously, and Pete said, "Mrs. Macy's with me. Chance got it out of her tonight that she talked with Wallace. She can't stay at Chevron."

Ives said quickly, "Does he know she talked with me?"

"No."

"Bring her along," Ives said. "Let me go first."

Ives swung the sack of grub over his shoulder and tramped down to his horse. He swore bitterly to himself as he stepped into the saddle and pulled his mare around. Gove was warned now. If he knew Wallace had talked with Martha Macy, he would reason that she had told Wallace about Macy's intention to go to the Seco camp instead of the Boundary. Gove would know exactly how much Wallace knew of Tip Macy's strange death, and he would do whatever was necessary to cover his trail.

Ives felt badly about that. Not because he cared about Macy, but because he'd promised Dave Wallace that he'd find Macy's killer in exchange for Dave's help. Dave had kept his part of the bargain; he'd helped Ives with Beth Hilliard, had even gone to jail to do it, and now faced a charge of murder because of that help.

Just how tough and patient was Wallace? The big man didn't give a damn about Beth, and yet he was on the dodge now because he'd helped her. Ives didn't fool himself; Wallace would probably tell him he was thru, and Ives, in bitter honesty, couldn't blame him.

A half mile beyond the grade into Hilliard he pulled off the road and dismounted in the darkness. A lot of things had to be done tonight and tomorrow, because this country would be combed by posses. He'd have to move fast and quick, and find some way to reach Dave.

Presently he heard the two horses approaching and swung into the saddle and called, "Here."

When they approached, Ives said, "We'll talk later," and pulled his horse off into the timber.

He was still camped at the same spot, the one Dave Wallace had picked in the dark and Ives had never bothered to change. Approaching it, he was casting back in his memory for the safest place he could think of for a camp, when he looked up and saw thru the trees the flickering light from a fire.

When he rode up to the edge of the timber and reined up, he saw Dave Wallace standing on the other side of the fire, out of the light, his gun held loosely in his hand.

When Dave saw the three horses and their riders, he stepped back into the firelight, holstering his gun. His glance was quizzical as he looked from Ives to Martha Macy and then to Pete.

Pete said blankly, "I thought you were in jail."

"Was," Dave corrected. "Ives slipped me a gun."

He looked at the old wolfer.

Ives had one foot out of the stirrup and was leaning forward to dismount. Now he stopped and stared at Dave and said, "I never slipped you a gun."

They regarded each other a long moment, and then Ives said, "Ah," softly, bitterly. He slipped to the ground and faced Dave and said in a wry voice, "A half hour ago in Hilliard, Seegrist was shot."

"A half hour ago?" Dave echoed. "But the note that was rammed in the barrel of the gun said he'd died. That was after midnight last night."

"Sure," Ives said softly, and waited for Dave to get the full significance of his news. Dave was looking at him, and now his face changed, registering a slow unbelief and then a hard and bitter acceptance.

Peter Framm and Martha Macy, still mounted, were watching Dave and when he said nothing they looked at Ives.

"They knew he'd break out," Ives explained morosely. "They gave him just time to make the ride from Vermillion to Hilliard, and then killed Seegrist. They're gettin' up a posse now to hunt him."

Pete stepped out of the saddle and helped Martha to dismount. All of them gathered around the fire then, and Pete told of what had happened at Chevron. It was the full sum of the bad news, and when Pete was finished he watched Dave and Ives. Dave, however, did not speak and then Martha questioned Ives. The whole of what had happened thus far was explained to her and when Ives was done, Martha Macy was silent with wonder of it.

At last she said, "Ives, what is it Gove wants?"

"Chevron. For no money at all."

"And killing Tip is part of his getting it?"

Ives said gloomily, "I think it is." He looked at Dave, who was staring soberly at the fire, lost in thought. Ives said bitterly, reflectively, "Wallace came into this country curious about Tip. I was curious about Gove. And because I could go into Chevron without bein' stopped and Dave could bid for Chevron without bein' suspected, we made a trade." He grimaced. "Well, we have been licked. Dave is outlawed and Gove will get Chevron."

"No," Dave put in quietly.

Ives said sourly, "You think Beth will sell Chevron to you, now you're being hunted for Seegrist's killin'?"

"I know she will."

Ives regarded him with a tough skepticism. "I'll ask her."

"You won't do that, either," Dave said flatly. "That's my part of the bargain."

Ives said sourly, "You're just goin' into Hilliard past Gove, past Chance, past Kinsley, past that mob of man hunters, and ask her?"

"That's right."

The quiet way he said it held Ives mute for a moment. A little while ago he had been scheming how to hold Dave to his bargain. And now he had a strange reluctance to do it. And feeling so, he came to a swift decision. "No. I don't hold any man to that bargain, Dave. It's wore out. You're on the dodge because you stuck to it, and I've done all I could about Macy. We'll call it quits."

Dave picked up a stick and poked the fire slowly. "Ives," he said slowly, "I hate a licking." He glanced up at the old wolfer, ignoring Martha and Pete. "I hate it so bad I won't take it. But that isn't it. I like Beth Hilliard."

Ives' unshaven jaw sagged in amazement. "But you told me you had her pegged for a fool! You said you didn't care what happened to her."

"I've changed my mind."

Ives was dumfounded.

Dave went on quietly, "That's one reason for keeping my word. Another is that if I don't buy Chevron for you, you'll do it yourself. When Gove understands, he'll ruin Buckley and chase you out of the country or kill you. So I'll stick."

"You can't do it!" Ives said flatly.

Dave only smiled and looked at Pete Framm. "You want to buy in on this, Peter?"

"I've bought," Peter said soberly. "And you, Martha?"

"I've bought, too," Martha Macy said quietly. She looked at Pete and smiled fleetingly.

Dave stood up. To Ives there was a quiet confidence about him that was better than a drink of Con's Irish whisky. He watched Dave lift the six-gun from his waistband and study it, a faint smile on his face. Dave glanced at Ives and said, "Chance's?"

"Likely."

Good Morning!

"Live dangerously!" advised Robert Louis Stevenson. . . . And in this movie two young folks follow his advice.

Not exactly thru choice—tho partly so. For if the heroine had feared danger too much she wouldn't have engaged in espionage service. . . . And if the hero had loved safety too well he wouldn't have so doggedly allied forces with her. . . .

This is a spy drama and a thrilling one. . . . As it opens, Jane, secretary to the British export bureau, says good-by to her boss and starts for Halifax with certain memorized information as to where a certain fleet of ships are to meet their convoy. . . .

She's kidnaped by Nazis, whose plans go awry thru a traffic accident—that brings young Dr. Mitchell Lewis [hospital intern] into the scheme of things. . . And from here on events are hectic. . . . Enemies in high places and in the guise of the good prove daily perils to the intrepid and ingenious young people.

I mustn't tell you any more of the story—but it's a humdinger.

Nancy Coleman—newcomer and BRIGHT!—and John Garfield make a foxy and engaging team. Raymond Massey is smooth and terrifying as psychiatrist of renown. . . .Another exciting performance is presented by Moroni Olsen.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., April 5.

Sunday—Up late, after an early morning parting with the Preston Sturgeses, and a day's work, and then to Philo Higley's levee for Mitch Rawson. . . . A riffle thru the note book discloses: George Stevens leaves soon for New York to try to talk Katharine Hepburn into appearing in his film version of "The American Way," for Columbia. . . . The W. C. Fields sequence in the episode "Tales of Manhattan" is still in the picture, pending some more sneaks. But it might be dropped—not because it isn't funny, for it is; but because it is slapstick and thought in some quarters to be out of key with the rest of the picture. . . . Margo is due to test for the rôle of Maria in "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Other main candidates are Betty Field and Zorina . . . and Leyla Georgie, who was in "What Price Glory," is up for a test as Pilar.

Monday—No account stuff until tea time, when I pay a call on Billie Burke and we talk of Ziegfeld, John Drew, the stage, Joan Crawford, and the movies. . . . .The mail brings some nominations for the rôle of John Philip Sousa in the forthcoming "Stars and Stripes Forever." W. F. Edwards suggests Paul Whiteman. John Meklanos wants, in this order, Gary Cooper, Randolph Scott, and Victor McLaglen. . . . Flim companies are hopeful of selling their yearly "product," as the word goes, a quarter of a year at a time, instead of in the present blocks of five.

Tuesday—To RKO, which has started production again after a two-month holiday. First picture under the wire is "Army Surgeon," which starts with the old war and ends with the new one and has Jane Wyatt in front of a camera again—and high time. . . . In the evening to a neighborhood house to catch up on P. Sturges' "Sullivan's Travels" and P. Goddard's "The Lady Has Plans." I preferred the latter to the former, altho heaven help me, I'm a Sturges' fan from way back and I had thought his script for "Travels" was splendid.

Wednesday—Home work . . . Metro's John Considine has placed under personal contract one Vicki Lane, age 16, whom he found at the Bliss-Hayden theater. He thinks she's a young Helen Hayes—and my goodness! If he's right he's got somethin', because the other young Helen Hayes is pretty good. . . . Hunch: Spencer Tracy opposite K. Hepburn in "The American Way." Frederic March and Florence Eldridge did it on the stage.

Thursday—To Ray Corrigan's ranch at Simi, thutty-fo'ty mile away, where Cover Girl Kay Aldridge is trying to break her beautiful neck as the heroine of a Republic serial, "Perils of Nyoka." . . . Ray makes quite a thing out of his ranch, as do some of his neighbors, renting it out as a location for western, jungle, or desert pix. Corrigan, born Ray Benard in Milwaukee, used to be one of the Three Mesquiteers at Republic, now is a Monogram cowboy. The story is that he got his start in movies playing an ape, and had a $3,500 ape suit as his sole asset. Now he's a western hero and a landlord and rancher besides.

Friday—To Metro for a talk with Sidney Franklin on the production of "Mrs. Miniver," and then to 20th-Fox for a look at "Moontide." I will now make you a little bet that the year's hot new box office star is here—Jean Gabin. Gabin has been known, of course, to the Art Cinema, fanciers of French flickers, principally because he was Pepe Le Moko. But he isn't known yet to United States customers at large, and he left me cold in the French stuff. Twentieth-Fox has had him on hand about eight months waiting for him to learn English and carefully tailoring an introductory vehicle. "Moontide," Willard Robertson's novel of the love of a San Pedro dock worker and a hash house girl [Ida Lupino] has been perfectly tailored into believable talk by John O'Hara. Sentimental, funny, and sometimes dramatic talk. And that Gabin! He has humor and charm and Ess Ee Ex.

Saturday—Biggest day's movie news comes out of Washington—that army emergency relief and navy relief society will sponsor a Hollywood Victory Caravan to tour the United States in a series of benefit performances. Goes without saying it will be a topnotch troupe. . . . Humphrey Doulens and Lily Pons in town, winding up a tour next week. Soon as the tour ends, Doulens, concert manager, goes into the navy and reports at the Great Lakes station.

Dutch East Indies Lecture.

When Cleaning House Think of Sally's Friends

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

With the approach of the moving and housecleaning season, readers frequently find many useful items which they no longer need and wish to give away. There are few things that we are not glad to have or cannot place with poor families or individuals, but this service cannot take place overnight.

In order to avoid the possibility of misunderstandings or disappointments, it might be well to explain our routine. We have no pickup service, and for that reason we are unable to accommodate readers who telephone on April 30 to donate furniture with the stipulation that it be moved by May 1.

To place any item, it is necessary for us to notify the person in need of it. Since most such applicants have no telephone service, a day or two must be allowed for notification by mail. Funds are not instantly available to most of the men and women listed in our files, and it may be necessary to wait for the next pay day or the next relief check before carfare or money for cartage can be obtained. In the case of a social service agency which has requested aid, the situation, with regard to funds, is much the same.

This department does not arrange trades or exchanges of any kind—the only acceptable offers of help are outright donations.

With so many needy listed on our files, we'll be pleased to have the davenport for which you will have no room in your new apartment, or the furnishing items that are not suitable with your new color scheme, if they are clean and usable.

But please notify us of your donations as early as possible and allow us at least a week to make arrangements for transportation.

Stage Notes

Seats go on sale today at the Blackstone theater boxoffice for "Good Night Ladies!" the comedy due next Sunday night with Buddy Ebsen and Skeets Gallagher. There will be performances every evening and matinées on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

First Chicago performance of the Kaufman-Ferber play, "The Land is Bright," will be given by the Uptown players at the Civic theater on April 17 and 18.

Sponsor Concert Today.

The Musicians' Club of Women will sponsor a concert at 2:30 o'clock today at the Cordon club in the Fine Arts building.

Sarah Hackett Stevenson Memorial Trustees to Meet

Board members of the Sarah Hackett Stevenson Memorial will hold an open luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock Thursday in the institution at 2412 Prairie avenue. Mrs. Frank Gamerl, newly elected to the presidency, will conduct the business conference. Among the trustees of the home, which is in its 50th year of service to destitute women and children, are Mrs. Jones Jarratt, Matthew Mills, Mrs. Clayton D. Eulette, and Judge John O'Connell.

Nutrition Class Today.

A newly organized class in nutrition will hold its opening session at 2 o'clock today at Chicago Hadassah headquarters, 8 South Dearborn street.

"First Aid Primer," written by a doctor and a food and nutrition expert, is a good buy for any household right now. M. Barrows & Co., Inc., New York, is publisher, and the cost is $1 at your book store. In addition to illustrated first aid techniques, the book treats emergency feeding, and "morale thru nutrition."

Small, condensed, and practical, this book is a handy guide and reference. Authors are Hermann Leslie Wenger, M. D., and Eleanora Sense, food and nutrition editor of American Home magazine.

Another little book on herb cookery has made its appearance. It's attractively assembled and contains a good many savory recipes. Called "A B C of Herb Cooking," it was written by Mary Grosvenor Ellsworth and Patricia Winter for House of Herbs, Inc., Canaan, Conn. It's available at book stores for $1.

This is slightly out of the cookery line, but worth mentioning for the sake of hostesses who are in need of "something to do" for party entertainment. It's a set of party games called "Never a Dull Moment." Samples: Sheets listing advertising slogans to be identified; "front page Mother Goose" quiz, done headline style ["Men and Horses Fail to Revive Crash Victim"—Humpty D., of course!]; drawing games; action games. At least one loop store has the set in its stationery and toy departments. I'm going to try my sample set of games this very week-end, and expect to have fun!

Guy Murchie, TRIBUNE reporter just back from two years in England, has interesting information about what British cooks are doing about wartime rations. Odd meat cuts, such as sheep's head, ox cheeks, lamb tails, clods [folds of flesh hanging under the necks of cattle], are being cooked. Venison and rabbit meat are being urged upon housewives. Vegetable peelings, fruit skins and pits, meat bones, bacon and cheese rinds are used to flavor soups, sauces, stews.

Carrots, because of their contribution of vitamin A, which is helpful in enabling people to see better in blackouts, are used liberally. Oatmeal is a cheap and plentiful food. A carrot and oatmeal porridge is a British wartime dish. Nothing but oatmeal, carrots, salt, and water are used in it. "Patriotic pudding" is a sugarless steamed dessert made with flour, oatmeal, jam, carrots, and milk. When raisins and spice are added the pudding is called "sweet surprise."

British cooks are being instructed to make use of the many edible wild foods, the green leaves, such as dandelion and nettle, good for soups and salads [the sting is taken out of the nettles by immersing them in boiling water], gray squirrels, eels, and snails.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

A perfect main dish for a spring luncheon party are eggs prepared after this prize recipe. Mrs. G. C. Edwards, 804 Wheaton avenue, Wheaton, wins today's prize of $5 for "Luncheon Eggs." The recipe serves 10, but you can cut in half for a family supper, if you like.

You, too, may have a $5 prize recipe tucked away in your files. Write up that pet recipe of yours, listing ingredients in the order of use and giving standard, level measurements and clear, complete directions. Send your entry to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Luncheon Eggs.
[Serves Ten.]

¼ pound potato chips
3 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
10 ounce can mushroom soup
10 hard cooked eggs

Crumble potato chips until like cornflakes. Cook green pepper in butter for 3 minutes. Add flour, mixing well. Add milk and salt; cook until thickened. Stir in mushroom soup, blending thoroly. Sprinkle ½ of the potato chips on the bottom of a large, greased casserole or baking dish. Cut eggs in lengthwise halves and place cut side upon potato chips. Cover with another ½ of the chips. Pour cooked mixture over this and sprinkle with remaining potato chips. Bake for 20 minutes in moderately hot [375 degree] oven.

[Send in your favorite recipe.]

Jumper with Gay Blouse

WOMAN'S AND MISS' JUMPER DRESS.

This season smart women are wearing brightly hued and patterned blouses, the kind with full sleeves, with their tailored jumpers. Today's design is beautifully styled.

Style No. 3505 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for jumper; 2 yards for long-sleeved blouse; 1½ yards for short-sleeved blouse.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, [coin preferred—wrap it carefully] for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The spring pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

I concede, without question, that the caliber of bridge play has improved enormously in the last few years. Nevertheless, I agree with J. C. Stablein of Seattle, Wash., who asks with obvious skepticism: "I wonder how many players who really fancy their game would emerge victorious with the following pretty hand!"

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ J 10 7 2
♥ 9 5 2
♦ J 6 4
♣ A 10 9

WEST
♠ Q 6 5
♥ Q 5 4
♦ A K 9 2
♣ 6 5 2

EAST
♠ 4
♥ K 7 3
♦ Q 10 8 7 5

SOUTH
♠ A K 9 8 3
♥ A J 10 8
♦ 3
♣ K Q J

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 spade | Pass | 2 spades | Pass |
| 4 spades | Pass | Pass | Pass |

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the ace. South ruffed and laid down the ace and king of spades, hoping to drop the queen. Unfortunately, trumps did not break and declarer now was in serious difficulty. He crossed to the ace of clubs and led the nine of hearts thru. West won with the queen, cashed the spade queen, and then led another diamond, forcing South to ruff with his last trump. Now there was no way to shut out East's king of hearts, and the contract was down one.

It should have been obvious to declarer that he could well afford to lose one spade trick [which he might have to lose in any event] if he could hold his heart loss to one trick. This, however, would almost surely involve leading hearts twice from the dummy, and to do so declarer would have to create a second entry. After the spade queen fails to drop on the first round, declarer should lead a low spade to dummy's 10, cheerfully conceding the queen. South then can ruff the return diamond lead, enter dummy with a trump [drawing the last adverse trump] and take his first heart finesse. It loses, but the club ace remains in dummy for the vital second heart finesse. The concession of the spade queen, altho it does not make the contract safe against any lay of cards, is by all odds the best "percentage" play.

Women Voters' League Will Open Office Today

The National League of Women Voters will begin preparation for the biennial convention today with the opening of headquarters in the Palmer House where the convention will be in session April 28 to May 1. Miss Helen Semmerling of the league's national staff arrived from Washington yesterday to take charge of the bureau. The steering committee will have its first meeting today.

Dear Diary BY BECKY

I SHOULD HAVE TAKEN UP INTERIOR DECORATION

Coat and Dress Combine Thrift and High Style

BY REA SEEGER.

One reasonably sure way of getting your money's worth of fashion combined with practical qualities—such as color, contrast or contrast of thin and thick materials—is to purchase a costume or ensemble of dress and coat. Companion pieces that are painlessly separable, thereby achieving that practical purpose, usually consist of the classic long coat of bright wool [dark if you must] and a printed dress. It's a time tested success for any wardrobe and for any clothes allowance.

This spring when every penny is counted three or four times, when thrifty shopping makes you patriotic, when a foundation outfit means all the difference between a dull wardrobe and one that earns compliments wherever you go, these thick and thin two-somes are first choice. Never have the designers presented such good looking models, so many distinctive contrasts. The coats are smartly and knowingly designed, so as to top smoothly any sort of a dress from silk to summer seersuckers. And the brilliantly colored wool coats provide all the lift any dejected individual or wardrobe needs these temper trying days of wartime.

There are dozens of bright red wool coats, eye-filling yellows and all the fascinating gold tones. . . . There are coats of every imaginable shade of green, from lime, chartreuse, and sage to the stunning dark greens the color of asparagus stalks. Pale beige, to copper, violet tones to purple, even some luscious pastels like bonbon pink and water color blue and the many subtle tones of gray are some of the coat colors with which to juggle the various dresses of prints, checks, stripes, dots, and plaids.

Most of these coat and dress ideas flaunt gay printed dresses with dark backgrounds against which are the bright colors, one of which is dramatized with the color of the wool coat, sold as part of the two piece costume.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

How's Your Vocabulary?

In the armed forces, as in business, vocabulary is the basis of many tests.

"What has vocabulary to do with winning a war?" the young recruit asks.

"What has vocabulary to do with operating a Comptometer?" the young business woman asks.

The answer is: It is one of the yardsticks by which the mental scope, perception, and aptitude of a person can be measured.

So here is another word test: In the following paragraph words which have the same sound but a different meaning have been substituted for the correct words. For example, hair for hare; so for sew. There are 18 of them.

"The old man walked down the lain and said, half to himself, "It seems like old times to sea young folks peddling their bicycles, instead of driving those high powered motor cars. Yes, sir, all this talk of waist, and bear necessities may knot do such a lot of harm after all. Why, we used to think it grate fun to ride down to the in at night and stand around just to teas the girls who went by. Some of the old men used to have a few biers, but we never did. Guess we were afraid we'd get in a jamb of sum kind. We had a little sarsaparilla—and our parents didn't have to bale us out of jail for that. I guess young folks don't change much. A lot of them are walking down the church isle now . . . and the women folks are slipping the yolks around the men folks' necks and calling it wholly matrimony just the same as when Molly and I stopped in at the parson's to have the not tied."

Don't Embarrass the Boss.

"Do secretaries sometimes embarrass the boss who doesn't dictate easily?"

"Yes," said a speaker before the South Park way YWCA career girl conference.

"There's no blue print for the relationships of co-workers and employer. It resolves itself into getting along with people. In the small, as well as the large office, definite rules are needed of hiring and firing, of work and relaxation, of sick leaves, vacations, starting salaries and promotions."

It's a Bargain When—

Hyman of Hyde Park says: "Speaking of bargains—a bargain is any article which can be purchased cheaper on the first floor than in the basement."

Women at Work.

Thoughts for Army day: The women's bureau, United States department of labor, has made a study of the demands for . . . and the shortages of office workers. Uncle Sam, in the last year, has added the names of more women office workers to his pay roll than any other employer.

The war department has 70,000 women on its pay roll. In Washington, now, there are 11,000 [an increase of 8,000 within the year].

The navy has doubled its feminine force. Ninety-five per cent of the government's 40,000 stenographers are women. Women are paid the same entrance rate as men in the same job classification. Examinations are kept open continually for stenographers, typists, tabulating machine, and alphabetic card punch operators for this vast growing army of women workers.

U. of Michigan Alumnae to Meet at Dinner Tomorrow

The Chicago association of the University of Michigan alumnæ will have a dinner meeting at 6 o'clock tomorrow in the College club, 30 North Michigan avenue. "Home Decorating" will be the springtime topic of a talk by Miss Wilma Demuth.

Circular Pineapple Doily

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Circular crocheted doilies created in a pineapple design are quick and easy pastime work, requiring little concentration. One doily may be made in a couple of hours and a complete luncheon set may be available for use at a moment's notice. Ivory, mercerized, crochet cotton is extremely effective when placed against a highly polished table and sets off one's china service to perfection.

For instructions in crocheting the circular pineapple doily, No. 1086, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Women Voters Urged to Know Office Seekers

As the time for primary elections in many states nears, increased activity to assure the election of capable legislators is urged upon all members of the League of Women Voters in a message addressed to them today by their national president, Miss Marguerite M. Wells of Minneapolis, Minn.

While stressing that the league will continue its policy not to indorse candidates, Miss Wells calls upon members, in their individual capacity as well informed citizens, "to become active and effective in all the nominating processes." Voters should be reminded, she tells them, that the choice of candidates is made in primaries, and that in November the choice will have become narrowed.

Simultaneously with the issuance of Miss Well's message, national league headquarters in Washington, D. C., has sent to all state leagues the voting records of congressmen on important foreign policy measures and recurring domestic issues for distribution in the legislator's own district, the object of this campaign being "to see that a congress is elected in November which is capable of dealing with problems it will face, particularly those of postwar organization for peace."

The problems facing the people's congressional representatives, says Miss Wells, are of a magnitude to demand only men and women of "sterling quality," the best, in fact, that America affords. "No man or woman is too good," she declares, "to be called upon for such service." The congressional roll call, it is expected, will receive a wide pre-primary distribution. The national league also is dispatching to the state branches questionnaires for congressional nominees.

Beginning today and continuing thru Friday, a motion picture, "The Fight for Honest Ballots," to instruct poll watchers, will be shown at 10:30 o'clock and at 2 in the Illinois league's headquarters at 225 North Michigan avenue. There will be a special showing at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday for husbands of league members and other men who have enlisted for service on April 14 with the poll watchers.

Get Your Feet Into Condition for Long Walks

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Everything seems to point toward putting our feet into active service again. We were just about to start a little boom of our own about the joys and beauty that might result from a bicycle built for one. However, with things as they are in the bicycle world today, we're afraid that now our cycling propaganda becomes one of the duration "outs." But don't weep about that. It's not much of a sacrifice for us adults, anyway, altho the youngsters probably think their world of fun and travel pretty well hampered, as they're the great majority of bicycle riders. There always are those pedal extremities of our own to put into active, dutiful service..

So, instead of bicycle talk, we suggest that women had better begin using those tender feet. Some of them are going to be found virtually out of commission, so accustomed have they become to the pampered life of inactivity. We're not suggesting you start out with three miles a day, either.

New setting up exercises are worked on the theory of 10 times a day to start with, gradually increasing. We suggest this policy for footwork, as well. Ten at first, say; then on to 15, to 20. Then into mileage, as your breath comes more easily and your feet respond with greater ability.

You're going to have to do it! You're going to have to do a lot of leg work before we're thru. Better get them moving right now for the big three mile drive daily ahead of you.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

There is more than just a little virtue in getting into the habit of putting on a brand, spanking new makeup, fresh from skin out, during the middle of the business day. The working girl usually feels that there are a hundred other things she'd rather do with her free moments, and so her poor face takes the consequences.

Cleansing tissue is usually the first weapon of assault. Makeup and grime are superficially wiped off and then begins the deadly patching process. A little rouge dabbed on to round out the remnants of what is left from the morning, powder slapped on heavily in the hope of covering up that gray look, a dash of lipstick, a lick at the eyebrows and lashes, a comb run hastily through the hair and milady feels she has really accomplished something in a few minutes.

Something has been accomplished, but it is all bad. The makeup looks just what it is—patched. Besides not looking well, a fine foundation has been laid for all sorts of complexion ills, from blackheads to definitely serious skin ailments.

A not too heavy cleansing cream but rather one that is easily put on and removed is an essential in the working woman's makeup kit. Use it lavishly, removing all the makeup and dirt that has accumulated. And don't spare the cleansing tissues. Use as many as are needed to do the job thoroly. From this point on, be as careful and meticulous about applying the makeup as you are in the morning.

Putting on fresh cosmetics will not only benefit the complexion, but will lift your spirits and give you a new lease on life to see you thru the remainder of the day. Those few minutes spent on your face help you to relax completely. You'll forget the particular problem that is vexing you and when you return to your work you'll find that you think much more clearly and can accomplish so much more. We don't mean to insinuate that you should waste your company's time freshening up every hour, but we do know that a few minutes a day are permissible for just such purposes.

LOUISE DOOLEY.

Easter Seal Sale Totals $12,807 at End of 1st 15 Days

Sales of Easter seals, the proceeds of which go to the Illinois Association for the Crippled, totaled $12,807.84 at the end of the first 15 days of the campaign, as compared to $13,371.66 realized at the end of the same period last year, George H. Williamson, chairman of the campaign, said yesterday he believed the total would reach the 1941 level of $35,000. Many persons are waiting until April before making their donations because of the payments made on income tax in March, he said.

Easter Parties Have an Added Romantic Note

a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pirie Carson of Glencoe does not come as a surprise, for Mr. Carson has been a devoted beau of Miss Hale for some time. Miss Hale attended Northwestern university. Her fiancé, who will be graduated in June from Princeton university, will enter the fall class of the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university. Their wedding will take place next winter after he has received his commission. Mr. Carson's brother, Samuel Jr., recently was accepted as an air cadet by the army.

Miriam O'Connell to Become Bride of Thomas L. Hammond.

At a cocktail party yesterday in their home in Bosworth avenue, Judge and Mrs. John F. O'Connell announced the engagement of their daughter, Miriam, to Thomas L. Hammond, son of Gen. and Mrs. Thomas S. Hammond of Aurora. Miss O'Connell attended St. Mary's at Notre Dame. Her fiancé is an alumnus of the University of Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Lewis Jr. of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann, to John Frederick Frank of Milwaukee, Wis. The wedding is planned for June.

Miss Lewis attended Mills college and Colorado college before entering the Art Institute of Chicago. Her fiancé, son of Herbert E. Frank and Nellie Frank of Milwaukee, was graduated in 1939 from Northwestern university. Following post-graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, he entered the foreign service division of the state department. Until recently he served as vice consul at Cartagena, Colombia, and at present is studying to be a career officer.

Miss Nancy McLaughlin and Donald Fork Wed.

Sharing the romantic interest with this week-end's announcements is the marriage of Miss Nancy McLaughlin to Donald Fork, which took place at 7 o'clock on Saturday night in the Fourth Presbyterian church. The Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson performed the ceremony in the presence of the two families. Later the bride's father, Alexander C. McLaughlin, and Mrs. McLaughlin gave a reception at the Tavern club.

The bride wore an ivory brocade gown and three tiered veil and a string of pearls given to her by her bridegroom. Her flowers were white carnations. Miss Barbara Gammie, who was maid of honor for her stepsister, held a bouquet of red carnations against her blue taffeta gown. John Booth served as best man. Mr. Fork, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Fork of Hinsdale, has taken his bride to Boston, Mass. After his graduation this spring from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he plans to enter the service.

The president and directors of the Arts club have issued invitations to a dinner on Sunday night for Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, duo-pianists. Miss Bartlett, who is Mrs. Robertson in private life, is from England, where she is famed as a beauty and favorite subject of painters. Mr. Robertson is from Scotland. Right after their marriage they continued to pursue their careers separately, but their first joint recital was such a success that they have been giving duo-piano concerts ever since.

Dinner for Dr. Janosza.

The Chicago College club will entertain at dinner tonight for Dr. Joseph P. Janosza, director of the Polish Information center in Chicago, and Mrs. Janosza. After the dinner Dr. Janosza, former associate professor of politechnique of Warsaw, Poland, will speak on "Poland in the New World Order."

MISS LAURETTE O'DONNELL

Miss Laurette O'Donnell's engagement to Alvin G. Dempsey Jr. is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. O'Donnell of Greenwood avenue. Miss O'Donnell was graduated from Rosary college and attended the Villa des Fougeres in Fribourg, Switzerland. At present she is studying for her master's degree at Catholic university in Washington, D. C. Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey of Granville avenue, attended Loyola university.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

Remember Mary?

Little Rock, Ark., April 5 [Special].—"Remember Mary? She's married and divorced again. Can't seem to get the right one. . . . Remember Jane? She has just attained her life's ambition. Four thousand iris bulbs in the ground and, really, her pansies are beautiful. . . . Everybody down here has been reading that Isaiah chapter. You know 3, 18 to 26. . . . The one that ends girdles and hairpins and tires. I don't think they've been reading anything else but first aid. A girl in my first aid class the other day stopped the class when she asked, 'Doctor, do nice people have boils?' . . . O, these people, they're like a bunch of worms in a bottle, feeding off each other and nothing to feed on. . . . What I want is a man who is dark, handsome, and deferred. . . . Yes, it's very strange about her. She has two swords crossed over her mantel. One from each husband. Every one wonders whose is on top. . . . The orchestra leader said he wanted every one to practice. It didn't make any difference whether they were housewives. And they got up and made him apologize. Made them mad."

More About MacArthur.

From the Murfreesboro [Tenn.] Courier in a page devoted to the life of its Jean Marie Faircloth, now Mrs. Douglas MacArthur:

"That importance has been realized fully since the Nashville newspapers sought comment from her friends when a new variety of sweet pea was named for Mrs. MacArthur.

"But one account literally burned up her friends in Murfreesboro. That was a story in a New York newspaper which said that Jean Marie had few boy friends and that the general was her first serious beau. Her friends would have it known that Jean Marie, all her life, was about the most popular girl in town, was always considered just about the most desirable catch, got the best rush at dances, had more beaus than you could shake a stick at, and could have been married a score of times if she'd wanted to accept."

Just another southern belle, and born in a pillared white house that now has been cut into light housekeeping apartments.

BEN HOGAN WINS IN LAND OF SKY GOLF WITH 276

Little Winds Up 2d, a Stroke Back.

Hogan Earns $8,798

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 5 (AP).—Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., in winning $1,000 top money in the $5,000 Land of the Sky Open golf tournament here today increased his earnings for the year to $8,789.

Sammy Snead, who did not compete here, remained in second place with $5,878. Lloyd Mangrum added $103 and stayed in third place with $4,386.

Other leaders: Byron Nelson, $4,322; Lawson Little, $3,479; Chandler Harper, $3,307; Chick Harbert, $2,974; Sam Byrd, $2,866; Herman Barron, $2,292; Herman Keiser, $2,196; Jimmy Thomson, $2,186.

Asheville, N. C., April 5 (AP).—Ben Hogan beat Lawson Little by a stroke to win his third straight Land of the Sky Open golf tournament today. His score was 276.

Ben Hogan.

Hogan, the greatest stretch runner in the game, flashed home with 32 strokes on the last nine holes to make up a three shot deficit in a grim duel. His total for the round was 68.

For Little it was a tragic repetition of last year's final round when Hogan shot a 68 to make up eight strokes and win by two as Little soared to a 76 after shooting a course record 66 in the third round just as he did yesterday.

Doesn't Blow Up This Time.

The only difference was that this year Little didn't blow up. He shot the last nine in even fours and barely missed an eagle 3 on the long 17th. But Hogan was not giving up the title to the $5,000 event that has become his property.

Trailing Little by three strokes after 63 holes, Hogan shot a birdie 3, another birdie 3, a par 4, three more 3s, two of them birdies, in a row to make up five shots in six holes, that put him two ahead going to the 17th. There he 3 putted to drop one of his precious margin, but he got home for a safe 4 on the home hole.

Nelson Takes Third Place.

Third place went to Byron Nelson, another transplanted Texan and former National Open and PGA champion, who closed with a 70 for 278.

Still another Texan was fourth, Jimmy Demaret of Detroit, who took three 6s on the last nine after a brilliant 33 had put him right with the leaders. His total of 283 placed him in a three-way tie with Ralph Guldahl, twice winner of the National Open, and Ky Laffoon of Miami, Okla., who got up with a closing 67, the best round of the day.

The leading scorers:

MASSA CAPTURES STEEPLECHASE AT AGUA CALIENTE

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, April 5.—John Hay Whitney's Massa scampered to a new track record in winning the $10,000 Gran Nacional steeplechase by a nose over his stablemate, Cupid, before 9,000 at the Agua Caliente track today.

Jockey Monk Mergler rode Massa over the 2½ mile 16 jump course in 4:53 minutes, smashing the former track mark of 4:57.3 set by Ship Executive earlier this year.

Massa and Cupid burst from behind on the last jump and left the pace setter, Big Rebel, far behind in third place.

The winner paid $7, $5, and $2.80. Cupid returned $5 and $2.80. Big Rebel, entry of R. H. Crawford of Baltimore, Md., paid $3.60.

Massa earned $8,175 for the victory, while Cupid collected $2,000, and Big Rebel $1,000.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

JIMMIE DKYES doesn't have much sympathy with holdouts, but he once played the rôle himself. . . . One season when he was with the Athletics he demanded $500 more than Connie Mack was willing to pay. . . . He made the training trip with the club, altho he wasn't signed. . . .

The day before the opening game Connie called him to his office and said, "I'm giving you the $500, not because your playing talents deserve it, but because you didn't annoy me by mentioning it during the training period." . . . The unanimous vote of confidence the National Football league owners gave Commissioner Elmer Layden at the New York meeting a week ago was the answer to radio commentators and newspaper snipers who have been hinting there was dissatisfaction in certain quarters over the way Layden had conducted his office. . . . Johnny Butler, one time third baseman of the Cubs and Dodgers, and later a White Sox coach under Lew Fonseca, has been employed as technical director of "Dem Bums," a Warner Brothers movie now in production. . . . Johnny regularly is employed as a guard at the 20th Century-Fox plant. . . . Frank Frisch has announced that if he finds it necessary to punish any member of the Pirates for violation of training rules, he will make public the name of the offender. . . . The war has had no effect on attendance at New York sports events. . . . The recent Louis-Simon fight, an invitational basketball tournament, and the intercity Golden Gloves, all conducted in Madison Square Garden, played to normal-sized gatherings. . . . Another war note: "No good jujitsu wrestler ever has defeated a good American wrestler," says Julius Wagner of Colorado state college. . . . Tokio papers, please copy.

George P. Marshall reports that advance sales of season tickets for the Washington Redskins' home games next fall are heavier than last year, which broke all records for professional football. . . . Pants Rowland, new Jimmy Powers, New York's most widely read sports columnist, dazzles fellow journalists with his fancy shirts. . . . Few people remember that Doc Strub, general manager of the Santa Anita horse track, once played second base for the Sacramento club of the California State league. . . . That's the league which produced Hal Chase. . . . Wonder if Denny Shea's return to Brooklyn as business manager of the football Dodgers presages Dan Topping's enlistment in the navy. . . . The question of freshman eligibility for intercollegiate competition will come up for decision at the meeting of the Southeastern conference in Birmingham shortly. . . . George Zaharias, exclusively a wrestling promotor in Los Angeles a year ago, still is promoting, but pulls on his trunks and does some personal groaning and grunting several times a week.

$25 CHECK TELLS CHICAGO IT GETS WESTERN TENNIS

Beverly Awaits Word on July 19-26 Meet.

BY WILLIAM FAY.

The 55th annual Western tennis tournament will be awarded to the Beverly Hills club of Chicago for the week of July 19 to 26. This announcement has not been made officially, but it will be within a few days, or else the United States Lawn Tennis association committee which sanctions tournaments will have some explaining to do about a canceled $25 check.

Beverly Hills applied for the Western last month. Indianapolis and Kansas City clubs also were bidding. Beverly Hills inclosed with its application a $25 check to cover the sanction fee—a gesture of good faith which every club makes in applying to the USLTA for tournaments.

Ahn! A $25 Shortage?

Saturday morning Beverly Hills officials made the painful discovery that their club checking account was $25 short. The situation cleared up pleasantly, however, when a canceled $25 check payable to the United States Lawn Tennis association was found.

Putting two and two together, and getting exactly $25, the officials deduced the USLTA must have decided to award the Western to Beverly Hills—otherwise the USLTA would not have cashed Beverly's check.

If the USLTA has not made a mistake in its bookkeeping, the awarding of the Western to Beverly Hills will brighten a Chicago summer tournament schedule which lost considerable luster last month when River Forest relinquished the National clay court meeting because of wartime conditions.

Convenient for Juniors.

The July 19 to 26 date will make the Western a natural stopover for the nation's leading junior players who can tarry at Beverly Hills, then go to the Western junior tournament at Kalamazoo [Mich.] college, July 27 to Aug. 1, before competing in the national junior meet at Culver Military academy from Aug. 3 to 8.

This means that Chicago fans probably will get a week long look at Budge Patty of Los Angeles, the junior champion, and Bobby Falkenburg, the 1941 boys' titleholder, who will begin his junior campaigning this summer. Jack Tuero, the New Orleans youngster, who was runner-up to Falkenburg at Culver last summer, is another likely contender.

ME TU FIRST, YU TU SECOND IN DINGHY RACE

Me Tu, sailed by Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Black, won the opening series of Frostbite C class dinghy races sailed yesterday at the Columbia Yacht club. The Blacks score 47 points in the five races in Grant park harbor. Yu Tu was second. Byrne, was third with 36 points.

Pete Paganis won the two races sailed for Columbia Yacht club B class dinghies.

REDS NOSE OUT RED SOX, 2 TO 1, IN MOUND DUEL

Birmingham, Ala., April 5 (AP).—Johnny Vander Meer today became the first Cincinnati Red pitcher to be used for nine innings this spring and yielded four hits to the Boston Red Sox in beating them, 2 to 1.

The southpaw star fanned four and walked only three. Rookie Shortstop Johnny Pesky tripled in the third to score Dom DiMaggio and spoil Vander Meer's bid for a shutout.

The Reds scored a run on three wild throws in the fourth inning to win. Their first run, in the second inning, was made on successive doubles by Frank McCormick and Bert Haas. The only other hits the Reds got off Dick Newsome were a double by Eddie Joost and a single by Lonnie Frey.

BROWNS, 3; BRAVES, 1.

De Land, Fla., April 5 (AP).—Held to four hits, the St. Louis Browns defeated the Boston Braves today, 3 to 1, ending a Florida stand in which they won 14 of 19 games.

Manny Salvo walked four men in the first inning, forcing in a run for the Browns, and Rookie Shortstop Vernon Stephens hit a home run in the fourth. Two singles and an infield out scored the other run in the eighth.

The Braves made 10 hits but it was not until the ninth that they put three singles together for their only score.

DODGERS BEAT ATLANTA.

Atlanta, April 5 (AP).—Five scoreless innings by Hugh Casey helped the Brooklyn Dodgers deal a 4 to 3 setback to the Atlanta Crackers here today before 7,000.

The Southern association club battered Bob Chipman for all their runs in the first three innings. Chipman yielded five singles and issued a walk for the three runs in the second. Casey, however, yielded only two hits in the final five innings and struck out two. Score:

YANKEES, 11; NASHVILLE, 6.

Nashville, Tenn., April 5 (AP).—Eighteen hits by the New York Yankees, including homers by Joe DiMaggio, Charlie Keller, and Tommy Henrich, gave the world champions an 11 to 6 victory over the Nashville Vols today.

DiMaggio's homer was his fifth of the spring training season and lifted the Yankee total to 17 for 27 contests.

The game closed the Yankee schedule with minor league opposition this spring and gave them a record of eight games won and one lost. Manager Joe McCarthy used 19 players.

Bill Lee, Glasses and All, Looks for a Good Season

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Phoenix, Ariz., April 5.—For one thing, Bill Lee's spectacles don't bother him any more. This is the third season Bill has worn the cheaters, but he says they always have annoyed him until very recently. There are other reasons why Bill expects to be right up there among the league leaders.

But he feels that his ability to shake off the fidgets which so long developed from the specs has left him with better health than he's had for years.

Lee, in his good Cub years and bad, always has been a tempermental gent. Not a prima donna, but a high strung chap always. For a while, two years ago, he thought all the advantages gained by improved vision had been balanced by the nervous reactions caused by the vision aids. Bill even slept with the things hooked on him, the better to get accustomed to the nose piece and the darned shaffs cutting into his ears.

Comes the Revolution.

But even in his second year with the contraptions, all last summer, they fretted him. Not only was he irked by the ear hooks and the nose arch, but the tiniest dust particles made him cross-eyed.

Then came the dawn. One day down in Louisiana this past winter he forgot he had glasses. There they were resting on his nose and Bill didn't know it. And his ears were again for hearing instead of just a couple of things to hook spectacle shafts on.

Bill did some throwing to make sure his new found calm persisted in action. And he has worked all spring, at first in the fear that the spec consciousness would reoccur. It didn't; the once nearsighted athlete can see perfectly, he weighs less than he has since 1938, when he won 22 while losing only 9, to lead the National league pitchers in total victories, also percentage. He also led the National league pitchers in earned run averages, with only 2.66.

Sets Sights on 25.

And in 1938 Bill was so nearsighted he had difficulty seeing the plate. Why, if he doesn't break his glasses this year, he ought to win 25 games, provided the Cubs develop some unsuspected hitting power.

The Sox and Cubs will play in Albuquerque, N. M., tomorrow if the transportation holds out. They are left here at 6:20 p. m. over a route that takes them back thru Tucson, which they left at 7 o'clock this morning, on to El Paso, Tex., then to Albuquerque, where they are scheduled to arrive at five minutes before noon.

Johnny Humphries and Bill Dietrich are slated to pitch tomorrow for the Sox. And it will be Claude Passeau and Hi Bithorn for the Cubs.

Bill Herman, Camilli Ill; Reiser Fined

Atlanta, Ga., April 5 (AP).—Dolph Camilli, Brooklyn first baseman, and Billy Herman, second baseman, left the Dodgers today for treatment at Johns Hopkins hospital.

Camilli is suffering from an ailment described as toxic poisoning which has caused stiffening of his neck and back muscles. Herman is the victim of a sacrosciatic condition. They are expected to rejoin the Dodgers in Baltimore on Wednesday.

It was disclosed today that the marriage of Pete Reiser, center fielder, and Patricia Hurt of St. Louis, took place at Titusville, Fla., on March 28 and not yesterday as first believed.

Reiser did not accompany the Dodgers to Fort Benning yesterday and Manager Leo Durocher slapped on a $200 fine. Durocher said the fine would not be rescinded. The Reiser marriage preceded by a day that of Harold [Peewee] Reese, shortstop, and Dorothy Walton of Louisville. It is understood that Reiser has a class 1-A draft rating which is being appealed.

BOB FELLER AND NORFOLK BEAT PORTSMOUTH, 8-0

Portsmouth, Va., April 5 (AP).—With Bob Feller and Freddy Hutchinson, former American league pitching stars bearing down, the Norfolk naval training station blanked the Portsmouth Cubs of the Piedmont league, 8 to 0, today before a crowd of 4,500.

Feller, pitching the first four innings, held Portsmouth hitless, walking four and striking out four.

Hutchinson, pitching the last four innings, yielded the Cubs only two hits in the ninth. Score:

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Phoenix, Ariz., April 5.—The White Sox, who at times are lenient, then again extremely tough, were in the latter mood this afternoon against the Cubs. The American leaguers knocked the National leaguers loose from their caps with a batting fiesta and also went to extremes to make sure the National leaguers' attack was kept down to almost nothing. This combination was good for an easy 9 to 2 triumph, making the fifth for the Sox over their home town enemies with 7 of the 14 scheduled spring exhibitions played.

Manager Jim Wilson elected to try out what he regards as a suitable lineup for operations against southpaw pitching and Jimmie Dykes considerately gave his rival ample opportunity for research. Instead of confining Eddie [Lefty] Smith to the usual five innings Dykes permitted him to linger for seven, during which time the Cubs produced four hits and sent only one man as far as second base. Then Orval Grove was brought forth for the last two innings and it was during his tenure that the National leaguers managed to escape a shutout for the second consecutive day.

Sox Treat Lee Roughly.

Among the mischief indulged in by the Sox, who put together six double plays, were several vicious assaults on Bill Lee, the veteran who hopes that 1942 will be a better year than '41. The south siders pummeled him for four runs in the first inning, two more in the third and one in the fourth. After Lee retired at the end of the fifth the Sox made two runs and three hits off Jess Flores in the sixth. But thereafter the Cub freshman turned out two perfect innings and Hank Wyse did the same in the ninth.

Don Kolloway, who day by day seems to be picking up batting momentum, hit two singles, a double and scored three times, once because of an error. Wally Moses also was a busy fellow, assessing Lee for a pass and a single and Flores for a triple. Taft Wright and Myril Hoag paired singles in both the first and third innings.

Kolloway Beats Out Bunt.

Kolloway opened the game with a bunt which was a test for the third basing of Rip Russell, transplanted from first. Russell didn't expect the maneuver and it became a hit. Lee walked Moses and Murrell Jones, filling the bases with none out. Kolloway scampered home on Luke Appling's fly to Harry Lowrey and Wright's single to left scored Moses. Hoag singled to the same spot and Jones registered while Wright was traveling to third whence he scored the fourth run of the inning on Bob Kennedy's short fly to Novikoff.

The third inning assault on Lee took shape when Appling sent Novikoff in pursuit of a single and Wright provided the Mad Russian with a similar job. Hoag thumped a looping single into right, Appling scoring and Wright pulling up at third. While Lee was holding the ball the Sox pulled a double steal, Wright scoring. The Sox made it 7 to 0 with a fourth inning run on singles by Kolloway and Moses, the former doing the scoring when Russell failed to stop Lowrey's throw-in after Moses' single.

Trouble Greets Flores.

The luck of Rookie Flores was bad the instant he reported for work in the sixth. Tom Turner punched a single past Russell and Smith bunted his battery associate to second. Kolloway drove a double to the left field

ALSAB MAY RUN SIX FURLONGS AT HAVRE DE GRACE

But Conditions Must Be Right, Sabath Says.

Miami, Fla., April 5 (AP).—Alsab leaves here Tuesday morning for Havre De Grace, Md., where he will enter the Chesapeake Stake and perhaps the Chesapeake Trials.

Owner Al Sabath said if conditions are right Alsab will go in the $2,500 Trials April 13. That is a six furlong event, too short for the former juvenile champion, and conditions must be right or he won't run.

The $15,000 Chesapeake Stake will be run over a mile and one-eighth April 18.

Mioland Draws Top Weight.

Sabath declared the horse is in good shape as a result of his Florida rest, and for that reason he decided to ship him direct to Maryland, a change in former plans to send him via Kentucky.

Charles S. Howard's Mioland must carry the top impost of 129 pounds in the $10,000 Tropical handicap, feature event of Tropical Park's closing program Friday.

Here's the List.

Mioland, which broke the Tropical Park record for a mile and a furlong in his only appearance there this spring, was assigned three pounds more than the load given Royce G. Martin's Our Boots.

Other weights assigned for this richest event of the spring meeting were:

Dis and Forter's Cap, 114; Red Dock and The Chief, 112; Sir Marlboro, 109; Get Off and Bull Reign, 108; Up the Hill, 105; Joe Schenck, 104; Minnelusa and Displayer, 102; Ship's Biscuit, Horn Tragic Ending, One Jest, Llanero, Brenner Pass, Cherry Trifle, Alaking, Milk Flip, Eternal Peace, and Signator, 100.

JAMAICA OPENS THURSDAY

New York, April 5 [Special].—New York's 180 day racing season will open Thursday at the Jamaica track with most observers agreed the campaign will be successful despite the war.

Jamaica's 27 day meet will continue thru May 9, to be followed by Belmont Park's 24 day session. Then will come Aqueduct and Empire City and the swing up-state to Saratoga during August. In the fall the sequence of meetings will be Aqueduct, Belmont, Jamaica, and Empire City.

Eight Stakes at Jamaica.

Eight stakes will feature spring racing at Jamaica. The Paumonok handicap, traditional opening day stake, is at six furlongs for 3 year olds and upward and carries $7,500 added. It has attracted many of the best known sprinters in training.

The first Saturday of the Jamaica session finds the $5,000 added Experimental handicap down for decision. This is another speed test of six furlongs and is for 3 year olds. At the end of each session, Handicapper Jack Campbell weights the season's juveniles. This was done last December, on the basis of what had been shown in 1941, and in the Experimental the horses will come together at these weights as 3 year olds.

Wood Memorial Tops Card.

The big event of the meet is the $25,000 added Wood Memorial, main eastern prep for the Kentucky Derby.

The second richest race of the session is the $15,000 added Grey Lag handicap, mile and a furlong run set for the final day. Horses of 3 years and upward are eligible.

The other stakes are the $10,000 added Excelsior handicap, $5,000 Rosedale stakes, and $5,000 Youthful stakes. Only juvenile fillies are eligible for the Rosedale, while 2 year old colts, geldings, and fillies may start in the Youthful. The Excelsior is at a mile and a sixteenth for older horses.

CANADIAN HEADS NEW SKI UNION OF THE AMERICAS

New York, April 5 (AP).—Skiing enthusiasts of the United States, Canada, Chile, and Bolivia completed organization of the ski union of the Americas today by electing Frederick A. Hall of Toronto president. The first president of the international group, formed to promote amateur skiing in the western hemisphere, also heads the Canadian Amateur Ski association.

In accordance with the statutes of organization adopted by the union, vice presidents were named from each of the other three countries. Dr. R. S. Elmer of Bellows Falls, Vt., president of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski association, was elected vice president from this country. Other vice presidents are Agustin R. Edwards, president of the Ski Club Chile of Santiago, and Raul Posnansky, president of the Club Andino Boliviano of La Paz, Bolivia, neither of whom attended the meeting.

The ski congress, which will be the governing body of the union, voted to hold biennial meetings, alternating between North and South America.

N. U. NINE WILL PLAY BRADLEY IN PEORIA TODAY

Peoria, Ill., April 5 [Special].—Four Big Ten games, three of them in Peoria, confront the Bradley Tech baseball team this week as it opens its season. The Northwestern university Wildcats will come here tomorrow, immediately following which the Bradley nine leaves for Iowa City where it meets the University of Iowa on Tuesday.

Saturday afternoon the Braves will entertain Wisconsin in a doubleheader on Bradley field. Bradley plays the University of Illinois in Champaign a week from Tuesday.

Coach A. J. Robertson has indicated that Major Darst, sophomore righthander, probably will be the starting pitcher against Northwestern, with Dick Haack of Hammond, Ind., likely to start against Iowa.

TENNIS MAROONS' ONLY HOPE FOR BIG TEN TITLE

The University of Chicago's tennis team, runner-up in the Big Ten last year, is bent on taking the championship this season to prevent 1942 from being the first year since 1925 in which no Chicago team won at least one Western conference title. The Maroons open their schedule against Iowa April 24 on the Midway.

Calvin Sawyier, Chicago's No. 1, heads the strong list of returning regulars. An analysis gives the Maroons an early season edge over Michigan's champions, who have lost Jim Tobin, their No. 1 man, and the Wildcats, who suffered a serious blow when Bobbie Jake, No. 2, was hurt in a basketball game.

Champion Defends Berth.

Walter Kemetick, the Maroons' only singles champion, will defend his berth in the No. 2 division this season. Bill Self again will be at No. 3 and Bob Lifton will play No. 4.

In an intrasquad tourney scheduled for this week, Coach Walter Hebert will match last year's No. 5 and No. 6 men against a half dozen newcomers for the bottom singles bracket berths. Ralph Johansen, runner-up in the conference No. 5 competition, and Grover Daly, semi-finalist in the No. 6 matches, will defend their positions on the team against Dave Martin, who paired with Johansen to win the No. 3 doubles championship.

Loss of the Big Ten fencing title to the Illini after they had held it for six straight years, plus the dropping of conference competition in water polo, another sport in which Chicago has been strong, left the Maroons without a single title at the end of the winter sports season.

Tennis Is Only Hope.

Consequently the tennis team is virtually the only hope on the Midway for a Big Ten title this year. The Maroon track forces are far too weak, and altho both golf and baseball teams have shown some improvement, it is hardly likely either will capture a championship.

On the other hand, the Maroons would be stepping back into a familiar rôle if they won the tennis honors. Since the team tournament was established in 1934, Chicago has taken five of the eight titles, and in the preceding 25 years Chicago had either a singles or a doubles winner or both in 16 meets. The last Chicago team title was won in 1939 when the Murphy twins, Bill and Chet, both now serving with the navy, won the No. 1 singles and doubles honors.

The 1942 schedule follows:
April 24—Iowa at Chicago.
April 25—Wisconsin at Chicago.
April 28—Northwestern at Chicago.
May 2—Chicago at Michigan.
May 4—Chicago at Northwestern.
May 7—Chicago at Notre Dame.
May 11—Illinois at Chicago.
May 12—Minnesota at Chicago.
May 14 to 16—Big Ten meet at Ohio State.

GEORGIA TAINTER WINS MATCH IN AUGUSTA GOLF

Augusta, Ga., April 5 (AP).—Medalist Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., led the field into the second round of the 12th Forest Hills Augusta Women's Invitational Golf tournament today as all ranking players came thru.

In launching the match play Miss Tainter breezed home with a 6 and 5 conquest of Mrs. Robert Monsted, New Orleans, La. Her quarter-final opponent tomorrow will be Mrs. Charles Harbaugh of Cleveland, who defeated Mrs. Walker Nixon of Augusta, 5 and 4.

Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, defending champion, overwhelmed Mrs. Pearl Swasey of Portland, Me., 9 and 8, for the right to meet Mary Jane Garman of Sarasota, Fla., tomorrow. Miss Garman advanced at the expense of Mytris McKenzie of Augusta, 9 and 7.

What shapes up as the bitterest of the quarter-finals skirmishes will send Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., against Eileen Stulb, Augusta. Miss Suggs kept in the running with a 6 and 4 rout of Mrs. T. E. Nolan of New Castle, Pa., while Miss Stulb coasted to an 8 and 6 triumph over Mrs. O. B. Keeler of Atlanta.

Jane Crum of Orangeburg, S. C., trounced Mrs. Ros Lombard, Augusta, 9 and 8. Her next opponent will be Jane Cline of Bloomington, Ill., who drew a bye today.

Illini Nine to Face Chanute Field Tomorrow

Champaign, Ill., April 4 [Special].—The University of Illinois baseball team will open the home season on Illinois field Tuesday against Chanute Field. On Friday and Saturday the Illini will play Indiana here.

Bettina Goes to Work for Friday's Battle

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Heavyweight Melio Bettina (left) entering Catholic Youth organization gymnasium yesterday for workout, accompanied by Billy Gore (center), his trainer, and Billy Murray, who fights on the same card Friday in the Stadium. Bettina meets Booker Beckwith in the windup bout.

Bettina carefully tapes his hands before working out.

Melio Bettina Starts Drills for Battle with Beckwith

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Melio Bettina, one of the few southpaw boxers to gain recognition as a heavyweight contender, yesterday opened training in CYO center gymnasium for a 10 round bout against Booker Beckwith in Chicago Stadium Friday. The 25 year old fighter from Beacon, N. Y., did only light loosening up exercises, but he will start sparring sessions in the gym this afternoon.

Melio orginally was scheduled to work out in Trafton's gymnasium. Trainer Billy Gore changed to the CYO when he learned Beckwith has established training quarters at Trafton's.

Victims Include Bobo.

Bettina, possessed of a sparkling personality, took a big stride in his campaign for a shot at Joe Louis' title by beating Gus Dorazio in Philadelphia recently. It was the hammered down Melio's [he is only 5 feet 8 inches tall] 10th straight victory and was one of his most notable achievements, inasmuch as Gus holds a decision over Bob Pastor.

Bettina's victims include Harry Bobo, Pittsburgh giant, who scored a first round knockout over Lem Franklin on March 30.

Bettina, 1934 inter-city Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, expects to receive his chance against Louis sometime next summer in Chicago, Philadelphia, or Cleveland. He was all set to face the Brown Bomber in Madison Square Garden last March 27, but Abe Simon was substituted when Jimmy Grippo, Melio's manager, declined to accept the advice of Promoter Mike Jacobs in regard to a match between Bettina and Mose Brown.

Thinks He Can Beat Louis.

Jacobs did not want Bettina to go thru with the match against Brown in Pittsburgh on Jan. 12 and when this order was disobeyed the New York boxing czar replaced Melio with Simon against Louis despite the fact that Bettina defeated Brown. This incident caused Bettina's backers to charge that Louis fears their protégé because of his unorthodox style. Louis never has met a southpaw.

Bettina, who has been boxing since he was 13 years old, would like nothing better than a match with the champion.

Another reason for Bettina's rejection as Louis' opponent in the bout of last month is that last February he was given a 1-A draft classification. Two brothers already are in the service, Frank being in the navy and Joe, also a boxer, being in the army.

O, Yes—Beckwith!

While discussing his chances in the proposed contest with Louis, Beckwith never once was mentioned. Finally some one in the audience said: "Well, talking about Louis is all right, but, Melio, you better first get by Beckwith."

Bettina realizes that, altho his attitude doesn't suggest it. It was said he has a hard time with small fellows such as Beckwith, who weighs only 171 pounds. His trainer said Melio shows to better advantage against the big boys.

Bettina was accompanied by Billy Murray, his lightweight stablemate of Bellaire, O., who will oppose Robert Earl, former city Golden Gloves 135 pound title holder, in a six round preliminary event on the Stadium program. An additional six rounder will bring together Joey Pirrone, Cleveland junior welterweight, and Annunzio Ferraro of Milwaukee.

Before Bettina appeared yesterday, Tony Motisi, Catholic Youth organiaztion welterweight, sparred four rounds with two partners for a 10 round secondary feature Friday against Harry Teaney.

THREE ST. LOUIS ROOKIES RETURN TO THE MINORS

St. Louis, Mo., April 5 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns have optioned Clarence Iott, rookie southpaw, to San Antonio and the Cardinals have sent George Munger to Columbus and Alvin Jurisich to New Orleans, it was announced by the clubs today.

Munger pitched for Sacramento and Jurisich for New Orleans last season. Both are right handers. Iott, whom the Browns called "another Lefty Grove in the making," was with Paragould, Ark., in 1941.

MAHONEY FACES BOLDEN TONIGHT IN 10 ROUND BOUT

Paulie Mahoney will meet Nate Bolden, 1937 intercity Golden Gloves middleweight champion, in a 10 round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. The handsome Irish light heavyweight of Buffalo will be facing one of the strongest boxers at his weight in this section in Bolden.

Mahoney, who is 25 years old, demonstrated his ability to absorb punches in a battle with Ken Overlin, former New York 160 pound title holder, in Buffalo on March 11. It was a hard fight, altho Paulie lost the decision. In a subsequent match, Mahoney showed considerable ability while outpointing Jimmy Mandell, also in Buffalo, March 25. He possesses an educated left hand, a weapon which may give Bolden trouble.

Mahoney Given a Chance.

Since Bolden, a classy boxer, is only as good as he wants to be, Mahoney is given a chance to spring a surprise. Nate, who looked impressive while beating Jimmy Reeves last March 2, was far from spectacular while scoring a victory in 10 rounds over Joe Sutka three weeks later.

Harold Lang, who is 6 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 220 pounds, will make his professional debut under the direction of Jesse Darcy in a four round event against Lou Campbell of the south side. Additional matches of four rounds will bring together Joey Collins, Milwaukee welterweight, and Jerry Pittro, and Bill Parsons, Danville, Ill., lightweight, and Al Jackson.

Pierce Faces Brent.

Billy Pierce, West Allis, Wis., middleweight, and Luther Brent will be contestants in a six round event. Pierce will be in quest of his seventh consecutive decision, his previous victims being Bob Berry, Stanley Murczek, Vince Calzaretto, and Mike Edwards, the latter two twice each.

Sammy Secreet, Canonsburg, Pa., welterweight, will enlist in the navy as a coxswain today or tomorrow, it was reported yesterday. He is to be inducted at Great Lakes April 14, the day after he encounters Willie Joyce in 10 rounds in the Marigold arena. Secreet's original foe on April 13 was Mike Evans, but the Philadelphia fighter withdrew to clear the way for Joyce.

2,000 WATCH AS VIKINGS DEFEAT SWEDES, 6 TO 2

Schwabens Score 4 to 3 Upset Over Nickeloids.

BY OFFSIDE.

The Vikings, showing the form displayed last year when they won the Major Soccer league title, swamped the Swedish-Americans, 6 to 2, yesterday in a league game in Winnemac park before 2,000 fans.

The victors opened scoring in the first minute after kicking off against the wind when Nels Brostrom received a pass from Roscoe Anderson and drove past Goalie Sandy Kellin. Thirteen minutes later Al O'Hare made it 2 to 0 on a shot from 15 yards out.

Pearson Scores for Swedes.

The Swedes made it 2 to 1 after 24 minutes when Enid Pearson hooked in a high shot from 20 yards out, and it wasn't until 16 minutes later that there was any scoring. Then the Vikings scored again thru Nels Dalquist and at the half they led, 3 to 1.

The Vikings opened the second half scoring by converting a penalty shot. This was followed up by two fast goals from the boot of Roscoe Anderson which ended the goal making until Ray Absil tallied the second Swede goal in the final minute of the game. Lineup:

| VIKINGS [6]. | | SWEDISH-AMERICANS [2]. |
|---|---|---|
| R. Camplin | G. K. | Kellin |

GREAT LAKES AND FORT BOXERS TO CLASH TONIGHT

A team of boxers and wrestlers from Ft. Sheridan will invade Great Lakes tomorrow night. Four of the wrestling bouts will count in the meet point total; the fifth will be an exhibition between Pat Murphy, well known in Chicago pro circles, and Vic Marino, former Ohio State football star. Marino and Murphy are stationed at Great Lakes.

Fort Sheridan will be represented in boxing by Johnny DeFord, featherweight; Al Briere, lightweight; Jack McClintock, welterweight; Leo Renirez, middleweight, and Hud Duckun, heavyweight. Great Lakes' squad will be chosen from Kenneth Dodd, featherweight; Ted Sparrow, lightweight; Charles Gardner, welterweight; Chuck Woods, middleweight; George Feltes, middleweight; Bob Frezier, heavyweight, and Ronald Born, heavyweight.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 5 (AP).—The Indianapolis Capitals won the American Hockey league playoffs, three games to two, tonight by defeating the Hershey Bears, 8 to 3.

SAM SNEAD.

Snead Is Sure He's Done with Those Big 8s

Augusta, Ga., April 5 (AP).—Sam Snead believes his luck may be about to change. And he's going to put it all on the line here this week in a shot at the Augusta Masters' golf crown.

Snead has been trying for that crown since 1937. He almost had it in 1939, setting a new record of 280 for apparent first place, only to have Ralph Guldahl burn the course with a spectacular 33 on the last nine and beat him out by a stroke.

Sam took it on the chin again that same year in the National open in Philadelphia. Perhaps he was remembering Guldahl's great finish when he tried for a birdie on the par five 18th hole—and blew himself out of the tournament with a heartbreaking eight. He tied for eighth in the Masters' in 1940 and tied for sixth in 1941.

Last January in the $10,000 Los Angeles open Snead turned up behind his familiar eight ball. With $3,500 first prize all but in his wallet he flailed out eight strokes on the steep 18th hole—again a par five—and wound up watching Ben Hogan beat Jimmy Thomson in a championship playoff.

Snead never has won the National open, the P. G. A. title or the British open, but don't get the idea he doesn't do right well. He was second high money winner last year with $12,848.

Snead finished his warmup for the Masters' in Greensboro, N. C., last week and skipping Asheville's Land of the Sky open he took a rest.

Gersonde Ties for Third; Zimmerman Is Fifth.

Columbus, O., April 5 [Special].—The largest matinée crowd of the American Bowling congress saw Russ Gersonde of Milwaukee, Wis., and Joe Zimmerman of Gary, Ind., crash the standings of the first 10 in the singles event of the tourney here today.

Gersonde tied Junie McMahon of Lodi, N. J., for third place in the standings by putting together scores of 225, 266, and 236 for a 727 series. Zimmerman took fifth place with a 720 series compiled thru single game scores of 255, 208, and 257.

Day Falls Badly.

Ned Day, world match game champion, was the feature attraction of this afternoon's event, but failed badly, scoring only 485 in the doubles and 594 in the singles. His 585 in the team event brought his all events score to a mediocre 1,663.

THE GUMPS—SOUNDS OF AN UNSOUND HOUND

YOU ARE THE HUSBAND ER—I MEAN, WIFE OF LEFTY WRIGHTE, THE MAN WITH THE TWO LEFT FEET? WHERE IS HE? IS HE REALLY THE MAN WHO STOLE MY "TIGER TOOTH RUBY"? WHY ARE YOU WILLING TO TURN ON HIM AND HELP ME?
PATIENCE, MR. GUMP! I'LL EXPLAIN ALL—
4-6
WHY DID YOU SEND FOR ME? WHERE'S FERDINAND FERRETT?
YES! LEFTY WRIGHTE DID STEAL YOUR FAMOUS GEM! ONLY RECENTLY I FOUND OUT THAT MY HUSBAND IS AN INTERNATIONAL JEWEL THIEF—
GUS EDSON
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright, 1942, by The Chicago Tribune.
WHAT A PERFECT ALIBI HE HAS! HE HAS BEEN FEATURED IN CARNIVAL SHOWS THE WORLD OVER—POLICE WOULD NEVER DREAM OF LOOKING FOR SUCH AN IMPORTANT CROOK IN A FREAK SHOW—BUT MR. GUMP I'M AN HONEST LAW-ABIDING GIRL—
SH! I THOUGHT I HEARD SOMEONE IN THAT ROOM—A GROAN!
GROAN? AH, YES! OF COURSE, THAT'S DEAR LITTLE SARA SUE—MY POOR DOGGIE—SHE HAS SUCH A DREADFUL COLD—

THE LOWLY UPPER BERTH BREAKS INTO BASEBALL

New York, April 5—[Wide World].—The stars at night, will be out of sight, deep in an upper berth when the major league ball clubs hop from town to town this year.

It's a dead cinch the traveling secretaries aren't going to be calling up the passenger agents and casually ordering three Pullmans to be ready at such-and-such a time, and be sure they will be there, complete with air conditioning and the little hammocks for the pitchers' arms.

The ball clubs will take what they can get, and if your favorite first baseman appears a little dead on his feet some day don't be too hard on him. He might have arrived in town that morning sharing his traveling quarters with a dozen horses or a load of steaks still wearing tails.

Pity the Poor Players!

In the past a ball club would use three Pullmans, so every man would have a lower berth to himself. With troop movements having priority over everything, the teams now will be lucky to get two cars, and it would not be surprising to see frequent curt announcements: Game put off; so was team.

The agony which will result from the transportation difficulty is almost too pathetic to contemplate. Imagine ball players traveling in an upper berth! Why, that's practically roughing it; a throwback to the covered wagon days. The next thing the clubs will be asking them to bring along their own blankets, and two sticks of wood to rub together to start a rally. It's bad enough to have to carry their own seventh inning stretch.

Anyway, these boys are used to better things. Sure, maybe they never saw a train until their third year in eighth grade, and thought a thru sleeper was a fellow just getting up in the morning.

What a Comedown.

But it didn't take them long to become accustomed to the position in life which befits a public figure. In no time at all they learned to leave nickel tips, to strut around lobbies of swank hotels, wearing shoes, and to treat with condescending tolerance ordinary citizens who had to work for a living.

And now what do these sons of luxury face? Upper berths. It's like asking a lifeguard to keep an eye on the goldfish. It's something quite beneath their dignity.

The only good point about it is that it offers them an alibi. A pitcher who starts to go up in the air about the seventh inning can tell his manager to go jump in a pond, as what could he expect after a fellow had spent the night at the top of a ladder?

Maybe, from the standpoint of their own well-being, they shouldn't make too much of a squawk. The soldiers for whom they are taking a back seat, or at least an upper berth, are sleeping two to an upper, and you don't hear them complaining. All the soldiers ask is room enough to rest their dogs. That, and a shot at the Japs.

Did They Miss a Bet?

Seriously, in view of the prospective travel difficulties, it is a puzzle why the major owners retained the four trip schedule in place of the three trip program once in effect. The fans might get tired of seeing the same teams play four days in a row, but that's better than seeing a mess of open dates because of nonarrival of teams.

Anyway, then the balmy days arrive—we hope they're bomby for the Nipponese—we don't think there'll be any squawks from anybody, even if the ball players have to ride the rods.

Don't Take Any Back Talk, Ump!

Ernest Heldt found himself in a position yesterday afternoon that many a man would envy—umpire in a girls' softball tournament. No back talk, girls, or you're out of the game! Laura Holder is catching for the Rockola Music Girls and Augie Jadich is at bat for the Match Corporation Girls. Rockola won, 3 to 2; then whipped the U. S. Girls, 10 to 1, last night in the finals of the spring tournament in International ampitheater.

This young lady, Elise Harney, is 17 years old and one of the best softball pitchers in the country. Elsie hurled for Match Corporation.

Rockolas Win

Lonnie Stark pitched the Rockola Music girls to a 10 to 1 victory over the U. S. Girls in the final game of the spring softball tournament last night in the International Amphitheater.

Miss Stark yielded only three hits, struck out six, and did not allow a base on balls. The winners advanced to the final game by defeating the Match corporation girls yesterday afternoon, 3 to 2. The U. S. Girls defeated the Parichy Bloomer girls, 10 to 6, in their semi-final game. Score:

Bills Shower on Red Wings in Clubhouse

TORONTO, Ont., April 5 (AP).—Back-slapping in hockey dressing rooms is pretty commonplace but when the hands that do the whacking contain crisp dollar bills there is absolutely no pain. Eight members of Detroit Red Wings are prepared to vouch for it.

There was the usual bedlam which accompanies victory as the Wings pulled off their uniforms after trimming the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3 to 2, in the opener of the Stanley cup finals last night—and the boys also celebrated because of the philanthrophy of Detroit's two most ardent fans.

Harry Jackson, No. 1 fan and a coal dealer when he's not following the Wings, raced into the dressing room waving currency and promptly distributed $115. Not far behind was fan No. 2, Dave Ferguson, a tool manufacturer, who shelled out $75.

Don Grosso, marksman for two of Detroit's goals, counted $70 as his slice of the victory plum while his line mates Syd Abel and Eddie Wares received $45 and $20 respectively. Goalie Johnny Mowers gained $15 and all four defensemen, Jimmy Orlando, Jack Stewart, Eddie Bush, and Alex Motter were handed $10 each.

The teams will meet here in the second of the best-of-seven series Tuesday night.

MONARCH BLANKS AMBROSIA; GAINS TIE FOR TITLE

The Monarch bowlers clinched at least a tie for the Sunday Classic league bowling title by sweeping three games from Ambrosia last night on the Mayrose Recreation alleys. Monarch now leads Schlitz by three games with only three games remaining on the schedule. In other matches, Schlitz defeated Washington Shirts, Koenig Brau whipped National Bowling, and Pabst won from Blatz: Scores:

OMAHA DEFEATS KANSAS CITY IN HOCKEY PLAYOFF

Kansas City, Mo., April 5 (AP).—The Omaha Knights made it two straight over the Kansas City Americans in their American Hockey association league playoff tonight by winning a 6 to 5 overtime game. It is a three out of five series.

Jimmy Conacher scored the winning goal at 5:40 in the sudden death extra period on assists from Bill Thomson and Harvey Raney. The two teams will battle at Omaha Wednesday night.

McCLURE BEATEN IN TABLE TENNIS TOURNEY FINALS

Cincinnati, O., April 5 (AP).—Dick Miles of New York City upset Jimmy McClure of Indianapolis, former world champion, in the men's singles finals of the middle states open table tennis tournament tonight. Miles won, 21-10, 21-17, 23-21.

Sally Green of Indianapolis, national champion, defeated Leah Thall of Columbus, 12-21, 21-19, 21-8, 21-17, for the women's title.

corner, Turner scoring. Bill Nicholson dashed back to the fence before catching up with a triple off Moses' bat, Kolloway loping home with the ninth run. A pass to Jones came next, but the finish of the inning was speeded up by Appling's grounder which Russell picked up for a double play by way of second base. Dykes then excused most of the regulars.

Lowrey led off against Smith in the first inning with a single but was doubled on Lou Stringer's tap. In the second Babe Dahlgren singled and was stranded on first. Bob Sturgeon opened the third with a hit and he, too, was doubled. Russell experienced a similar fate after surviving on a fumble by Appling in the fourth. A pass to Dahlgren in the fifth and a ticket to Flores in the sixth arranged the setting for two more twin killings. Then Russell doubled in the seventh and thus became the first Cub to reach second base.

Grove Wild at Start.

When Grove took over in the eighth he pitched seven straight balls. The wildness netted passes for Dahlgren and McCullough. Sturgeon singled to left and by the time Rookie Dave Philley finished kicking the ball around, Dahlgren had scored, McCullough was on third and Sturgeon on second. Stan Hack batted for Flores and dispatched a fly to Harry Sketchley, McCullough scoring. Lowrey singled, but Sturgeon stopped at third and that's as far as he ever went because Stringer tapped to Grove for the sixth double play. Grove had no trouble disposing of Russell, Nicholson, and Novikoff in the ninth.

LINCOLN PARK AA SKEET SHOOT WON BY MRS. PALMER

Mrs. Potter Palmer III., W. D. Cox, and Claude Winterrowd tied in the class AAA 12 gauge skeet shoot with scoles of 50 on the Lincoln Park Gun club range yesterday. Mrs. Palmer also won the class AA 20 gauge event with score of 48. Other results:

4 CHICAGOANS KILLED, 2 HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Car Strikes Tree, Plunges Over Embankment.

Four Chicagoans were killed and two others were severely injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding struck a tree in a plunge down a 20 foot embankment. The accident occurred on state route 83 between Grayslake and Ivanhoe in Lake county.

The dead were Mrs. Evelyn Roggatz, 35 years old, 1449 North Wood street; her sons, Richard, 15, and Eugene, 14, and William H. Carr, a moving contractor living at 5009 Grand avenue.

Husband and Son Injured.

Mrs. Roggatz' husband, Walter, 44, a machinist, and another son, Raymond, 12, were taken to the Condell hospital in Libertyville.

Relatives said that the Roggatz family had taken Carr for an Easter ride. Roggatz is believed to have been driving. Marks on the highway indicated that the car had swerved from side to side, out of control, for 300 yards before starting down the embankment.

Automobile Wrecked.

The automobile was wrecked and the dead and injured were strewn upon the embankment.

Martin Connolly, 70, 537 West Garfield boulevard, was killed last night when he walked into the side of a car at Wentworth avenue and Garfield. Martin Halvorson, 24, 8229 Perry avenue, was the driver of the car and was not held.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 207 persons had been killed by autos in Cook county since Jan. 1. One hundred sixty-six of these were killed in Chicago where 5,178 were injured in the same period.

PROPOSE ISSUING FEDERAL BIRTH CERTIFICATES

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—Approximately 44 million Americans who were born in states where birth records were not kept would be able to apply for federal birth certificates under legislation now before the senate military affairs committee.

Chairman Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], who introduced the measure, said it was urgently needed to certify the citizenship of Americans who have been barred from jobs in war industries because they were unable to produce birth certificates, and to combat the charging of exorbitant fees for establishing American birth.

Under his proposal application could be made at any postoffice for a "certified birth record." The fee would be $1. The certificate, bearing the applicant's finger prints, would be granted on submission of an affidavit by the parents, the attending physician, or some other responsible source.

Tendering of false evidence would be punishable by a fine up to $5,000 and imprisonment for five years.

HANGS ON LEDGE 15 MINUTES, THEN FALLS TO DEATH

After two women and a room clerk had sought for 15 minutes to pull him back into the room from a sixth floor window ledge where he was hanging, the fingers of Alf Assen, 36 years old, a navy cook, slipped and he fell four floors to his death last night at 19 West Randolph street.

Assen, whose home was at Thief River Falls, Minn., was visiting in the room of Helen McHugh, a dice girl. Present, but asleep, was Darlene Day, 23, of 22 South Clark street. Miss McHugh said she was sewing and the first she knew was when Assen called for help from outside the window.

The body landed on a setback at the second floor level, on the south side of the building after the two women and the clerk, Max Finn had tried to pull Assen back inside. Finn had gone for more help when Assen fell.

Girl, 9, Overcome in Home with Sister, Cousin, Dies

Joyce Schmidt, 9 years old, 1921 North Pulaski road, died at the St. Elizabeth's hospital yesterday where she was treated for asphyxiation. George Schmidt, her father, discovered her Saturday with her sister and a cousin lying unconscious on beds to which police believed they staggered after a gas water heater had exhausted all the oxygen in the kitchen. The other girls are Dolores Schmidt, 13 years old, Joyce's sister, and Beverly Jensby, 13 years old, their cousin.

CHARGE CHECK DIDN'T MATCH COWS PICKED

Picking the horses is a precarious way to make money. But picking the cows was a sure thing for Albert Bartelt, 52 years old, according to officials of Bayfield county, Wisconsin, on whose charges he was held at the Warren avenue police station last night.

The Wisconsin authorities said Bartelt represented himself as a cattle buyer to F. L. Brown, and offered Brown a commission for accompanying him to the homes of farmers with cows to sell. Bartelt impressed Brown by picking the best cows every time, and making $1 deposits on the ones he picked.

And so Brown indorsed Bartelt's $685 check without hesitation at Washburn, Wis. But the check wasn't as good as the cows, the Wisconsin officials said, and Bartelt was charged with obtaining money on false pretenses. He was arrested at his home, 126 14th avenue, Melrose Park, by Sergt. Harold Enger. The state's attorney's office here will inquire into the charges this morning.

WAR INDUSTRIES BLOOD DONATION TO START TODAY

Urbana, Ill., April 5 [Special].—Residents of Champaign and Urbana tomorrow will start the state program of making donations of blood, which will be stored thruout the state for use in treating civilians injured in war industries. Students and faculty members at the University of Illinois will donate blood starting Wednesday. A pint of blood will be taken from each donor.

Each pint will be sealed in a bottle, with the donor's name and number attached, and will be sent to a Chicago laboratory for processing into dried plasma. The local goal is 500 pints, part of which will remain for local use.

Dr. J. Howard Beard, head of the university department of health, is chairman of the campus committee, which was organized at Gov. Green's request.

Arrest Woman as Burglar; Find Loot in Her Pockets

Miss Mary Arlington, 31 years old, 1371 East 63d street, was charged with burglary yesterday when the Burnside police found her in a drug store at 635 East 79th street where she is employed as a soda clerk. William Trautvetter, the owner, who signed the complaint, said that the place was closed at the time. Cigarets, razor blades, tooth paste, powder, and perfume were found in her pockets. Miss Arlington said she entered the store with a key.

WCTU Says Nation's 1941 Beer Bill Tops Two Billions

Beer consumption of 1,775,875,114 gallons during 1941 was reported yesterday by the National Women's Christian Temperance union. This amount, it was pointed out, allowing for loss and waste and based on 10 cents a glass, cost $2,291,451,760. The union also expressed a fear that the sale of beer inside army camps was creating new liquor customers in service men.

PELLEY LACKS BOND; JAILED IN INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 5 (AP).—William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts and publisher of anti-Semitic magazines, was brought here today from New Haven, Conn., to answer charges of sedition in connection with articles he printed in his magazine, the Galilean.

Pelley was unable to make satisfactory arrangements for bond and was placed in jail. His bond was set at $15,000. As he went to jail he said his 21 year old son would enter the army tomorrow.

Pelley was arrested yesterday at Darien, Conn., and charged under the 1917 espionage act with distributing false statements intended to harm the United States and promote the success of its enemies.

The Galilean was printed at Noblesville, Ind., and Pelley gave his home address as Noblesville.

"I don't know a thing about this," Pelley said in the marshal's office. "There hasn't been a thing in the magazine that Boake Carter, 'Iron Pants' Johnson, Father Coughlin, and many others haven't also said."

1,500 HEAR MANN PRAISE DEEDS AT DR. DeLEE RITES

Services for Dr. Joseph B. DeLee, founder of the Chicago Lying-In hospital and the Chicago Maternity center and widely known obstetrician, were held yesterday in Sinai temple. Dr. DeLee, professor emeritus of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Chicago and former professor of obstetrics at Northwestern university, died in his home at 5028 Ellis avenue, Friday, three days after he suffered a heart attack. He was 72 years old.

More than 1,500 persons heard Rabbi Louis L. Mann tell of many unheralded deeds of kindness performed by the physician.

Present were a young couple and their 6 month old baby. The husband had asked to sit in a corner of the temple, saying that Dr. DeLee had saved the life of his wife after others had feared she would die at the time the child was born.

BROKEN WINDOWS ADD NEW LIFE TO POLITICAL FIGHT

Battles between State Rep. James J. Adduci and William John Granata are nothing new, but glass houses are glass houses, hence yesterday's instalment.

A big rock went sailing thru the front windows of Granata's headquarters at 15 North Ashland avenue early in the day. Granata was indignant. He said it was Adduci's fault—the two are opponents in the coming primary—and that it was just one of a series of such incidents. He said there had been threats of dynamiting and shootings, too.

Said Adduci:

"One of my windows is broke, too, probably by some of the better element among Granata's bums. Next Tuesday or Wednesday Granata is gonna give himself a coupla black eyes. He'll blame that on me, too."

END OF NON-WAR SPENDING URGED BY SEN. TYDINGS

Warns of Economic Chaos Ahead.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Predicting economic chaos when the war has ended unless preventative financial measures are taken, Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] today called upon the public to support ardently congressional moves to cut nonwar expenditures by the administration.

Sen. M. E. Tydings.

In a radio address over a Baltimore station, Tydings asked particularly for support of the Byrd committee on nonessential federal expenditures, and Tydings' own committee in the senate which is studying overlapping governmental activities.

Sees Astronomical Debt.

"While our heroic young men are defending America on the battlefront, let us begin to defend it at home," Tydings asserted. "Every dollar necessary for the defense of America must be provided but not a dollar should be wasted on nondefense activities in America."

The war might run the national debt into the astronomical levels of up to "several hundred billions of dollars," said Tydings. The debt now is more than 68.2 billion dollars, including government guaranteed obligations.

"We are conducting our national government today just the same as it was conducted five or six years ago," Tydings continued. "The reductions of peacetime expenses amount to almost nothing. Agencies which were created when work was scarce still exist now when work is plentiful; policies which were embraced by our government to take care of people without employment are still being followed when the necessity for these policies has passed.

Assumes 250 Billion Debt.

"This is costing money, hundreds of millions of dollars of money, which must be paid for by taking from your wages more than ordinarily would be taken in national taxes.

"Let us assume for the sake of argument that some day the debt will be what it may well be, about 250 billion or about $7,000 for every family in America, and then with that great debt the war will come to an end.

"The millions of our young men in the army and navy will come back home again. There will be no jobs for them. The millions of men working in our airplane factories, shipyards, and munitions plants will, to a considerable extent, also find themselves unemployed, as war production ceases.

"If we add our returning soldiers and sailors to the millions of industrial workers who will be temporarily thrown out of employment when the war is over, we will probably have a force of 20 or 25 million wage earners in the United States who will be without a job.

"Such unemployment will immediately affect all prices, for the purchasing power of the nation will be strikingly decreased. There is bound to be a period, therefore, of harsh depression when the war is over."

Labor and Management Groups Help Set Production Records

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—The War Production board said today it had been advised of organization of labor-management committees in plants of 308 companies and that "many report large increases in production already."

The figure, an announcement said, was larger than expected "since there has been time for only a small fraction of the committees to transmit the reports which were called for April 1."

Donald Nelson, WPB chairman, asked formation of the committees to conduct drives for increased production in each plant.

Break Production Record.

WPB quoted as follows from the report of the committee at the Middletown, O., division of the American Rolling Mill company:

"At midnight March 31 all previous monthly production records in the history of this 31 year old steel plant were smashed by blast furnace, open hearth and blooming, bar and strip mill departments. Workers did a grand job in spite of scrap shortage and lighter and poorer scrap. We promise not only to meet these new peaks in the future but to beat them as 1942 unfolds."

The Weirton Steel company's committee reported:

"Happy to inform you Weirton Steel company production of open hearth steel ingots for March totaled 153,823 net tons, exceeding the previous monthly record established in October, 1939, by 13,569 net tons."

From Republic Steel corporation came a report that its Warren, O., blast furnace "produced what we believe to be an all time world's record for blast furnace production in any one month—41,851 tons."

It advised also that departmental production records were established in March by the No. 1 blast furnace at Buffalo, the No. 3 at Cleveland, and by shops at Massillon, Canton, Buffalo, and Gadsden, Ala. Construction of a new blast furnace at Gadsden was said to be five weeks ahead of schedule.

Predict New Peak

"New production records in pig iron and steel and opening of the iron ore season at the earliest date ever known forecast probably the greatest activity attained by the steel industry," the magazine Steel said yesterday.

"National ingot production edged a half point upward last week to 98 per cent of estimated capacity, the same rate as prevailed a year ago, tho the larger capacity now available means greater tonnage than a year ago."

JOHNS-MANVILLE RALLIES STAFF FOR WAR DRIVE

Asks Worker Pledge of All-Out Effort.

A large New York corporation came to the midwest last night to launch a campaign thruout its 17 plants and mines to harness its workers' fighting spirit to war production machinery.

Lewis H. Brown.

Altho it has its offices in New York City and its largest plant at Manville, N. J., the Johns-Manville corporation chose Waukegan as the point to call to its 15,000 workers.

Speaking to the families of 3,000 Johns-Manville employés of the big Waukegan plant, Lewis H. Brown, company president, said he had come here for "plain talk" especially effective in the midwest.

Asks All-Out Drive.

Emphasizing that many of the company's products are vital to winning the war, Brown appealed to the workers to throw every ounce of energy in an all-out drive to beat all production records. He said the company-wide campaign to speed output is a response to an appeal made recently to industry and labor by Donald M. Nelson, War Production board chairman.

"To defeat the enemy, we have had to abandon the cherished free enterprise system in America for the duration," Brown told his listeners in the Waukegan High school gymnasium. "Under direction from Washington, we are mobilizing our strength, our materials and our resources as we have never done before. If each of us does less than his best, if we stall only a little, we can lose this war."

Produced More in Year.

Brown said that last year the company produced one-half more asbestos, building materials, and other goods than in any other preceding year. About three-fourths of this went into the war program, he said.

"From now on new quotas of production must be set up," he said. "These quotas must be met, they must be beaten."

Brown urged each employé to study his job to eliminate lost time and motion, to prevent the waste of critical materials and the needless wear of machinery, and to develop methods of increasing over-all productivity.

He announced that a central labor-management committee for the Waukegan plant had been established to direct the plant's productive drive. The members are John S. Erickson, president of the AFL local union; Hugh M. Jackson, representing the office workers; Charles Wikel, assistant plant manager, and a committee chairman; H. M. Nies, head of the inspection and control department, and H. H. Peterson, industrial relations manager.

"Will Spare Nothing."

Brown assured the workmen that Johns-Manville will spare nothing to help win the war. He said nearly the entire organization is converted to war production, and that the company is ready to move out any equipment which cannot be converted and install new equipment which will be used to make war materials.

A pledge to do everything in their power to help the war effort will be submitted to employés this morning, Brown said.

"We'll do the job," Erickson responded for the workers.

Other speakers at the rally were Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district; Lieut. Col. Walter R. Jeffrey of the corps of engineers for the 6th corps area, and K. W. Huffine, manager of the Waukegan plant. Mayor John Dromey of North Chicago and Mayor Frank Wallin of Waukegan were guests.

Today Brown will conduct an informal regional meeting of Chicago area stockholders of Johns-Manville in the Drake hotel at 3:30 p. m. The meeting, similar to one held last year, is primarily for shareholders unable to attend the regular annual meeting in New York.

AIRCRAFT PARTS.

What data do you have on Air Associates, listed on the New York Curb exchange? Is the war department still in charge of operations? Has the new preferred stock been issued? —R. J.

Answer: Air Associates, Inc., is an important manufacturer and supplier of parts and materials used in the aircraft industry. Products, which are either manufactured by itself or purchased from other manufacturers for redistribution, include electric motors and generators, fuel pump drives, hydraulic equipment, and antiice devices. Virtually all the company's customers are engaged in war production.

From Oct. 31 to Dec. 29, 1941, the company's properties were operated by the war department as the result of labor difficulties. On the latter date the properties were turned over to a new management. The main plant is in Bendix, N. J., while branch offices and warehouses are in Chicago and Los Angeles.

The company has 134,905 shares of $1 par common stock outstanding. Last September Air Associates filed a registration statement covering 50,000 shares of $1.37½ cumulative convertible preferred stock, no par, but the registration was withdrawn Feb. 3 this year. Outstanding shares of $7 preferred stock were called for redemption last May.

Effective Oct. 1, 1940, the present company, which was incorporated in New Jersey the previous May, merged and consolidated with a New York corporation of the same name. The latter was formerly the parent organization.

Consolidated earnings for fiscal years ended Sept. 30 and dividends paid on the common stock in calendar years follow:

| | Net sales. | Net income. | Dividends. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1941 | $7,410,476 | $456,555 | $0.37½ |
| 1940 | 4,065,112 | 409,295 | 0.75 |
| 1939 | 1,860,774 | 126,940 | 0.50 |
| 1938 | 1,844,522 | 104,809 | 0.47½ |
| 1937 | 1,450,367 | 83,390 | 0.50 |

No dividends have been reported so far in 1942. At the end of the 1941 fiscal year, Air Associates had total assets of $4,090,000 and net working capital of $837,574.

PUBLIC OFFERING.

When was the stock of the Kearney & Trecker corporation offered to the public? What were the company's earnings in 1941? What is the principal manufacture?—N. M. D.

Answer: An offering of 198,083 shares of Kearney & Trecker corporation $3 par common stock was made last Dec. 31. The offering did not represent new financing, the proceeds going to shareholders who sold the stock.

In the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1941, net sales were $33,450,374 and net income was $5,018,101. Kearney & Trecker is one of the country's largest manufacturers of milling machines for working metal.

SET MINIMUM ACCEPTABLE BID IN SALE OF RAIL

Minneapolis, Minn., April 5 (AP).—The final legal step preparatory to sale of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad to end a 19 year old receivership was taken when Federal court fixed $2,010,500 as the minimum bid to be considered when the property is offered for sale.

This price, it was explained by C. W. Wright, counsel for reorganization managers, represents the amount of money the bidder must be prepared to pay for the entire principal and interest of outstanding mortgages on the road. In addition, the bidder must be ready to assume certain other outstanding obligations of several million dollars.

These include preferred claims totaling around $1,750,000 in principal, plus interest aggregating an even larger amount; costs and expenses of the reorganization; allowances for counsel for various parties.

DAY by DAY on the FARM & GAIL COMPTON

Victim of Spring.

April 5, 1942.

THESE are 'dangerous' days for the city reporter to visit the big Fox river farm. Continue and see what happens to one.

After an hour on the smooth highways he swings his car into the barnyard. The big yard is bathed in spring sunlight and is humming with activity.

With a light step, the reporter gets out of the car and cheerfully yells "hi men" to the farm workers. He pauses to drink in the warm air, pounds his chest, and then strips off his overcoat and hurls it into the car.

Pad and pencil in hand, he advances firmly toward the men grouped around a roaring corn sheller. With a genial smile at the farm manager, he surveys the scene and writes on his pad in large letters, "shelling corn."

Walks Around Farm.

This accomplished, he turns to the manager. "Well, it's a great day. Take me around the farm. I want to go everywhere and see everything." The manager smiles, and says, "O. K., let's get going."

They walk across the yard toward the cattle lot. The reporter's eyes flick back and forth and he writes busily on his pad. They approach a fence and the manager moves to open the gate. "Stop," cries the reporter, "where is your sporting blood. Step aside and watch this."

With a run he launches himself at the fence. He leaps into the air and soars over the boards and lands knee deep in a mud hole.

The manager bends over the gate latch, his back turned and his shoulders shaking with laughter. Undaunted, the reporter hauls his feet from the mire, losing one shoe in the process. When it is retrieved they continue their walk.

Thru the cattle yard, over the hill, down thru the pastures and into the woods. An hour later they emerge and plod up to the farm house, the reporter trailing by two hundred yards.

They wash up at the pump and enter the farm kitchen. The reporter greets the women genially and takes the seat in the parlor that is closest to the kitchen door.

Then comes the heartening call, "All right boys, you can eat now." The reporter trips the hired man, shoulders the manager out of the way and is the first to be seated.

Then comes food. A big bowl with chunks of beef floating in rich brown gravy. A sizzling platter of fried homemade sausage. Mashed potatoes, bread and butter, pickles, a steaming dish of corn pudding and preserved figs.

Rests on Sunny Porch.

After the third helping of everything in sight the reporter slumps in his chair. With a groan he refuses more figs, gets up, and goes out to the porch.

The men follow and every one sits down on the porch and leans against the railing. The sun beats down, hot and strong. The reporter lifts an arm high enough to undo his collar and then leans back.

From the hillside pasture comes the bawl of a calf looking for its mother. The windmill creaks gently in the breeze and the birds call to each other from the long row of evergreens. A bee buzzes nearby.

The reporter's eyes grow heavy and his head nods. The manager leans forward and begins talking. "Now next week we should have the sod land all plowed and . . . " The reporter mumbles, "I'll write that down." The manager's voice grows dimmer. Finally as if from a long distance he heard a last few words. "Well I'll be darned, the guy's asleep."

Higher Prices Are Indicated in Feed Grains

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Two of the major feed grains, corn and barley, sold in Chicago last week at the highest prices since 1937, but despite forecasts for larger crops, the department of agriculture's review of the farm feed situation showed yesterday that even higher feed prices are expected before 1943.

"Increasing production of live stock and live stock products is in prospect for the next year or so and the disappearance of feed grains in 1942-'43 probably will exceed 1942 production," the department said. "Feed grain prices are likely to average higher than in the current season.

Profitable to Feed Corn.

"Prices of feed grains and by-product feeds advanced sharply during 1941, largely because of the increased demand from producers of live stock and live stock products. Feed prices are now at the highest level in more than 12 years except the drouth years."

On March 15 farmers found it more profitable to feed their corn to their hogs than at any time since 1938 and grain men say the ratio has improved since then. In Iowa on that date, for example, the farmer was being paid hog prices that would pay for 17.6 bushels of corn for every 100 pounds of hog. Agriculturalists usually estimate it requires only about 10 bushels of corn to put 100 pounds of meat on a hog.

Reports on Supplies.

Following is what the department said about the corn situation:

"With the indicated corn acreage of 91.3 million acres and a yield per acre about the same as the 1937-'41 average, the corn crop in 1942 would be about 2,600 million bushels. If the carryover in 1942-'43 is about 600 million bushels, or 50 million bushels smaller than last Oct. 1, the total supply of corn would be 3,200 million bushels, or about 4 per cent less than the 1941-'42 supply."

On March 15 the farmer was getting about 78.4 cents a bushel for his corn, compared with 57.1 cents a year earlier.

Futures prices of all grain traveled in a comparatively narrow range last week. Prospects for a large crop had a depressing effect on wheat prices.

Lake Shipping Line Boosts Ore Rate Three Cents a Ton

Cleveland, O., April 5 (AP).—A leading lake shipping company has raised lake ore freight rates 3 cents a ton. The company says it has contracted to move in 1942 more than a million gross tons of iron ore from the head of Lake Superior to lower lake ports at a rate of 80 cents a ton.

People and Events

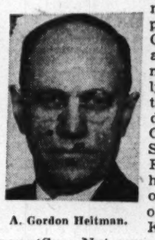
Methods of keeping railroad freight operating smoothly during the war emergency will be discussed tomorrow at an all day meeting of the Midwest Shippers Advisory board in the Palmer House. Col. J. Monroe Johnson, a member of the Interstate Commerce commission, will address a luncheon sponsored jointly by the shippers and the public affairs committee of the Traffic Club of Chicago. During the morning session, L. M. Betts, manager of the car service division of the Association of American Railroads, will discuss the national transportation situation.

L. M. Betts.

William H. Yates, president of United Wallpaper Factories, Inc., announced the appointment of A. Gordon Heitman as controler. Heitman was formerly an executive in the edible nut division of the General Food Sales company. From 1931 to 1939 he was controler of three Chicago organizations, the Kelling Nut company, Susu Nut company, and General Nut company.



A. Gordon Heitman.

Dr. Joseph M. Tucker, head priority specialist of the WPB's branch of industry operations, will address a special meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce war problems school this afternoon in the Central YMCA auditorium.

REQUISITION UNIT SEIZES BIG TOTAL OF COMMODITIES

Washington, D. C., April 5 [Special].—In his first over-all report to the War Production board on the activities of the inventory and requisition branch, since its organization last December, L. J. Martin, assistant chief of the bureau of priorities, revealed today that by some 60 separate requisitioning actions large quantities of commodities in 17 categories, and the entire cargo of an axis ship have been seized for war use by government agencies.

Rail Spending in Year Sets Peak Since '30

Class 1 railroads spent more for equipment and other railway property improvements last year than in any year since 1930, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

These expenditures for 1941 were $543,021,000, compared with $429,147,000 in 1940, and $872,608,000 in 1930. Of the 1941 total, 367,568,000 went for equipment and $175,453,000 for roadway and structures.

The comparative breakdown of expenditures [three ciphers omitted] follows:

| | 1941. | 1940. |
|---|---|---|
| Freight cars | $245,713 | $189,629 |
| Locomotives | 80,607 | 54,351 |
| Passenger cars | 29,544 | 18,417 |
| Other equipment | 11,704 | 9,509 |
| Heavier rail | 36,108 | 30,473 |
| Bridges, trestles, culverts | 19,419 | 22,596 |
| Shops, engine houses | 13,920 | 10,920 |
| Signals, interlockers | 13,439 | 10,275 |
| Ballast | 6,000 | ..... |
| Station, office buildings | 11,000 | ..... |
| Other roadway, structures | 46,526 | 52,320 |

The association said class 1 roads put 80,502 new freight cars and 633 new locomotives into service during 1941, and had 74,897 new freight cars and 546 locomotives on order Jan. 1.

C. & E. I. ROAD'S TRAFFIC RISES; HAS NET PROFIT

First Report Since Reorganization.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company carried 8,705,209 tons of freight last year, compared with 7,496,318 tons in 1940. C. T. O'Neal, president said yesterday in the first annual report of the reorganized company.

C. T. O'Neal.

Bituminous coal handled totaled 2,773,967 tons, a 5.9 per cent increase over the preceding year. Other freight traffic increased 1,055,509 tons, or 21.6 per cent, he said.

Carries War Goods.

O'Neal reported the company handled a "considerable tonnage of defense and war program traffic during the year." He said a number of new industries were located along the company's lines and other companies served by the road were expanding plant facilities under the war program.

Freight revenue increased from $12,290,585 in 1940 to $14,538,274 in 1941, and passenger revenue rose from $1,524,216 to $2,097,394 as the number of passengers carried increased from 696,017 to 803,965.

Total operating revenue, as shown by the report, was $18,672,227, a 19 per cent gain over 1940 and the highest for any year since 1930. This enabled the company to show a net income of $218,965, compared with a net loss of $1,436,401 in 1940, despite an increase of $1,479,969, or 12.1 per cent, in operating expenses.

Reports Smaller Net Income.

The Norfolk and Western Railway company reported a net income of $27,194,003 for 1941, equal to $18.68 per share of common stock, and a decrease of $4,189,972.74 from 1940. Operating revenues were $120,176,914, an increase of $14,948,293.

METAL OFFICE FURNITURE BAN FELT IN AURORA

Few Chicago companies are affected by the War Production board order requiring the shutdown of most metal office furniture manufacturing by May 31, a study showed yesterday. Two of this area's largest manufacturers, the All Steel Equipment company and Lyon Metal Products, Inc., are in Aurora.

Altho both have some war work contracts, they expect the WPB order will cause a substantial reduction in their employment. Lyon will be able to manufacture some types of metal office equipment still permitted under the order.

In Chicago, J. C. Bell of Bell & Thorn, Inc., manufacturing office equipment under special order, said his company is about ready for complete conversion to war work. Bell said the company foresaw present conditions about two years ago and started to get ready. It manufactures on direct order from about 150 customers.

The customers have been requested to use their own engineering and executive staffs in obtaining war orders, with the actual manufacture to be done by Bell & Thorn.

Meantime, E. Y. Horder of Horder's, Inc., which sells office equipment, announced that the company has developed a composite wooden filing cabinet to take the place of steel cabinets placed under the WPB ban.

ALLIED OWNERS CORPORATION.
First Lien Cumulative Income Bonds Due July 1, 1958.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of Article IV, Section 2, of the First Lien Indenture dated as of June 13, 1935, supplemental to Indenture dated as of July 1, 1927, made by Allied Owners Corporation to Manufacturers Trust Company as Trustee, the undersigned specifies that the sum remaining unexpended in the Sinking Fund available for tenders on April 15, 1942, amounted to $186,799.08. So much of the said sum will be used for the purchase of such Bonds as are properly tendered.

The undersigned hereby calls for the submission at the TRUST DEPARTMENT of MANUFACTURERS TRUST COMPANY, the Trustee, 55 Broad Street, New York City, N. Y., up to the close of business at 3:00 P. M., Eastern War Time, on May 6, 1942, of SEALED TENDERS of Bonds, specifying the principal amount of the Bonds thereof and accrued and accumulated interest thereon at which the same are offered. Sealed Tenders so received will be opened by the said Trustee on May 7, 1942, and the sum not in excess of $186,799.04 theretofore agreed to the said Trustee, will be applied by it to the purchase of Bonds issued under the Supplemental Indenture dated as of June 13, 1935, or "Old Bonds" issued under the Indenture dated as of July 1, 1927, so tendered, the tenders offering Bonds or "Old Bonds" at the lowest prices being accepted first. In the event that two or more tenders are received at the same price in an aggregate amount in excess of moneys available for purchase of Bonds at such price, such tenders will be accepted pro rata. Notices of such acceptance of tenders will be mailed by the Trustee on May 8, 1942. Bonds accepted are to be delivered on May 15, 1942, on which date interest on such bonds will cease.

Persons making such Sealed Tenders whose responsibility is not known to the Trustee should enclose with their tenders a sufficient letter of introduction or guaranty of good faith by a bank, banker or other person whose responsibility is established.

The right is reserved by the Trustee to reject any or all tenders or to accept any tender in part.

ALLIED OWNERS CORPORATION.

NOTICE TO THE HOLDERS OF THE NEW YORK, CHICAGO AND LAKE ERIE RAILWAY COMPANY PRIOR LIEN 5% BONDS.

Notice is hereby given that the Reorganization Managers of Erie Railroad Company have petitioned the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, for an order authorizing the Erie Railroad Company to ask the holders of The New York and Greenwood Lake Railway Company Prior Lien Bonds to deposit their Bonds with the City Bank Farmers Trust Company, as Depositary, in exchange for Certificates of Deposit, in connection with a proposal for the exchange of The New York and Greenwood Lake Railway Company Prior Lien Bonds for cash and securities of the reorganized Erie Railroad Company or, at the option of the holders of The New York and Greenwood Lake Railway Company Prior Lien Bonds, for cash alone.

The Court has set said petition for hearing before William L. West, Special Master, in Room 630, Bulkley Building, 1501 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, on the 13th day of April, 1942, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., Eastern War Time. Any holder of a The New York and Greenwood Lake Railway Company Prior Lien Bond has a right to be heard at such hearing, at which the Court will be asked to approve the terms and conditions of the issuance of such Certificates of Deposit and of the exchange thereof for The New York and Greenwood Lake Railway Company Prior Lien Bonds. A copy of said petition is on file with said Special Master, and a copy will be mailed to any bondholder upon request to Erie Railroad Company.

Holders of The New York and Greenwood Lake Railway Company Prior Lien Bonds should address Erie Railroad Company, Midland Building, Cleveland, Ohio, or 50 Church Street, New York City, in writing, as promptly as possible, of their names, addresses, and the aggregate amount, denominations, and numbers of the Prior Lien Bonds held, so that, if the proposed exchange be authorized by the Court, Erie Railroad Company can communicate with such holders.

OUR FLAG—THE ARMY'S INSPIRATION
